Of . . .

*To reach for the stars
To climb toward the top,
To strive for the best,
And never to stop-
To struggle and stretch
To think and to feel,
To question and grow,
To learn what is real.*

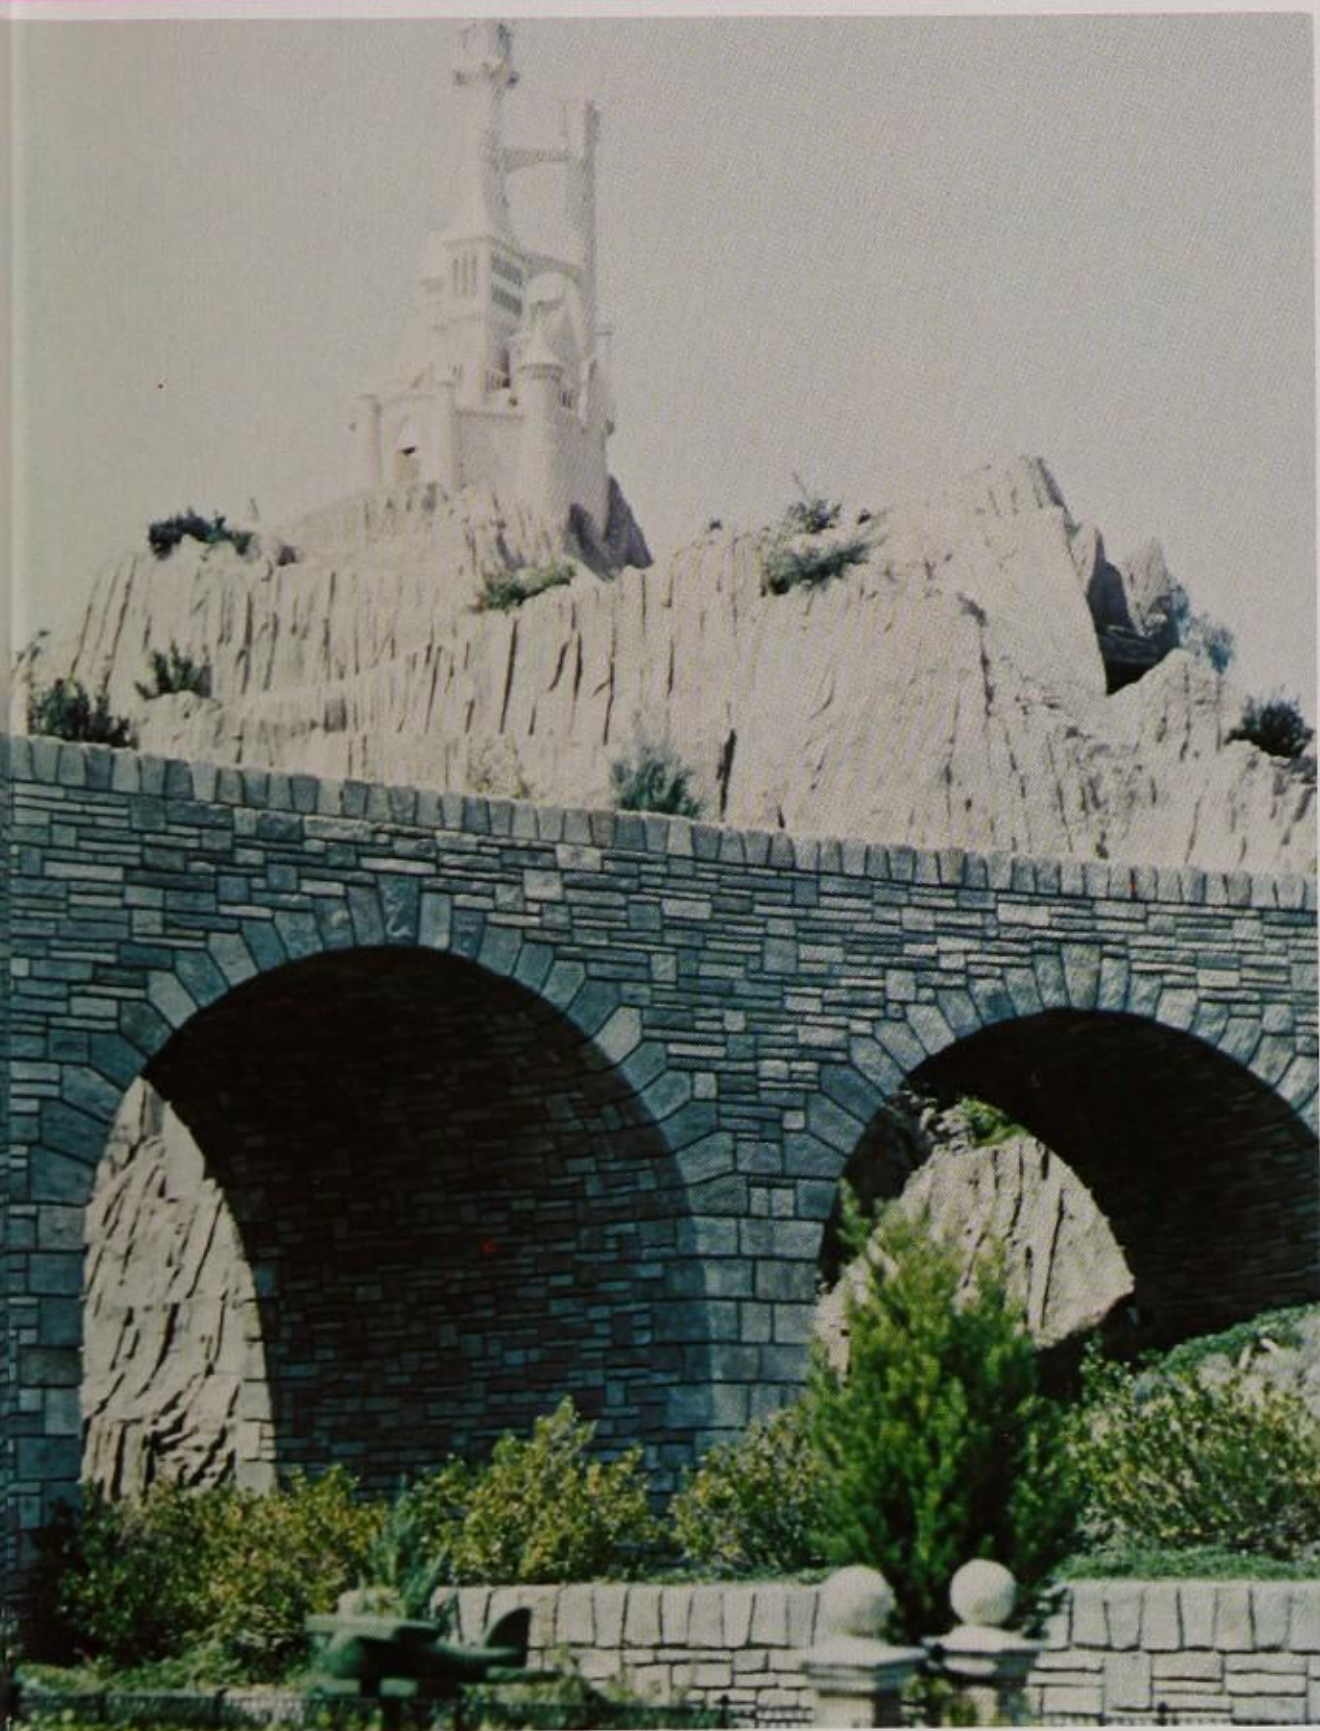

Some are best

EXCELLENCE! That elusive something that most students pursued for 12 years. Years filled with fun and the effort of wanting to be the very best. Some became the best, but all became better for their efforts.

Some pursued academics, some athletics, and some pursued the other facets that make up life at BE.

But no matter what the specialty, anyone who made the effort agreed that their efforts were anything but Trivial Pursuits.

Reaching Out

*Reaching for stars,
Stretching the mind
Looking for something
We may never find.
But after the struggle
Of unfulfilled quest
Enhances and strengthens
And brings out our best.*

1. Laughing with embarrassment Julie Smith buries her face in Jamie Vogt's neck while he gives the camera a funny look.
2. The Junior class officers look like a flash out of history as they keep cool while riding in the Peach Days parade.
3. Trying to fit "Just one more" in, Keri Walker is squeezed, pushed, and pulled into the Volkswagon so the Seniors can Prove that they are, as always, the best.
4. Getting hyped up for the big game the football team gathers in the middle of the gym to help the cheerleaders lead the school in the singing of the Fight song.

*As days become years and life passes by
We each pursue goals that we have set,
Reaching for rainbows we may never catch.*

*They seem out of reach but still we all try,
The pain and tears-the price to be met.*

Everything is just PEACHY

The annual Peach Queen pageant began the year's traditional Peach Days celebration. Lori Anderson, a 1985 graduate of Box Elder, was crowned 1985 Peach Queen. Her attendants were Kim Thorne, Ruth Peterson, Shelly Long and Lory Larkin.

The variety of window displays, booths, and the carnival attracted crowds of those wishing to enjoy themselves. Remarkd one carnival goer, "You see people that you haven't seen all summer. Everyone is there."

The majority of Brigham lined Main Street to watch the Saturday morning parade. Many high school students were involved in the parade, whether through the marching band, Colorguard, Rockettes, club floats, or entries from their work. The festivities were enjoyed by all.

PEOPLE MAKE IT ALL WORTHWHILE

Being with your friends helped you realize how much you needed other people, and you soon realized that you were able to turn to your teachers and counselors advice. You soon felt that your clubs were great mainly because of the people in them. By the time school was over, you found out that the people made the year worthwhile.

SENIORS

Why be a studentbody officer? To be a studentbody officer takes ambition, goals, and the ability to take charge. The officers this year did a great job at achieving the most school spirit shown at Box Elder in years.

When asked why he wanted to be studentbody president, Peri answered, "It was just something I've always wanted to do, and I thought it would be a challenge. And the student body is glad that Peri took the challenge because he really did a lot for our school.

But Peri couldn't have done it without the help of his officers. Officers were Peri Cope, president; Jeff Shaw, vice-president; Julie Cusick, second vice-president; and Taunya Day, secretary.

STUDENT LIFE

Fads and Fashions

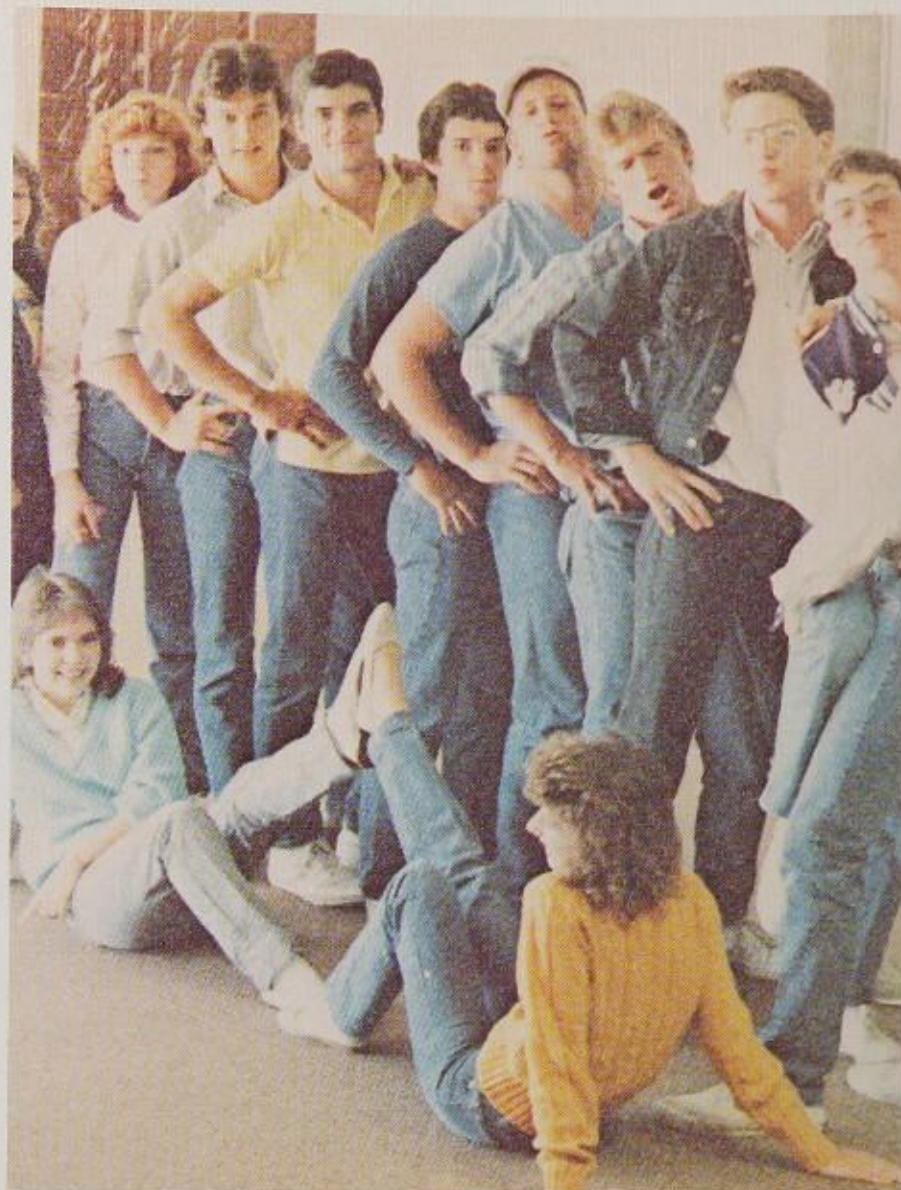

Are they everything?

New wave, old wave, and everything in between . . . The looks at B.E. this year were "interesting" and fun. Bright colors, plaids, stripes, and prints reflected the looks of the 1950's.

An oversized sweater or blouse teamed with stirrup pants and tennis shoes minus the laces seemed to be the appropriate dress for girls. For the guys, a T-shirt and those ever-popular 501's with unlaced hightops were the only things to wear.

B.E. fashion appeared in every form including wild hair-styles. The most popular cut for girls was a short bob which gave the "carefree" appearance. Giant hair clips in bright colors made the look easy to change. The style for guys was set by the football team sporting the Astle look.

At B.E., fads and fashions aren't everything, but almost!

Key & score in line,

Planning

The planning for the 1985 Junior Prom began almost five months before March, when Kari Yagi was named chairman with Matt Harris and Taunya Day as assistants.

Choosing the colors proved to be a difficult decision, and transforming the gym in three days was an enormous task. It was all completed with the cooperation of the juniors. Kari commented, "The best thing was leaving feeling you were done and returning with your date and having what you did look great!"

The Prom assembly was written by Chrissy Rush and was excellent. Junior members of the Mockettes, Colorguard, Dance Club, and Rockettes were all involved around the idea of a boy choosing between the devil or an angel to sell his soul so they will change his looks to get a Prom date.

Prom

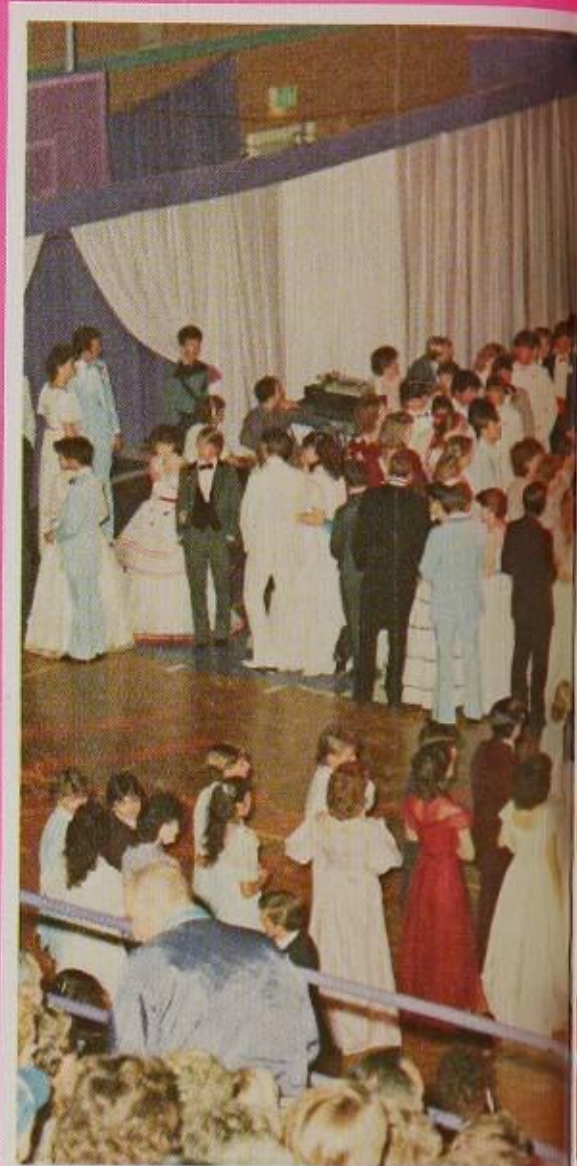

Yards and yards of purple and lavender draped the gym and created an elegant atmosphere on March 29th. Over 250 couples entered the gym that night—guys in tuxes and cummerbunds, girls in lace or satin formals and high-heeled pumps.

Junior couples nervously waited to be announced for the Promenade. The balconies were filled with proud parents as the Class of '86 entered by twos through a lattice arch and formed their year of graduation on the floor. Scott Parson, junior, said, "It was marvelous!"

Julie Cusick and Heather Findley sang the 1985 Prom theme, "Heaven" with Scott Parson, Matt Opprecht, Wally Barnum, and Curtis Christensen as a backup band.

Erik Johnson, junior, remarked, "It cost a lot but was really worth it!" "Heaven was definitely the word that described the evening of the 1985 Junior Prom. A little piece of "Heaven" will stay in the hearts of the Class of '86 for years to come.

7. Enjoying themselves at the Prom, couples talk with each other.

Clubbers

Traditionally the Hello Assembly is performed in the auditorium but because of the unusual nature of this assembly it was held in the gymnasium. Class officers performed the Box Elder version of the "Gong Show."

In this assembly the class officers performed a variety of different skits, with the courageous Sophomores dressed like the Village People singing "YMCA." But the seniors followed closely behind in 2nd place with their Larry and Darryl imitation. And even further behind the seniors are the Juniors, Freshman, and the clucking chickens all being "gonged" of course.

1. Trying their hardest not to get gonged, Michelle, Lory, Jill, Joni act like they're from a chicken factory.
3. Junior officers- Stephanie, Joette, Katheryn, Joel, Taunya are acting like they are Turkey Buzzards.
4. Trying to be impressive, Sophomore officers Steve, Becky, Grant, Mark, Sherlynn act like the Village People.

Banzai

This year's Homecoming Assembly was anything but boring. With Matt Opprecht as "Bonzi Bee" and Alan Kallmeyer, Marshal Hannam, and Eric Bertelsen, as "Bonzis back up" in defending the Box Elder High School varsity football team against the "mafia" that consisted of teachers Joeph Bertelsen, James Fuller and Mike Ripplinger.

This year's Homecoming theme "Cherish," was performed by Jay Nauman, Jill Knavel, Martha Ogles, and Pam Huckaby. To finish off the assembly Celeste Penrod gave a spectacular solo while Scott Parson also did an excellent job playing the piano while Celeste sang.

5. Introducing the Homecoming pep Assembly, Principle Stewart gets attention from the students for the Presentation.
6. Participating in the Homecoming Assembly, Bonneville officers came to wish the Bees good luck.

1. Trying to win one for the seniors is Eric Ramos.
2. Sophomore students give the VW stuff their best shot.
3. During the 5-legged race Laura Williams, Heather Petersen, and Malissa Adams show their excellent running form.

Homecoming

Homecoming week was full of fun and original activities. Many were held during lunch periods with a great number of students participating.

All of the activities throughout the week led up to the Homecoming game, and of course, the halftime. Homecoming halftime 1985 began with the BE band in their majestic purple and white, providing music for the performance of the Rockettes, followed by the Colorguard. Mr. Steve Leggett was named dedicatee, with Matt Huff and Joni Swenson reigning as Homecoming King and Queen. Halftime concluded with the traditional lighting of the "B" by the sophomore class.

1. Without the help of their coaches, the Junior girls never would have defeated the seniors.
2. Juniors are number one.
3. Showing their enthusiasm, Junior cheerleaders root their team on to a victory.

4. Senior Powder Puff cheerleaders try to rally senior girls to a comeback with little time remaining in the game.
5. Seniors begin to warm up and to prepare for the ugly senior-junior shootout.
6. Humming throughout the game, Pep Band braves the rain.
7. The "colorguard" provided the halftime entertainment for the game.
8. The senior girls and their coaches pose for a picture.

Seniors

The rain didn't discourage the Powder Puff players. Both teams were ready for the game after many long and hard practices. Each team determined to win. In the end the juniors took it all the way and won, surprising the seniors so much that they knew that it had to have been unfair. But all agreed that it was a lot of fun. It wasn't just the players that brought excitement to the game. The cheerleaders added a lot of spirit, even to the defeated Senior team. Led by the cheerleaders, the students had as much fun watching as the players had playing. Hopefully, all will want to participate again next year.

Tradition

Box Elder traditions continued with the 1985 Homecoming Dance. September 20, the senior officers decorated and the result was perfect-purple, yellow, and white balloons and streamers hung everywhere.

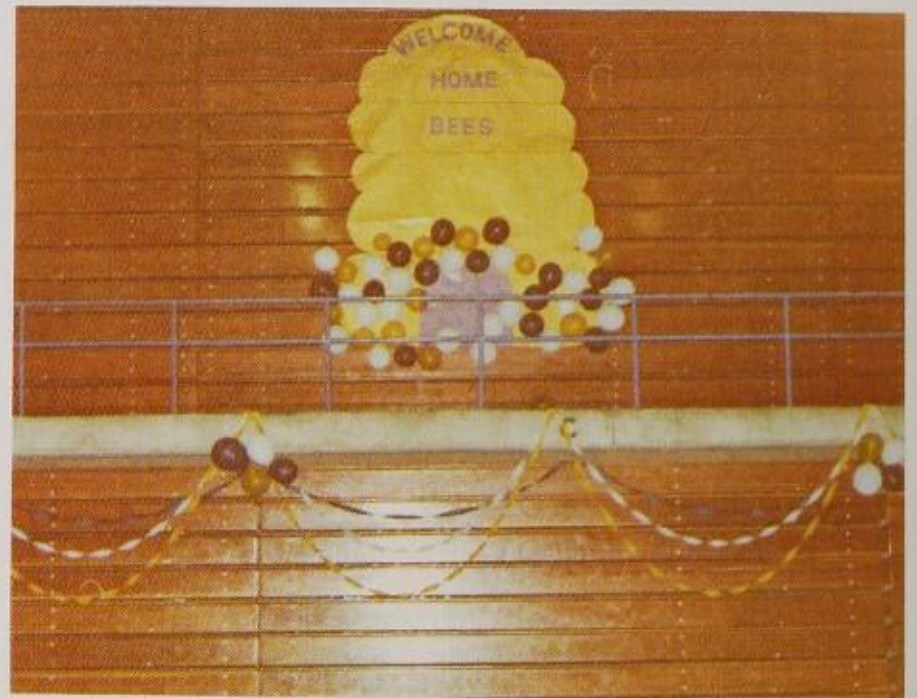

After the game the gym filled with couples, the largest crowd in years. Jay Naumann, Martha Ogles, Pam Huckaby, and Jill Knavel, with a backup of Chris Earl, Julie Cusick, Wally Barnum, Matt Opprecht, and Brian Baird, performed the theme-"Cherish". Jeff Hadfield, senior, summed up the feeling, "It was a lot of fun but didn't last long enough!"

continues

1. Showing their love for each other, Dana Parker and Tim Christensen whisper sweet nothings to each other.
2. Welcoming home all the "Bees", was a beehive.
3. The refreshment area was decorated like the rest of the gym, with balloons.

Bees

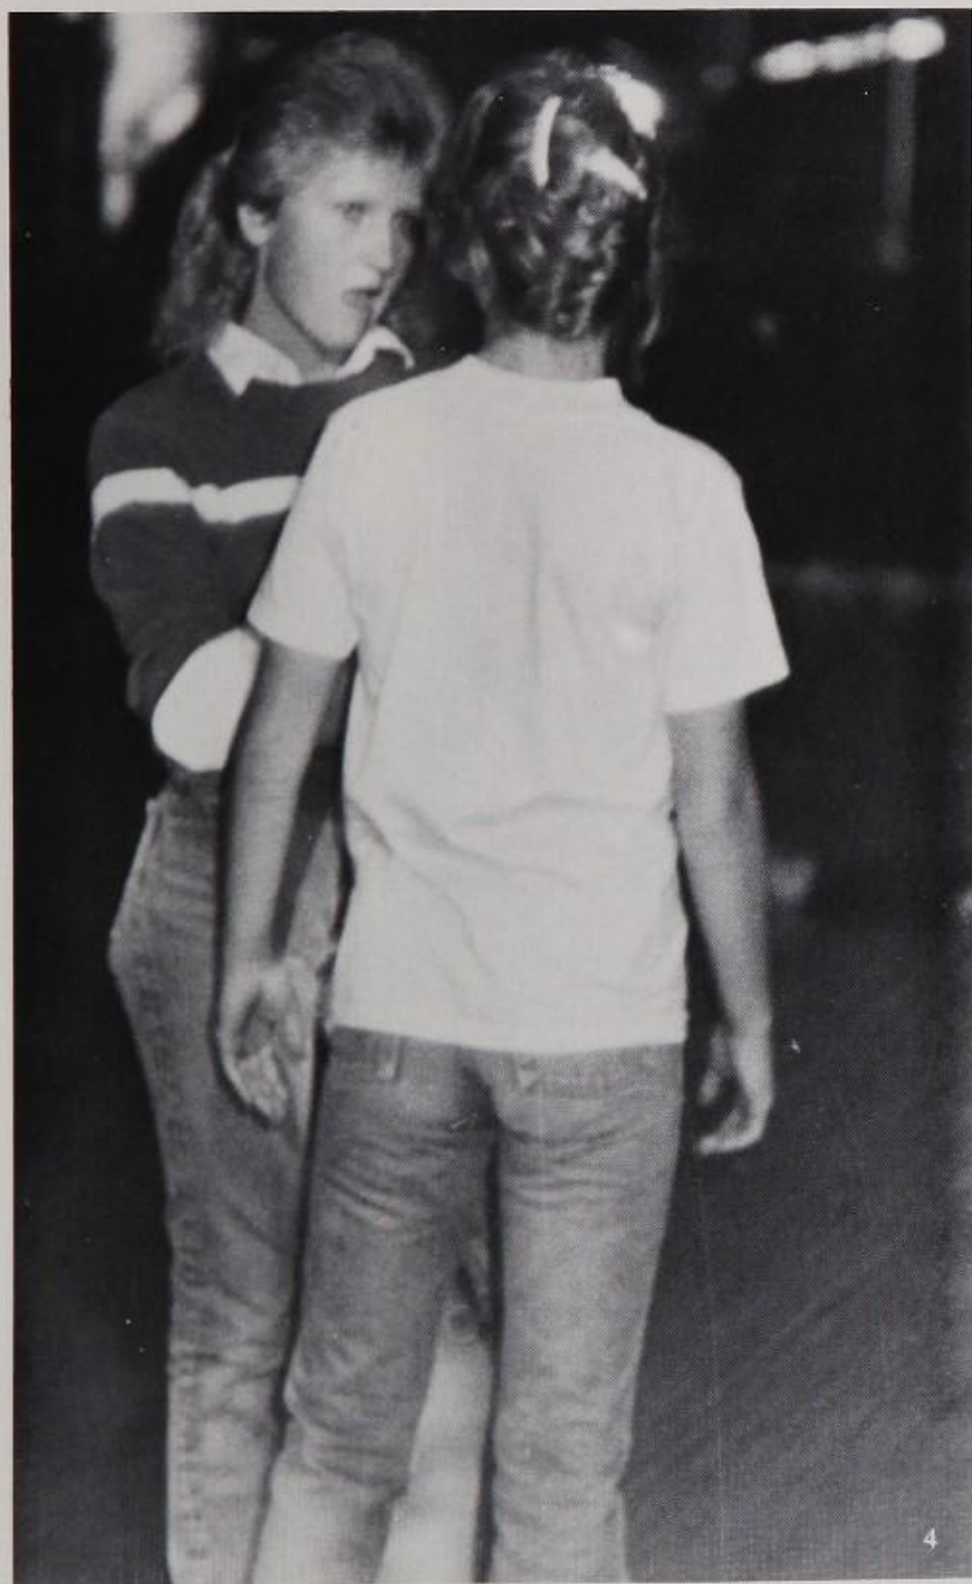

Stomps were once again a big hit during the "85-86" school year. Many students from every grade attended the functions. "It's a great chance for people who can not date to go to a school dance," commented one sophomore.

There was only one negative comment from the majority of the people, which was the two dollar admission charge at all of the stomps.

Over all, the stomps for all who attended were fun for everyone in their own way.

1. Looking for unfound excitement are Stephanie Seager and Taryn Jensen.
2. Everyone comes to the stomps to dance and to have a good time.
3. At stomps, students let loose and show their wild and crazy side.
4. Flabbergasted, Dalene Marble is filled in on the latest gossip.
5. Enjoying another stomp, couples Kim Walker and Brett Facer, and Kristen Brailsford and Judd Larkin get a little closer.

1. Bachelors Matt Huff, Trent Richardson, and Jeff Shaw seem more interested in each other than in the lovely bachelorette, Natalie Bickmore.
2. Showing their legs, Jewelja Jepperson, Jill Nichols, and Susan Francis strut their stuff.

Gal's

Eating dinner in the back of a truck? Sound a bit strange? That's one of the traditionals of this annual girl's choice dance.

Planning for the dance began as early as a month before, with deciding who and how to ask. After the response from the boy was known, the decision of what to wear, what to eat, and where to eat it had to be made.

Finally the day arrived. All over Brigham couples could be seen eating in parking lots, on top of buildings, and even a few in an old abandoned tree house.

Some dates ended at 11:30, but most found something else to do. Banana splits were even fill up before the dance.

Harvest

Once again Box Elder celebrates the harvest. The dance was held on the 15th of November. FFA and FHA spent alot of time on this dance.

The theme this year was sung by Celeste Penrod and Scott Parsons. It was intitled "All the Time."

Selected as Harvest Ball Royalty for 1985 were: Jay Bywater-King Julie Poulsen-Queen, the attendents were: Holli Osmond, Justin Lilywhite, Kelly Nichols, Roselee Iverson.

It was another successful dance at Box Elder HighSchool.

Holly

Preparation starts very early in the school year. The Sophomore class must worry about the decorations and the theme song.

Many believed that the reason for the dance's great success was the theme song, Love Theme from St. Elmo's Fire. It was a very well done instrumental by Nicki Brant, keyboard; Brian Hashimoto, piano; Mike Gardner, keyboard; Scott Morrison, drums; and Kurt Jensen, saxophone.

The royalty for Christmas Dance were: second attendants, Vicki Rush and Chris Hardy; first attendants, Heather Petersen and Eric Hone; King, Mark Harris and Queen Dawn Jensen.

Grinch and Max

The annual Christmas assembly had a different sort of ring. It was held Friday, December 20, and was written around the theme of "How The Grinch Stole the Christmas Assembly". Throughout the assembly, Lance Loveland (who was the Grinch) along with Max (played by Eric Hone) tried many ingenious methods to stop the Christmas assembly down in Beeville from happening.

Try as they might, they were unsuccessful in stopping the cheerleaders, the Rockettes, or the theme from being performed.

Stocking boy and girl, who you would most like to find in your stocking, were Chad Hardy and Ann Johnson.

steal show

1. Done hanging up their stockings, sophomore Rockette members hold that ending pose.
2. The hardhearted Grinch and his dog Max leave Mount Crumpet to steal the assembly.
3. Stephanie Wendel, Raquel Waters, and Raelyn Reese, B.E. dancers, flash their stuff.
4. Bryan Hashimoto and Mike Gardner team up in using double synthesizers for the theme.

Decades

The year's preference assembly doubled as the annual nostalgia assembly. David Reeder and Alan Braithwaite narrated the news of the last five decades.

The cheerleaders performed a dance from the fifties, all in poodle skirts. The Colorguard did the Charleston and Dance Troupe showed the modern side. The Madrigals sang a variety of songs.

Members of the senior class participated in many of the events. Chrissy Rush, Taunya Day, Angie West, and Julie Cusick sang "Leader of the Pack." Peri Cope and Jeff Shaw did some harmonizing with the Beach Boys' "Be True to Your School."

spotlighted

1. A Madrigal quartet and their backups "be bop" to a popular song from the 40's.
2. Alan Braithwaite and Dave Reeder share a running commentary to highlight the news of the past seven decades.
3. The Beach Boys, Peri Cope and Jeff Shaw in their California style, convince everyone to "be true to your school."
4. Her face contorted in pain to hold back the tears Chrissy Rush mourns the death of "the leader of the pack."

Ladies'

"It was a girl's haven!" commented one of the few men who were lucky enough to be asked to the Preference Dance. It was completely taken charge of by the Freshman officers. Held on the 24th of January, it was only the second girls choice dance held this year. Articulately decorated with pink, purple and white balloons, it was the envy of all the boys at home. This turn in action, though, was a quite welcome change. The boys enjoyed having someone open their doors, drive, and yes, foot the bills. Girls enjoyed it too. Heidi Goss said, "We got a chance to ask who we wanted!"

6. Taking a break from the dance floor, Dustin Josephson, Jennifer Tomany, and their dates eye the goodies.

How sweat

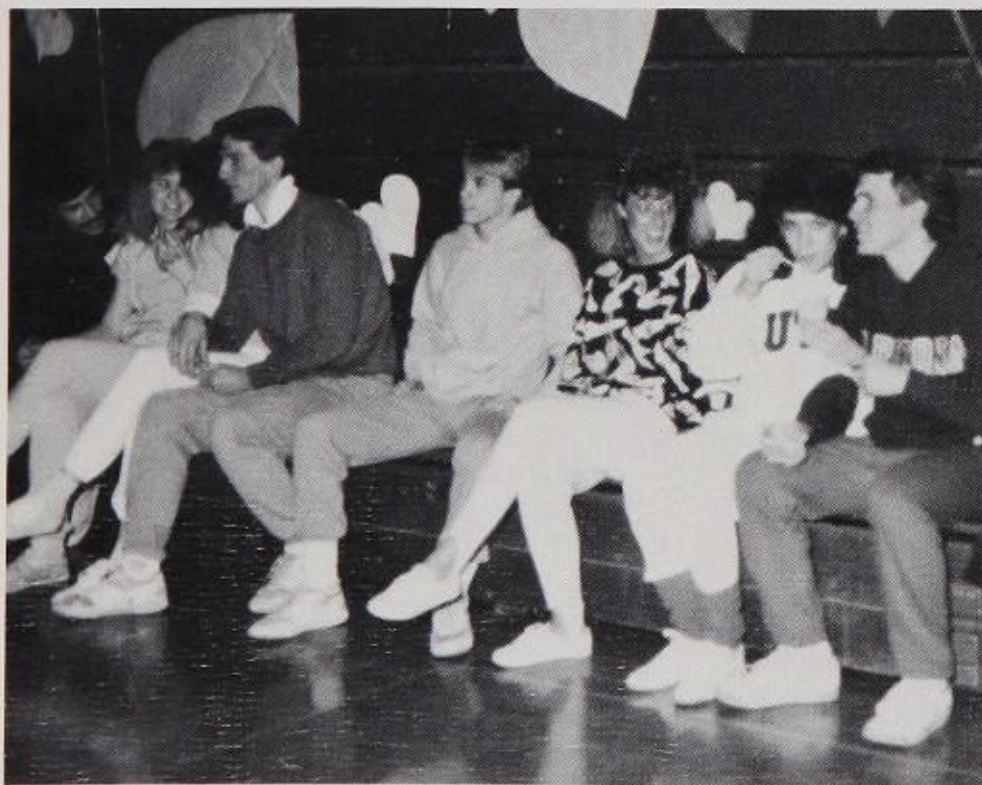

"Sweathearts?" Again this year the traditional 'Sweethearts dance' was again changed to 'Sweathearts.'

Guys and their 'Valentine's to be' turned up in sweats of all colors to this dance, held on February 8. The dance was held in the big gym, which was decorated in traditional red and white.

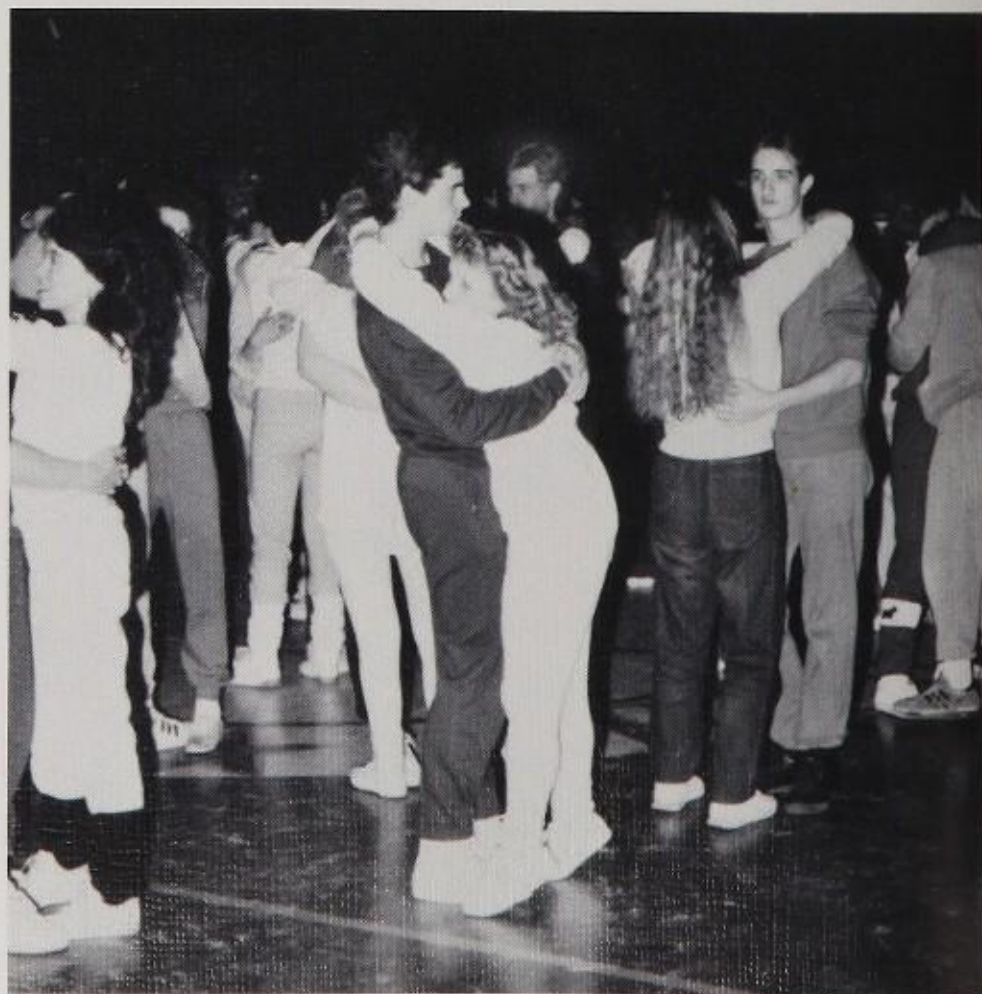

Pictures were taken. Guys and their valentines posed with weights and towels to have their pictures taken.

Everyone was relieved when the dance ended. They all had a good time-nothing to 'sweat' about.

Box Elder

A funny name for a dance? This was one of the most popular social events held at Box Elder. Hundreds of people could be seen "spazzin' out" in the big gym on Friday nights.

Popular songs could be heard, songs of all tastes. Even some oldies could be heard, such as: The twist, Hokey Pokey, and The Bunny Hop to name a few.

Not only did stomps give the students a chance to let off some steam, but they also could meet some new people.

"I enjoyed going to the stomps after the games. It was a way to get away from home and spend some time with my friends," commented an innocent bystander.

Kids kause kraze

Cabbage Patch kids are still a craze all over the world. When they were very hard to come by, people would stand in lines for hours just to be able to get a Cabbage Patch doll. Everybody thought they would be forgotten about, but it's even worse now. If you were to go in a store today you could find; foreigners, twins, premees, ones with glasses, and even some with orthodontic work on their teeth.

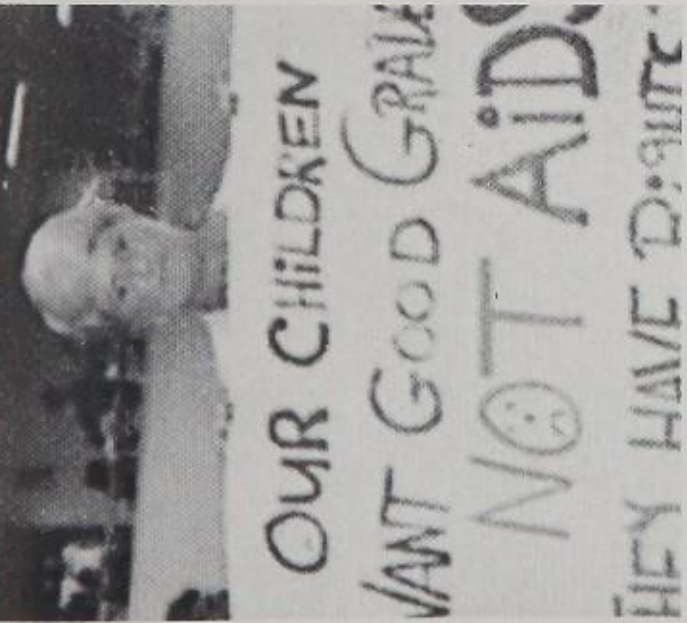

Titanic

On Sunday, April 14, 1912; the worlds largest and most luxurious ocean liner was steaming through the Atlantic when she struck an iceberg and sank 2 1/2 hours later.

1,522 lives were lost. Experts had considered the Titanic to be unsinkable, but they were proven otherwise. 73 years later, Sunday, September 1985, she was found 2 miles deep in the Atlantic by U.S. Navy research team, and French Scientists. Thousands of images of the "floating palace" were recorded.

The sea had preserved her well, windless heads, anchor chains etc., all appear ready for action beneath thin film of Marine organisms. The Titanic is more Monument than a tomb. "It is a quiet and peaceful place for the remains of this greatest of tragedies to rest. Forever may it remain that way."

Missing children total climbs; older kids and little ones taken, too.

The total number of missing children has increased steadily in recent years. Small babies as well as older teenagers were abducted.

Steps were taken to find missing children and also to prevent the abduction of more. Pamphlets came in the mail. Labels with pictures and descriptions of missing children were put on milk cartons and other products. Pictures and descriptions were shown on television advertisements. Hit movies were made based on missing children. There were special drives to make child identification kits. Children were taught in school how to escape abduction.

Parents in the community as well as the entire country were concerned about their children's safety, and small children were worried too.

AIDS disease prompts world-wide research

The technical name for AIDS is Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome. AIDS is transmitted sexually between two people of the same sex but can be given to an unsuspecting partner by a member of the opposite sex.

There is still a lot of research taking place by scientists all over the world. Currently they think the AIDS can be transmitted through human saliva or tears. But the previous statement has yet to be proven.

Even though this disease is transmitted sexually it has not changed the sexual habits of many people. AIDS can be transmitted by blood transfusions also.

tions of several children were caught and tried, but still more have not yet been found.

Comet appears

Approximately every 76 years, the Halley's Comet can be seen from Earth, as it makes its orbit around the sun. It appeared on schedule for the 1985 year, having been last seen in 1910. The comet travels on an elongated path around the sun, in the opposite direction of the planets. Its path extends from near the sun to the path of Neptune, the eighth planet. The comet travels toward the sun at 70,000 m.p.h. Having been seen by just binoculars people world-wide tried to get a glimpse of what probably is their only chance to see the spectacular star show. As in all other astronomical events, it was best seen when the skies were clear from smog, pollution, and overcast skies.

'Refrigerator' scores

Last October, William 'The Refrigerator' Perry became the heaviest man in NFL history to score a touchdown. Affectionately known as 'Biscuit' to his teammates, this 308-pound defensive tackle took the NFL by surprise when he plunged over the goal line with the ball to score his first touchdown. Chicago Bears' head coach, Mike Ditka's decision to use Perry for offense has been called "the best use of fat since the invention of bacon."

'The Boss' finally makes big time

Upon the completion of his 'greatest year ever' Bruce Springsteen had finally become the most popular vocalist in the world. The 35 year old male, born in Freehold, New Jersey, had finally become 'The Boss' of rock and Roll!

Not only did Bruce find happiness in his album "Born in the U.S.A." and touring through 61 different cities but also found happiness in a new marriage. At the end of May, he married model Julianne Phillips.

Though it was a great year, Bruce claims there will be better and now that his life is at a bit slower pace, he feels it's time to divorce slightly and start a family. No matter what decisions he makes, everyone in the U.S.A. wishes he and Mrs. Boss a happy and beautiful marriage.

Trotters ink distaff dribbler

The Harlem Globetrotters - those crazy basketball players, that can run circles around any professional hoop team - ham it up to the packed crowds, and still play by all the rules. They always seemed to be the first to bring innovation. 1985 brought a new first to their sixty year career, a girl! A lady 'trotter'!

A competitive, 18-woman tryout was held in August 1985 to find a replacement for Geese Ausbie who had recently retired. Since then Lynette Wooldard, 25, has become the only woman to don the blue and white striped shorts of the team. She stated, "It's the opportunity of the century!"

Her height, six feet, helps, but basketball talent definitely runs in the family; Lynette and Geese are cousins!

Head rat raises bucks for starving Africans

The theme for Live Aid being "Re-united, and it feels so good" was one reason for getting this group of Super-Stars together. One fan said she would be able to die happy having seen three quarters of Led Zeppelin perform together for a one-time-one reformation with groups such as Black Sabbath and The Who.

As most of the world knows, the organizer of this great success was Bob Geldorf of the British band, Boomtown

Rats.

The money which was raised was for the starving people in Africa.

Tragedy strikes

In October, 1985, an earth moving experience hit Mexico City. Thousands of people were killed when buildings and debris fell, burying many alive.

Five days after the earthquake, a detector picked up cries coming from beneath the sixth floor of a hospital. Crews worked all through the night and by sunrise Jesus Rodriguez, severely bruised and suffering from dehydration, and a dislocated hip, was found.

The earthquake that struck Mexico City was a major disaster. People from all over the world felt sorrow for the people who were killed that day.

Lyceum (Li-ce-um) n, an assembly that teaches without being too boring.

This year there were many, exciting, lyceums. People from far away lands and thrilling places came to Box Elder and taught the studentbody many things. Students at BEHS learned about the life and eating habits of birds; skiing and other ways to enjoy life (without school); and expressing without words.

1. During one lyceum, the pantomimist shows the art of mime.
2. As shown by his face and body language, the general message of the pantomimist is that alcohol and drugs are bad for you.
3. With just a few props, the mime makes his own little world.

Guys, dolls invade B.E.

Since early January, the 30 member cast has been hard at work to perfect the Musical.

Guys and Dolls was under the direction of Mr. Batzel with Mr. Allred, a student teacher from USU, over the music. Nikki Brant was acting as the student assistant.

It featured many talented actors from Box Elder High School.

Jay Naumann portrayed Sky Masterson, the "smooth gambler," with Peri Cope as Nathan Detroit, the "free-spirited, risk taking bachelor." Adelaide, the "hot box dancer," was played by Shanna Hilton, and Sarah, the "sweet and innocent" army mission officer, was portrayed by Stephanie Thorne.

The musical provided fun for all.

1. Members of a floating crap gam gather around Nathan Detroit, Peri Cope, to shoot crap.
2. Telling their sad story, Kevin Bowcutt, Vince Brewer, and David Boice, plead for luck to be a lady tonight.
3. Explaining that a 14 year engagement is long enough, Adelaide, Shanna Hilton insists they get married.
4. Hot box dancers; Natalie Green, Tami Saunders, Jammie Ross, Marni Small, and Joy Volwiler, pose for a picture.

1. Finally released for the day, students rush off to the many other aspects that consume their time . . . work, athletics, clubs, etc.
2. Involved in painting for Homecoming are Jerry Pierce, Jim Valcarce, and Trevin Campbell.
3. Enjoying one of the many extra curricular activities are Stephanie Thorsted, Katharyn Armstrong, and Joette Williams.
4. Practicing for Homecoming took time.
5. Students look forward to another day.

World

There was definitely more to life for B.E. students than just school. Friends were mostly classmates, but after the 2:30 bell rang a whole new world opened up.

Underclassmen disappeared to catch carpools, find friends, and do homework. Seniors and juniors were out to their cars and on their way to work or to drop off books at home and go have fun. Parties, movies, B.E. sport events, and hot dates were on the night's list of things to do.

Most teenagers worked in one of the many local restaurants; cooking, cleaning, or waiting on customers. Stated Andrea Garner, "It's hard when you have to work and your friends don't but it's a job." Life wasn't all work and no play.

Living

Being a class officer isn't as easy as it looks. It takes a lot of hard work and ambition. When asked why he liked being freshman class president Mike Gardner said, "I liked being in charge. Our class brought spirit and enthusiasm to Box Elder High. And when people asked I was proud to say that I was president of the class of '89', the best class at Box Elder."

Class

The Freshmen did an excellent job on the bonfire this year. It was said to be the best bonfire in years, the officers all agreed. But after all the effort and hard work, the outcome was no surprise. The officers, with the help of the Steering Committee guarded the wood, and were all glad when it was finally burned.

The freshmen class would like to give a special thanks to class parents: Mrs. Louise Francis and Mr. Scott Nelson, for all their hard work, and support. We also want to thank Mr. Kirk Gardner for all his help.

Freshman

A freshman leaves for the bus at 7:00, the bus comes at 7:30.

When he arrives at school he runs to his locker and gets his books for first hour, and goes and sits in his class room.

When walking into a classroom you can identify a freshman by looking at the front row and seeing who raises his hand first. When lunch comes the freshman is the one running to the cafeteria with his beeline in his hand.

A freshman's day ends with all his homework done and he is in bed by ten, so he will be ready for the next day.

Parents

Selected as class Parents for the class of '89' were Mr. Scott Nelson and Mrs. Louise Francis.

Being a class parent takes a lot of hard work, dedication, and a love for people. Class parents help the student with parties, dances and getting through the year.

When asked why she wanted to be a class parent Mrs. Francis said, "I wanted to be a class parent, in fact I even volunteered." She said that she wants the class of '89' to be the best class ever at Box Elder. They are looking forward to lighting the "B" and are ready to have the most different Junior Prom Box Elder has ever seen, now thats one to remember.

Class officers

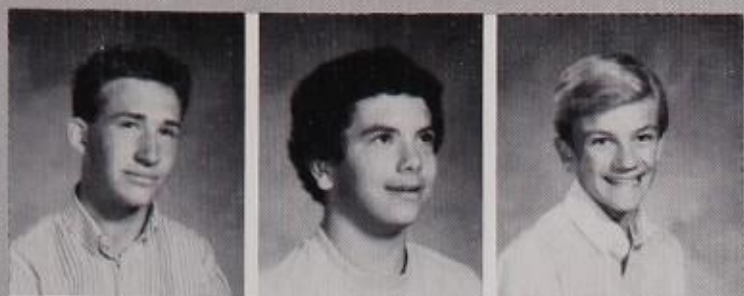

"This year's lighting of the 'B' was even more spectacular than last year's!" said one of the specators at the annual Homecoming football game.

The lighting of the 'B' was organized by the Sophomore class officers, as one of the many things they were in charge of and as just one of their class activities. They were also in charge of the Christmas and Purple and White dances. The class of

"88"'s class officers also accomplished again this year the selling of class rings, class meetings, and, the best of all, the class parties!

Successful

This years lighting of the "B" on the mountain, east of Brigham City, was again considered as one of the Sophomore Class' many Homecoming activities.

Many people helped to light the "B". All of the class officers attended and it was said, "even though it was cold, we had a riot."

After the traditional lighting of the "B", everyone that helped warmed up after by enjoying pizza at Mama Julianne's.

The class officers would like to thank everyone that helped and wish good luck to the class of 89. (even though this years lighting of the "B" was the best ever).

Choosing's

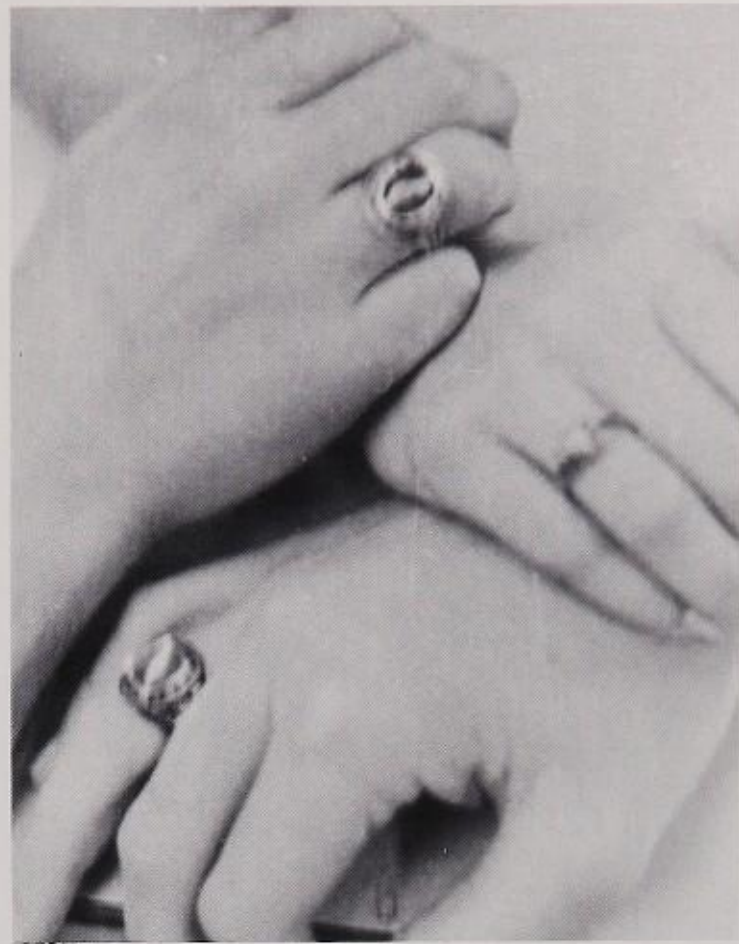

"Choosing was a real hard decision," stated Heather Petersen. Yes, Choosing a class ring was one of the events that the sophomore class got to do.

There were many different kinds of rings to pick from. Gold or silver, square or round, what color of stone and what emblem to put on the ring.

For many girls it was a chance to show everyone that you were going out with a guy.

But maybe the best reason for buying a school ring was to show your pride for Box Elder and the Sophomore class, which made buying a school ring a very important tradition.

The Junior Class Officers for 85-86 were Joel Wilson, President; Barbara Handy, Rep.; Stephanie Thorsted, Rep.; Joette Williams, Rep.; Tonya Chappell, Vice P Pres.; and Kathryn Armstrong, Secretary.

Class

For most, their Junior year at BEHS is a full one. The students must start preparing for their Senior year by working on their grades to obtain scholarships, and most important of all, preparing for the Junior Prom.

The Junior Prom is something you look forward to from your Freshman year on. You anticipate who your date will be and what it will be like and the Prom colors.

Most years the Prom colors have been mauve and burgundy or lavender and pink, but this year was different. The prom colors for the class of '87 were black and white with red accents.

You might think that this would not look very good but for most Juniors and the rest of the Prom goers it was a great and creative chance of pace and the be Junior Prom ever.

During Homecoming week, Juniors enjoyed painting the town as well as themselves.

Juniors

On Monday September 16, a traditional event in Box Elder's history took place, the Juniors painted the town. Slogans ranged from "Sink the Lakers" to "Drown 'em". The ones being drowned, of course, were the Lakers.

Among the new places painted were 2nd South, McDonalds, and Fred Meyer.

Juniors came out of it with purple skin, purple tinted hair, and purple clothes.

Student

When Kathryn Armstrong was young, friends told her that she was so photogenic that she could become a model. When she was fifteen, she decided that it was time to give it a try. She first entered a contest by Seventeen magazine for a cover model. She ranked in the top 25 from Utah, and remains one of the four representatives from Utah to this day. This achievement got her recognition from ZCMI department store. She then went to a special charm school where she learned how to do ramp modeling, photographic movement, and was taught about acting for commercials.

As a model here in Utah, you don't make lots of money, but Kathryn feels that it will be a good job for college. Modeling is not like what most people think it will be, it is a lot of hard work. In order to be a good model, you have to eat, sleep and drink modeling. "It is more than a job, it's a way of life." Kathryn also feels that it is important to always remember who you are in the modeling field, and to remember what you want, or they will shape you into a mold of just a beautiful dumb girl.

Kathryn is the Junior class secretary and contributes to the whole school. As she said, "It is important to know what you want and go for it."

Enthusiastic

"He was probably the most dedicated member on the cross country team", said Jeff Taggart about his team mate Chris Leduc. He has been a member of the team for two years now. Chris loves to run, not for the speed, but for the discipline and endurance it brings.

Chris is also a Palace Playhouse member. When asked what his favorite class was, he replied that he enjoys Spanish. While in eighth grade he visited Mexico, and he hopes to go again.

Chris has a great attitude about life and faces everyday with enthusiasm. He is an attribute to the Junior class, and the whole school in general.

Senior officers for 1985-86 are Martha Christensen representative; Tori Bonham representative; Arnell Andersen representative; Cliff Petersen vice president; Rachel Bassett representative; Chrissy Rush president; and Keri Walker secretary.

Class

"Getting things organized and completed was the hardest thing about being an officer, but aside from all the trouble it teaches you a lot," commented Keri Walker, senior class secretary, when asked what the hardest part of being a senior officer was.

The job was quite a chore as senior officers saw a large calendar of events to be organized. Major events included Homecoming dance, Sadie Hawkins dance and assembly, graduation, and senior class parties. Besides this there were always little everyday class activities to be completed.

The senior officers for the 85-86 year were: president, Chrissy Rush; vice president, Cliff Petersen; secretary, Keri Walker; representatives, Tori Bonham, Rachel Basset, Martha Christensen, and Arnell Anderson.

Every senior had certain needs that needed to be fulfilled in order to sustain life. Having a car was on the top of that list. But a car had to have gas to function properly. It took money to buy gas. Therefore, a senior had to have money. Where did they get money? From their parents? Wrong! From the government? Wrong, again! They spent half their lives working in fast food restaurants and grocery stores.

Changing

The Board of Education played a major role in students life during the 1985 and 1986 school year. They made one of the biggest decisions of the decade fo B.E.H.S. Their decision was to put the tri-mester schedule into effect.

The tri-mester was a five period day at 70 minutes each. One tri-mester included 60 days after which report cards were distributed. For the most part the change was taken very well by the students for the most part.

The Board of Education consisted of the following: Max White board member; Donna Gordon, board member; Junior Okada, board member; Annette Harris, board member; Darrell White superintendent; and A. Lynn Michaelis.

Flowing

Keeping the school running in an orderly fashion was a steady job this year at Box Elder. With the organizing of school calendars, and the constant chirp of the typewriter printing our weekly schedules.

The leader of this group of talented people was Dr. Jay Stuart. When asked what the hardest part of his job was he responded "Knowing that you are going to fail at helping a student once in a while, knowing that he or she will not be happy."

He also added that his biggest concern for the students was "Seeing the students get a good learning experience and still enjoy it."

The principles this year were:

Mr. Johnson Vice Principal

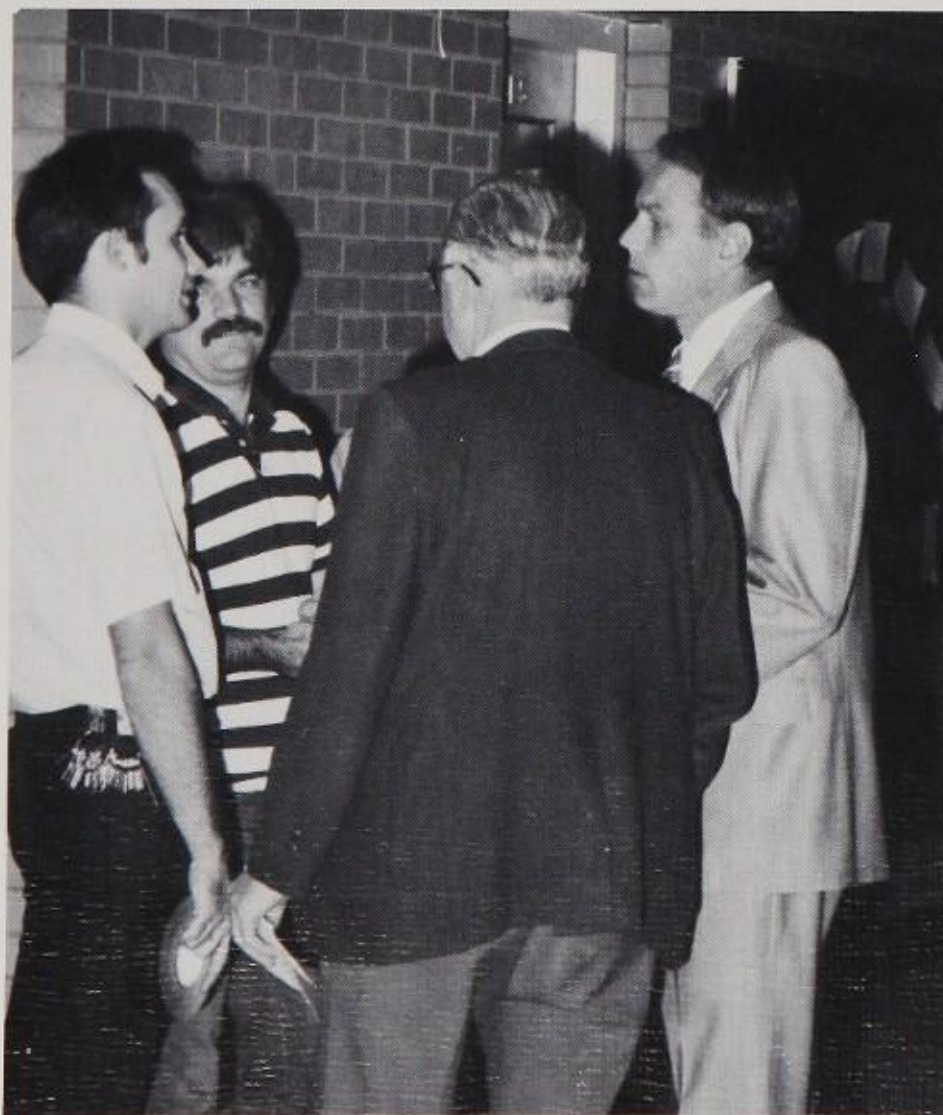

Mr. Williams Vice Principal

Mr. Stuart Principal

Smoothly

Dr. Stuart chuckles as he signs another one of those boring papers. This is one of the many things the principal of our school does every day.

What may appear to be a serious conversation actually turns out to be some of the latest gossip.

One of the many activities was their opening social at John Adams Park, where they all brought an ice block and slid down the hill. Advisor Karen Whitaker stated, "I feel it is a worthwhile club, and the girls really enjoy it. I only wish more girls would get involved."

Throughout the school year Lettermen have been promoting spirit at Box Elder by participating in various sports, such as tennis, wrestling, football, and basketball. Lettermen didn't stop at participating—they supported other sports. And it wouldn't have been a surprise to have gone to a girls' game and seen a bunch of lettermen out there cheering the girls on.

"It's a lot of fun going out and having a good time with the guys at the game," commented member, Jamie Vogt.

Both clubs added much excitement to school activities.

Madrigals was a new experience for all of its members. This year, instead of having a class during school, they had it before school at 7:00 a.m. Many came weary eyed but the group proved that they could handle it.

Last December they were taped for a television program by Channel 7 (KUED). The program consisted of many Christmas songs.

They were also invited to sing at the state capital building and on Temple Square during the Christmas season.

"In the end all the early morning practices paid off," said Leslie Warren, a member of Madrigals. For after all it was a great experience and many heard and enjoyed the beautiful sounds the Madrigals shared.

Shows

Members of the largest women's choir at Box Elder were known as the Chansonnettes. They were directed by Mr. Jeff Coletti.

This year, due to the new trimester schedule, the Chansonnettes were unable to begin holding class until the second trimester. Thus, they had a late start, and they had to work fast and hard to catch up with the other women choirs around. But, this didn't hold them back, or even threaten them, because this year's Chansonnettes proved to be a strong group with real talent.

Director Jeff Coletti often commented that they showed great potential and skill, and were among the best in the state. The officers were: Nicole Fodnes, president, Shelly Summers, Megan Johnson, and Laurie Williams.

Exceptional

The Concert Choir program this year was exceptionally good. It was a larger-than-normal group, with ninety-two students. Due to this large number, the students of the choir this year were able to get new chairs. For the first time in many years, Box Elder invested in choir robes this year. The robes were worn to programs, concerts, and special performances, such as their trip to Temple Square, and singing in the state capitol building. During the fall of the year, the choir got special, new equipment to further their efforts. Some of these were new microphone systems, and a new stereo and recording system.

The presidency for this year planned many activities, fundraisers, concerts, and parties. They were: Kevin Bowcutt, president; Leslie Warren, vice president; Kassie DeRyke, treasurer; Heidi Harper, secretary; Laura Findlay, social chairperson; and Karrie Christensen, librarian.

"A total theater experience" was the way Mr. Scott Nelson described Palace Playhouse. Palace was composed of 22 members, and was one of the only organizations of its kind in the state. The funds on which it was run were earned from ticket sales and advertizing, with minimal help from the school.

Palace board members were Matt Opprecht, Kathy Sneddon, Tammy Devine, Natalie Green, and Barbara Handy. Advisors were Mr. Scott Nelson and Mr. Joe Batzel. Troupers

Choreography, rehearsing, and perfecting dance steps and motions are what is done in dance club, along with lots of practice. But the dancers know that it takes more than just practice; it takes personality, concentration, and determination. It is not easy to dance in front of the student body, but the dance club made it look as if there were nothing to it. Although before performing most were usually nervous and afraid that they might forget the steps, when they got on stage and the music started, they forgot everything except what they had spent many hours rehearsing.

The troupe members are Mindy Whitaker, Loretta Peters, Christina Merrill, Stephanie Locascio, Sherri Johnson, Lora Humphrey, Christine Birch, Kym Barber, Raelyn Reese, Kassie DeRyke, tres.; Tammy Prescott, sec.; Stephanie Wendell, vice.; Kim Cosgrove and Raquel Waters, publicity, Teresa Richards, pres.

The pep club shows their love and pride for Box Elder High School as they proudly form a "B.E."

Decked out in their purple and white sweaters the pep club shows uniformity as they do one of their favorite cheers.

Peppers

School Spirit was all that was needed for the pep club, and with 110 girls you got a lot of it.

On a game day you could always count on going to school and seeing a lot of purple and white sweaters worn by the pep club.

"Pep club is great because it gives freshmen the chance to get involved and show school spirit," commented Nancy Francis.

This year's officers were: Dana Jensen, President; Jodi Jeppesen, Secretary; Emily Nay, Historian; and Nancy Francis, Public Relations. The Advisor was Charlotte Parkinson. These, along with twelve squad leaders, were the ones who made sure everything was running smoothly. But the members were the ones who made it so much fun.

Colorguard

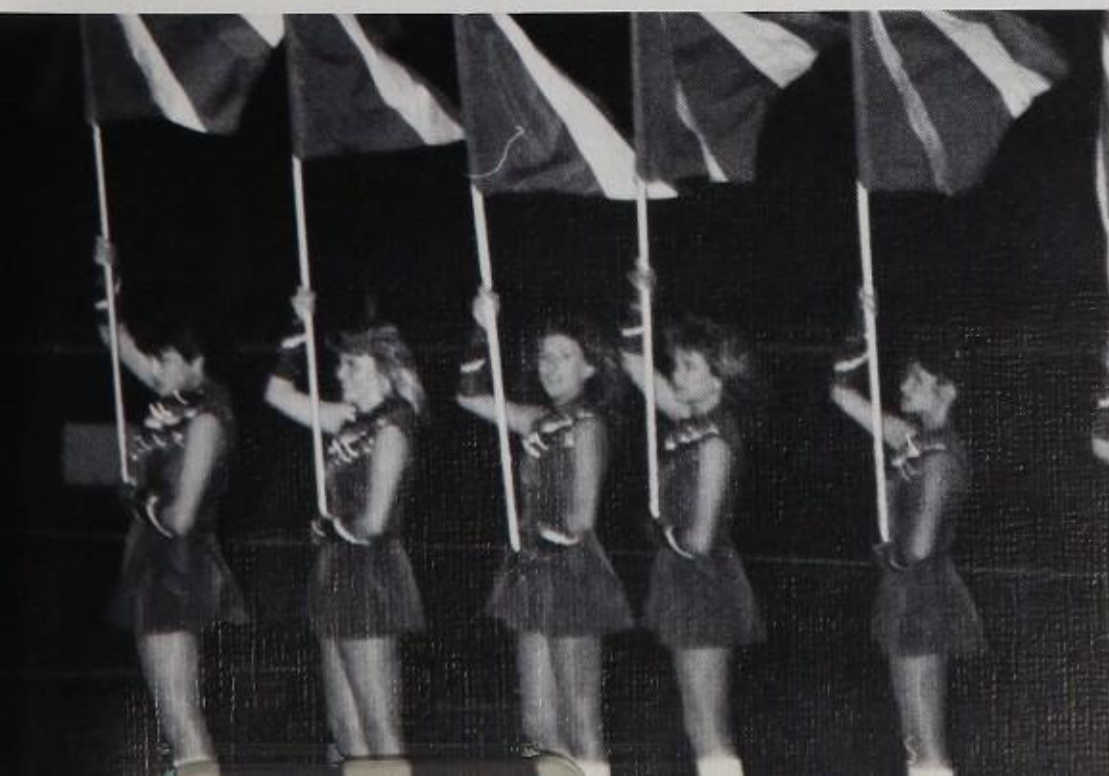

One of the first things you would hear at a Box Elder ballgame was, "Would the audience please rise for the presentation of the national colors by the Box Elder Colorguard." This important duty was one of the many things the Colorguard took care of getting it off to a proper start. They also participated in halftimes, Homecoming, parades and in assemblies.

Tori Bonham commented, "We've all worked very hard to make this year a success. A lot of credit should go to everybody for such a great year!"

This special pride in their club made the Colorguard stand out with a special glimmer. The group was lead by persistant Kathy Smoot and the routines were choreographed by Kim Knight, drill leader; with help from Lynette Rees; assistant drill leader.

The advisors were Diane Quayle and Mr. Earl Swenson who were always supportive, and willing to help. Also, when asked, Angie Brightenburg said, "Thanks should go to the pep band, also, for providing all of our music!"

Rockette

Marching in football and basketball halftimes was just a small part of being a Rockette. There were fund raisers, games, competitions, parties, and don't forget early morning practices. But this year our school was put on a different type of schedule. We were put on the trimester block, that put early morning practices after school till 4:30, except during the summer; they still had to come at 6:00.

One of the highlights of the year was competitions and they worked very hard for this.

"It can be frustrating but when the crowd gets involved it's worth it," said Dana Parker. She was talking about the duties of a cheerleader: pep assemblies, team support, and overall school spirit.

The squad had a busy job. It was hard to get it all done but they did it and did it well; and even let the smaller sports know they were important.

Joni Swenson, Ann Johnson, Dana Parker, Tina Parkinson, Kari Jo Yagi, Jeri Jeppson, Raquel Johnson, Heather Simkins, Mrs. Gomez, and Mr. Leggett spent hours bringing new ideas and outstanding pride to Box Elder. They showed undrooping spirit when cheering, and represented B.E. well.

Go, Fight

Who are those girls jumping and smiling in front of the crowd during the J.V. basketball and football games and wrestling matches?

With their bright smiles, togetherness, and great devotion, the cheerleaders eagerly worked at getting the Box Elder fans involved.

School spirit has been a major part of Box Elder High's winning tradition. Even when the teams weren't winning or doing their best, school spirit was high. The J.V. cheerleaders and the mascots did a great job of keeping school spirit through thick and thin, which isn't very easy.

Making mascot or J.V. cheerleader was only the beginning. The "real fun" began when the girls dragged themselves to the early morning practices.

The mascots also added lots of spirit. Wearing the traditional Beasley suit were Brenda Pounder and Andrea Gardner.

Music

For 22 years Mr. Earl Swenson has directed the school's bands. That has added up to many early hours of practice with the 70 pep band members, and many nights after school with the 118 musicians of the concert band.

Individual band members participated in the Spring Solo Festival, and All-State Band. In the 1985 All-State Band Box Elder had three musicians, Tyler Harvey, Robert Lee, and Joni Swenson, in one of the top four chairs in their instrument sections. Other B.E. students finished in high positions.

In addition to support at football and basketball games, the Boise Competition (where the band played for the Rockettes' routines), and graduation, the concert band staged three concerts each year: Christmas, Winter, and Spring.

Commented Heidi Goss, a sophomore member of the band, "Everyone puts forth a lot of effort so we can be the best, but we have a lot of fun at the same time."

The 1985-86 orchestra at Box Elder was something to be proud of. Although it was small in size, the 22 talented members worked hard to make the year a success with the help of their advisor, Mr. Earl Swenson. They performed at several community and school functions.

One member, Robert Lee, selected to be in the all-state orchestra, said this about the experience, "It was a real honor to be chosen to play with other top high school orchestra students."

All of the work was done by students from BE. The book was compiled by a staff of volunteer students, mostly from creative writing classes. Directed by Mrs. LaFond Hall, the Hive was a real success.

Journalists

This year the Bee staff met fourth hour to make their assignments. The new advisor was Mrs. Hall and Michelle Mathis was the editor.

The only requirement to be on the Bee staff were; the desire to write, the willingness to work hard, a genuine interest in our school, be willing to put in extra time, a junior or senior, and have the teachers approval. Beginning journalism is also preferred but not required.

The class will benefit the school, and help you by teaching you responsibility and teach you to communicate effectively with other people.

Students

Did you ever wonder just who took care of all the problems at Box Elder High? Well, believe it or not, it was a class—a class considered to be as hard as calculus and chemistry—a class called Student Government. This class consisted of the Student Body Officers, the Class Officers, editors of the Bee and Boomerang, and the Head Cheerleader.

Members planned projects and assemblies, along with lots of other things to better our school.

"You never realize how much hard work it takes, but there is as much fun as work," remarked Martha Christensen.

Career

Talking has been one of the most important types of communication since man was created. For those who pursue and excel in a foreign language they can find themselves at a great advantage now and in future careers.

Through constant practice and repetition and different learning activities, the students become involved and aware of foreign cultures.

From the romantic French language to the brisk German, most students enjoyed their foreign language.

Although foreign languages take many years of work and practice to perfect, they offer both a broader understanding of the different cultures as well as a better chance of college entrance. Many colleges now require at least two years of foreign language in order to receive acceptance.

The sophomore football team finished the season with six straight wins and only two losses. Coached by Mr. Reid Goldsberry and Mr. Gordon Peterson, the team made the class of '88 proud. Coach Peterson commented, "They did a great job and really improved from their freshman year."

Judd Larkin and Ryan Jensen were named MVP's and others were honored as outstanding players. Jeff Loosle said, "We were too overconfident that we would go undefeated." They didn't to undefeated this year, but coaches said it was likely to happen soon.

Pigskinners learn about themselves

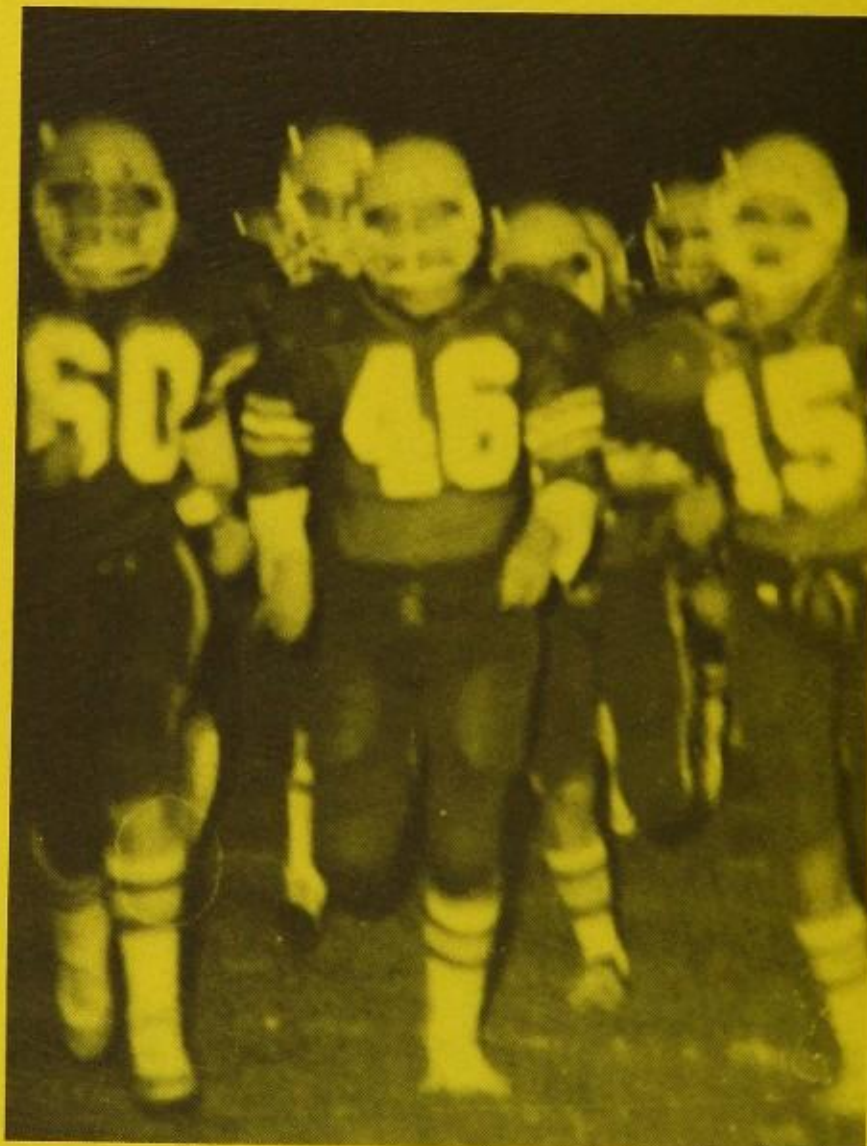

"It turned out to be a great year, and even more important we learned alot about ourselves," commented Matt Harris when asked about this years varsity football team.

The group was not the best in the history of Box Elder High, but was full of winners. The team ended a hard fought season with a region record of two wins and three losses.

When playoff time arrived at the end of the season Box Elder found itself in a playoff with the Falcons of Clearfield. The Bees were favored for the victory but were outscored by 20 points in the first four minutes. The team still played hard and kept fighting the end. When all was bad the team never gave up. This very game resembled the Bee gridders complete season ... hard fought but never getting a break.

Running shoes wore quickly if you were on the cross country team. They logged 180-360 miles in nine weeks. Remarkd Jeff Taggart, "The hardest part is finishing the miles and the race."

Seven girls and twenty guys, coached by Mr. Fuller and Mr. Carlile, ran during the season. The team standings were: Girls: 10th in state. 2nd in region, with Brandy Petersen an individual 6th, the highest B.E. girls ever.

Guys: 12th in state. 3rd in region.

Team captains were RuthAnn Holdway, Theresa Davies, Jeff Taggart, Rick Lawson, Robin Chappell, and JaNae Simmons.

When asked the rewards of coaching, Mr. Fuller replied, "when the race is over; the closeness of the team."

More than just a sport, girls basketball was an activity that taught the girls endurance, determination and how to get along with each other. Shana Wikenhauser, a senior member of the team said, "Basketball is great, it teaches us how to work as a team." The long, sometimes tedious practices went from two thirty until five at night, sometimes even later than that, and it soon sorted out the best from those who were just on the team. The attitude of the members was one of enthusiasm.

From the braids on Martha Ogles to the sober moments of defeat, they learned to stick together as one. When asked how she felt about this year's team and season, Captain Molly Wilkins replied, "Great!" with her thumbs up.

"It was a great year and we had alot of fun, but it was also a very easy sport to keep excited about." commented one swimmer in response to a question about the team and their sport.

It was a hard sport and you had to like it alot to keep up with it. The team practiced everyday before and after school, with the exception of dual meet days. The team at mid-season had only dropped one dual match up and were undefeated in region swimming.

At the conclusion of the season the Box Elder tankers were to swim at B.Y.U. in the State 4-A Championships.

Captains for the 85-86 season were: Randy Lancaster and Dan Wilcox for the boys. Cody Karlinsey and Marcy Wilson for the Girls. Diving captain was Daron Nelson.

Teams adjust

Although their records of 4-7 didn't show it, our varsity and J.V. basketball teams were excellent! They adjusted well to new Coach Mitch Wilcox and played well under him.

Even though it was his first year here Coach Wilcox commented that he felt very close to the players and loved them as if they were his boys.

The annual banquet was held to honor the team at the school. Some of the awards given were: Jeff Shaw and Lee Wells MVP, Matt Harris inspirational, Jeff Hadfield most rebounds, Blake Nichols best defensive player, Bart Goldsberry playmaker, Paul Bergeson best hustler, and Craig Muller received most improved.

Bees begin

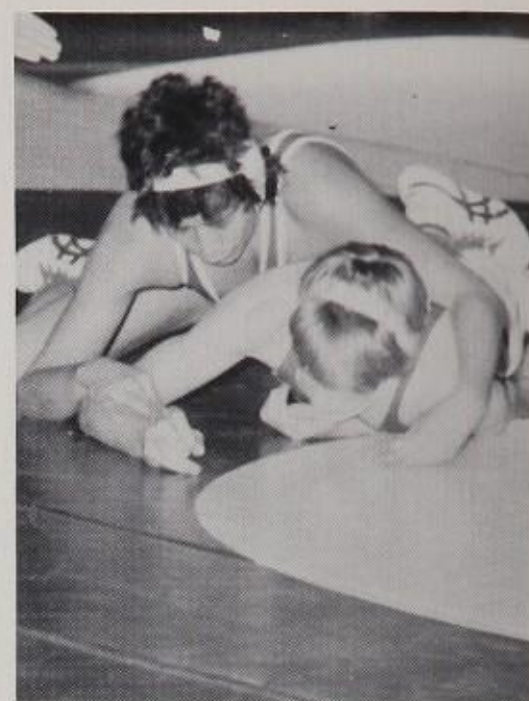

People wonder where Box Elder gets all of its talent and ability for wrestling. The most obvious conclusion is from the wrestlers themselves.

One of the sports that Box Elder is most famous for is wrestling. Our wrestling team has won many a tournament and fourteen region championships in a row.

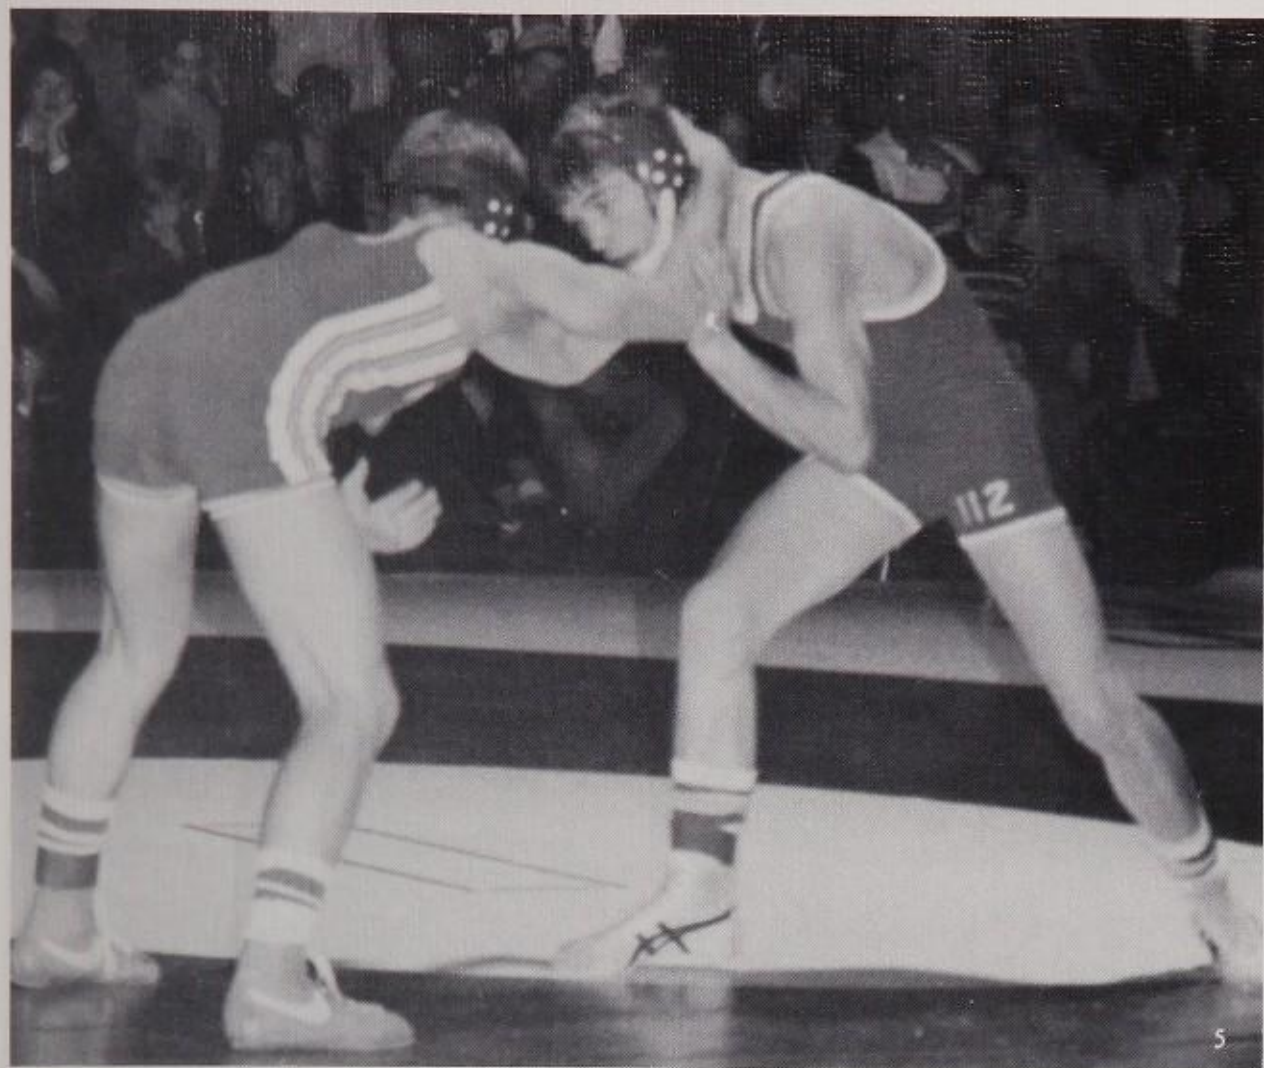

A special thanks goes to Coach Ripplinger and Coach Yates for their support.

The J.V. had an awesome record of being undefeated which proves we have some of the most determined "grapplers."

Netsters serve

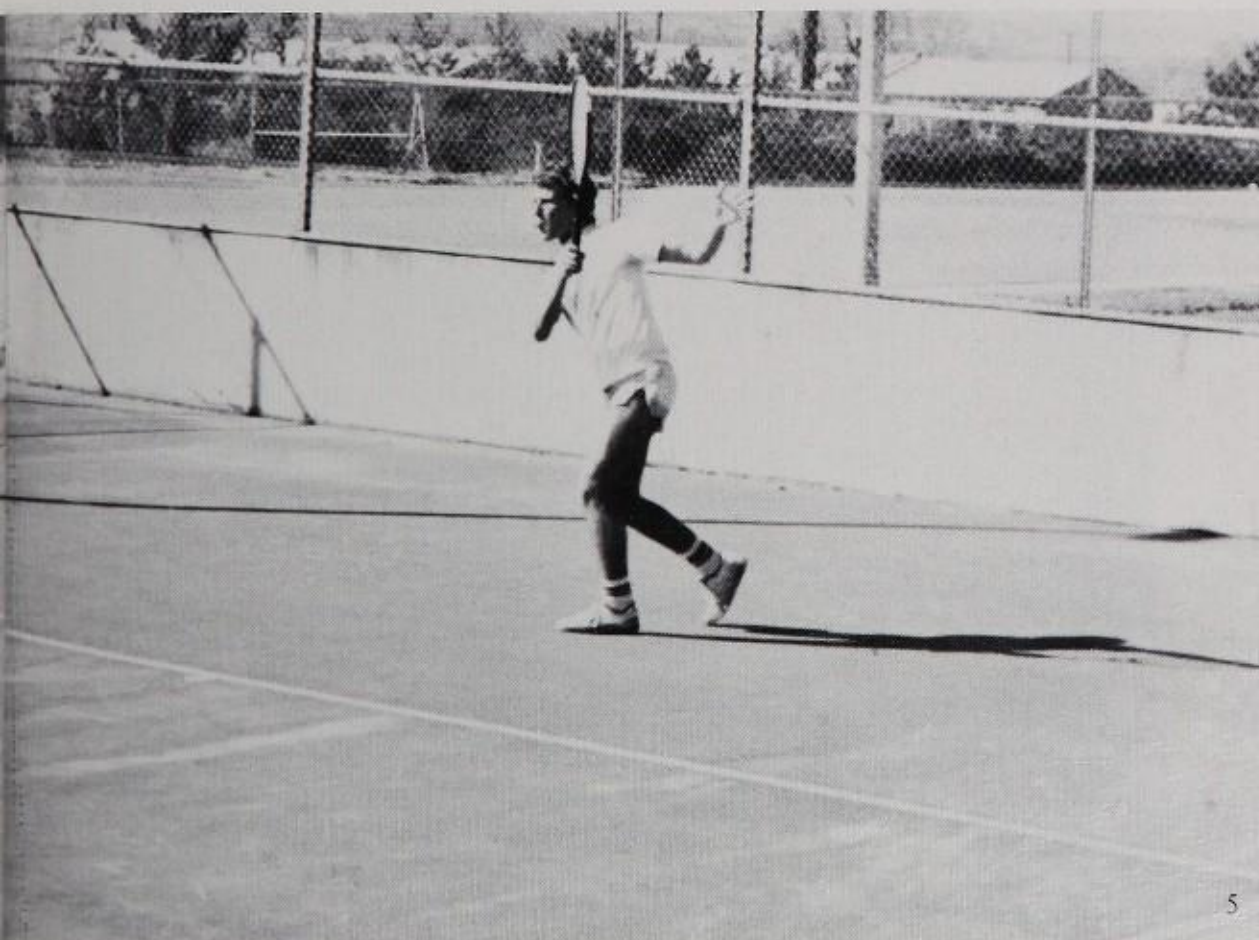

"Our toughest competition will be Bonneville," commented Coach Reid Goldsberry in response to a question about the toughest contenders in Region One tennis.

The Bees brought with them into the '86 season four previous lettermen. With the four, three of them were numbers one, two, and three in 1985.

Though the season once again started slow because of bad weather, the team was finally picked and saw once more three lettermen in the first three positions.

The team's first scheduled match was against Skyview on March 26, with regular region matches to begin April 1.

Overall the team looked to have a great chance at a fourth consecutive Region One championship.

1. Members of the 1985-86 Tennis team are: Jeff Droubay, Mark Harris, Dave Mills, Erik Johnson, Lee Wells, Bart Lee Goldsberry, Jamie Vogt, Greg Droubay.
2. Blocking a hit, is Greg Droubay.
3. Like your form, Mark Harris!
4. Swing that Racket, Bart Lee!

4. The varsity soccer team takes time out from the rigorous practice for a quick picture.
5. Marco Beck-Peccoz and Cesar Gonzales prepare for the game they love the most.
6. Going for a goal, Marco tries to outrun his opponent.

Soccer

Everyone got involved in soccer this year. It was the only sport at BE with a co-ed team. There were seven ninth graders on the varsity team, two foreign exchange students, three girls, and many returning varsity players. The team was coached by Mr. Kirk Allen. "I'm excited about all the new talent this year," commented Coach Allen, "as well as all the more experienced players."

They played a pre-season game against Bear River, and some great region games. If you went to any of these games, you know how fun and exciting they were.

The soccer team did a great job this year, and had fun while they were at it.

Sport provides

Track provides many athletes with the opportunity to exercise their skills for personal and school gratification. Such was the case for the 70 members of the '86 track team.

The boys gathered each day after school for approximately two hours of hard work, guided by Head Coach Galen Carlile.

Each contestant had certain warmup drills to perform, then went to an area reserved for his specific event.

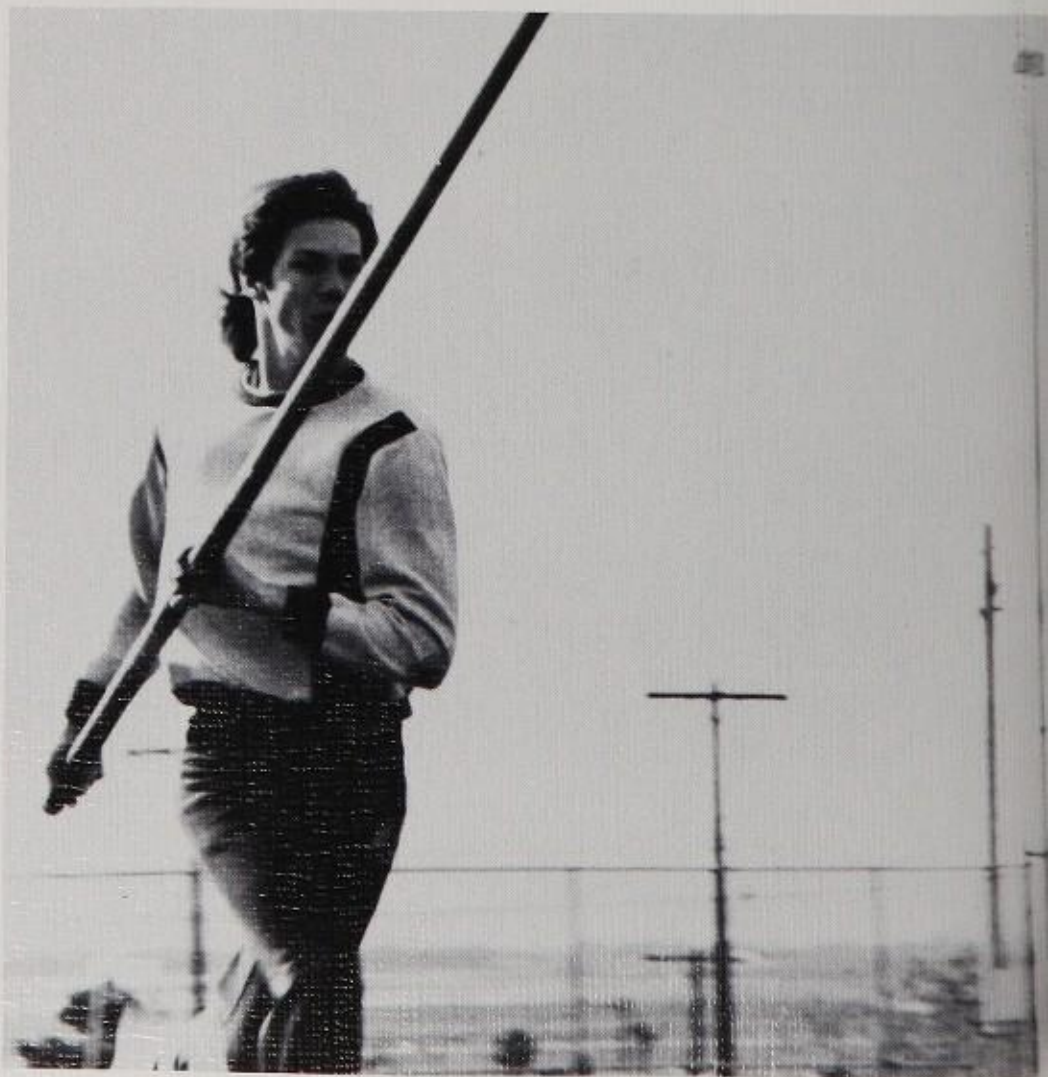

Distance runners averaged about 50 miles per week, while sprinters spent much of their time on technique and improving their speed.

Weight men, those who threw the shotput, javelin, and discus, spent about half their time lifting weight and half working on technique.

Jumpers, those in the pole vault and long jump, spent most of their time improving technique and actually jumping.

The team had about 12 meets scheduled, and looked forward to a successful Region One campaign.

1. Ballet? Nope, just another one of Coach Carlile's weird workouts.
2. Preparing to pole vault is Kris Hofmeister.
3. Track stars rest after a tough workout.
4. Concentration and hard work pay off for Tim Price.

Lengthening the stride

A lot of people don't see all the girls who take time out of their busy schedule to run track after school. They run sometimes as much as 3 to 10 miles a day.

It takes a lot of endurance and strength but it is all worth it in the end because you have a great feeling when you cross the finish line and know that you have done the best that you can.

Box Elder has some of the best and most dedicated girls track runners in the state. "It's a lot of hard work but I really enjoy it, it's a lot of fun!" says Lynette Rees.

BASEBALL

Sliders

The Frosh baseball team consisted of 16 members. Fewer players tried out for the team, but all the members were quality players, according to Coach Chris Larson.

The season started the last week of March and was scheduled to finish in mid-May. Early good weather enabled the team to play longer and practice more.

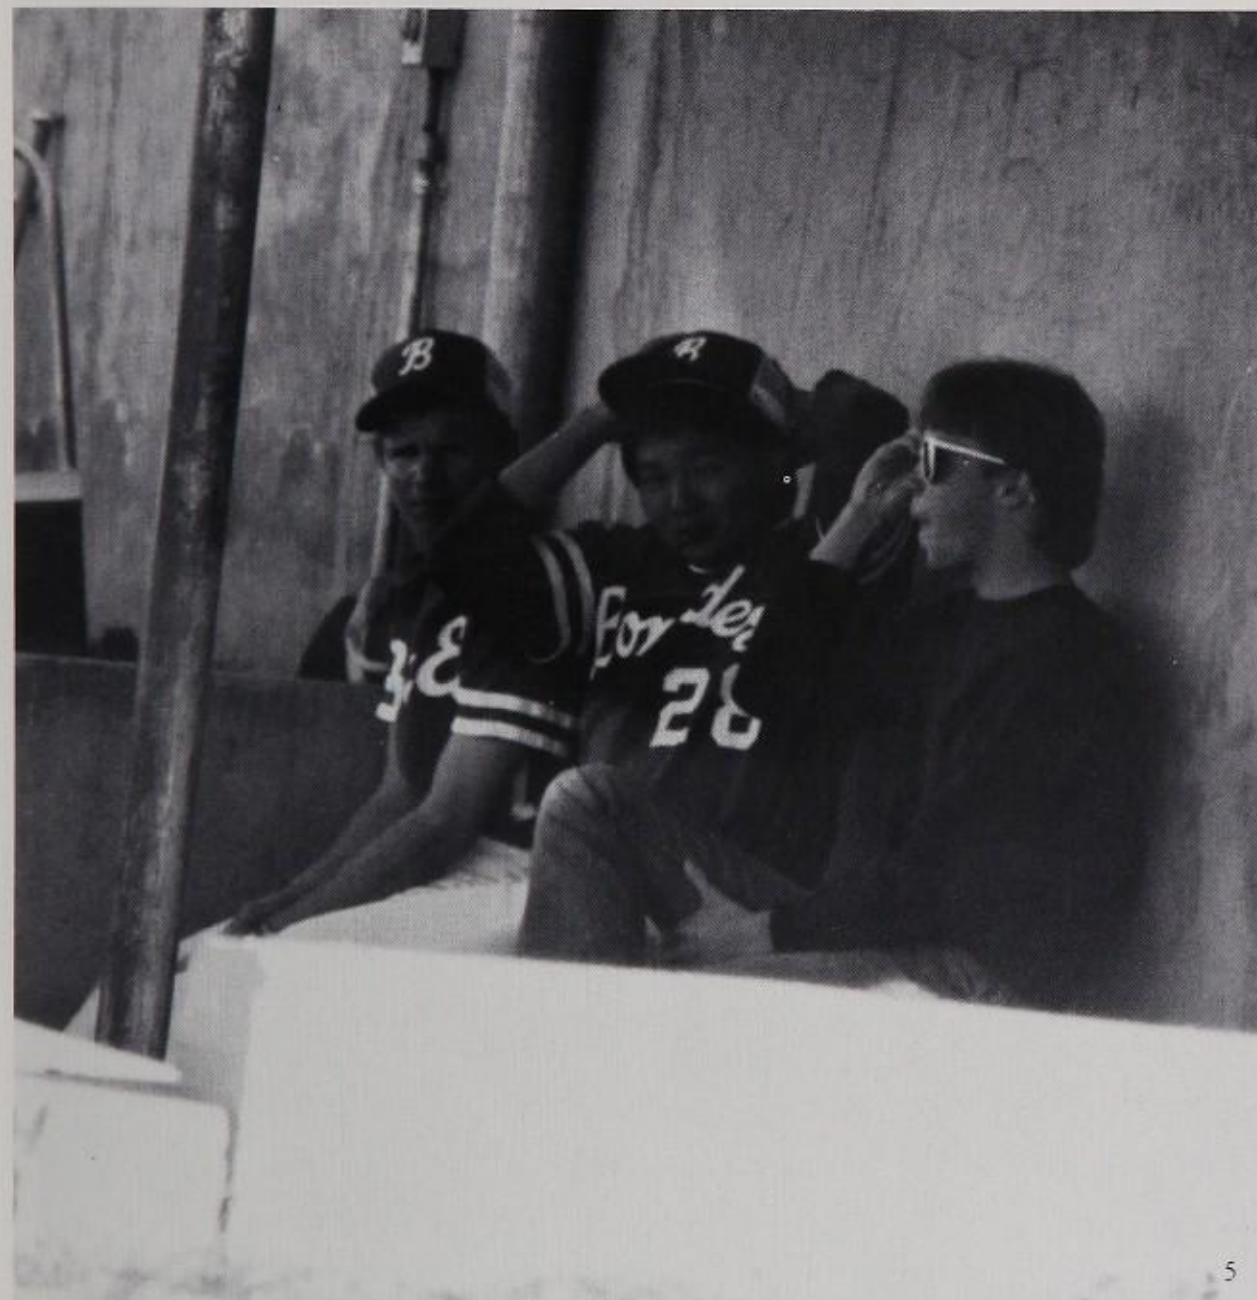

Coaching duties were shared by Coaches Larson and Vic Andersen.

When asked about the team, Coach Larson commented, "Two goals I'd like the team to fulfill are to have a winning season and beat Bear River twice."

Take 15 team members, two scorers and give them an excellent coach like Richard Wight, and you'll surely come out winning.

The playing season was made up of playing all region one schools plus practice games. The JV team also got some early practices while catching some rays. Not only did the players get a little fried, but so did their coach. "I enjoyed working on my tan," said Coach Wight.

Team successful

What does it take to be a successful baseball team? Well, whatever it might be, our varsity team had it! They certainly didn't lack in quality or potential.

At the beginning of the baseball season the players showed lots of ability to be put to the test. The many long and hard practices added to this ability by strengthening and developing the skills required to really succeed in this sport. Every player had a great desire to win. This aided the team in playing their best at every game.

To sum it up, our varsity baseball team was just what we hoped it would be—it was outstanding! The team had everything it took for a great '86 season.

1. Pitcher Shawn Bingham realizes that a good warm-up is half the battle as he carefully follows the correct procedure.
2. Anxiously waiting for their turn to bat, the Bee men watch the action.
3. A Skyview runner is tagged out, but Jeff Shaw breaks his wrist.
4. Skyview goes in high over BE's Lowe.

Finishes told

Ever since turning 4A three years ago, Box Elder has consistently finished high in region and state athletic competition. This year was no different.

The highlight of the season was shared by the volleyball and wrestling teams. The Lady Bees captured the Region One championship and went on to finish a strong third in the state tournament. Along the way, they defeated arch-rival Weber High. The wrestlers won their 12th consecutive Region championship and finished fifth in the state championships.

STERLING SCHOLARS

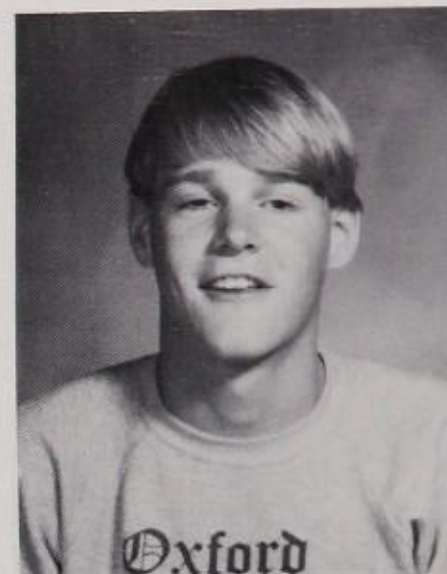

Chris Hankins
English

Sterling Scholar is a title that denotes talent and outstanding academic or vocational skill in one of twelve specific fields of study. The seniors nominated from Box Elder for these honors are exceptional students.

In December they were singled out from other applicants in the school and with the help of Mrs. Louise Francis and Mr. Rob Bishop began to compile portfolios and prepare for competition with other scholars from northern Utah.

Preliminary judging rounds began in March. Two Box Elder students: Joni Swenson, recognized as first chair flute in 1986 All-State Band, and Susan Francis, who had never received less than an A in Spanish, both advanced to the final rounds in music and foreign language respectively. Commented Joni, "It was really a big surprise and I'm nervous!"

The winners were announced and awarded scholarships on KSL television later in April.

Farewell

Many moments we've shared since I met you long ago,
but know it's time to say farewell, farewell.
We've shared smiles, we've shared tears,
but we've grown all along.
And you mean more to me than you'll ever know.
So we say farewell, let's take the memories as we go.
The years were good to you and me, we know.
So we say farewell, tho' I'm sad to have to go.
You mean more to me than you'll ever know.
I know you'll remember me and I'll remember you.
It won't matter where we live or where we go.
These are times we both shared,
times we laughed, times we cared.
And you mean more to me than you'll ever know.
Farewell, farewell, farewell, farewell.

1. Embarrassed because they messed up, Ana Arvidson, Cindy Andreassen, and Brandy Petersen try to hide their faces.
2. Listening very intensely, Scott Parson gets the latest gossip from Jaque Poulsen.
3. Showing much enthusiasm, Theresa Davies hugs Martha Christensen.
4. Showing us their muscles are Kaylynn Welch and Dona Thorsted.
5. Members of the croquet club provide the frame for this picture.
6. Embarrassed Chris Hankins gets a hug from mischievous Matt Opprecht.
7. LeeAnn Geldmacher is totally unaware of Lee Wells' funny face.

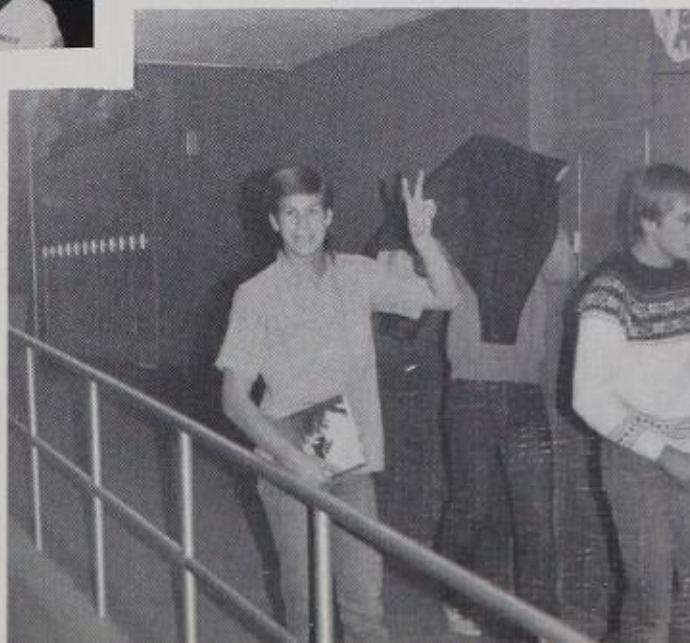

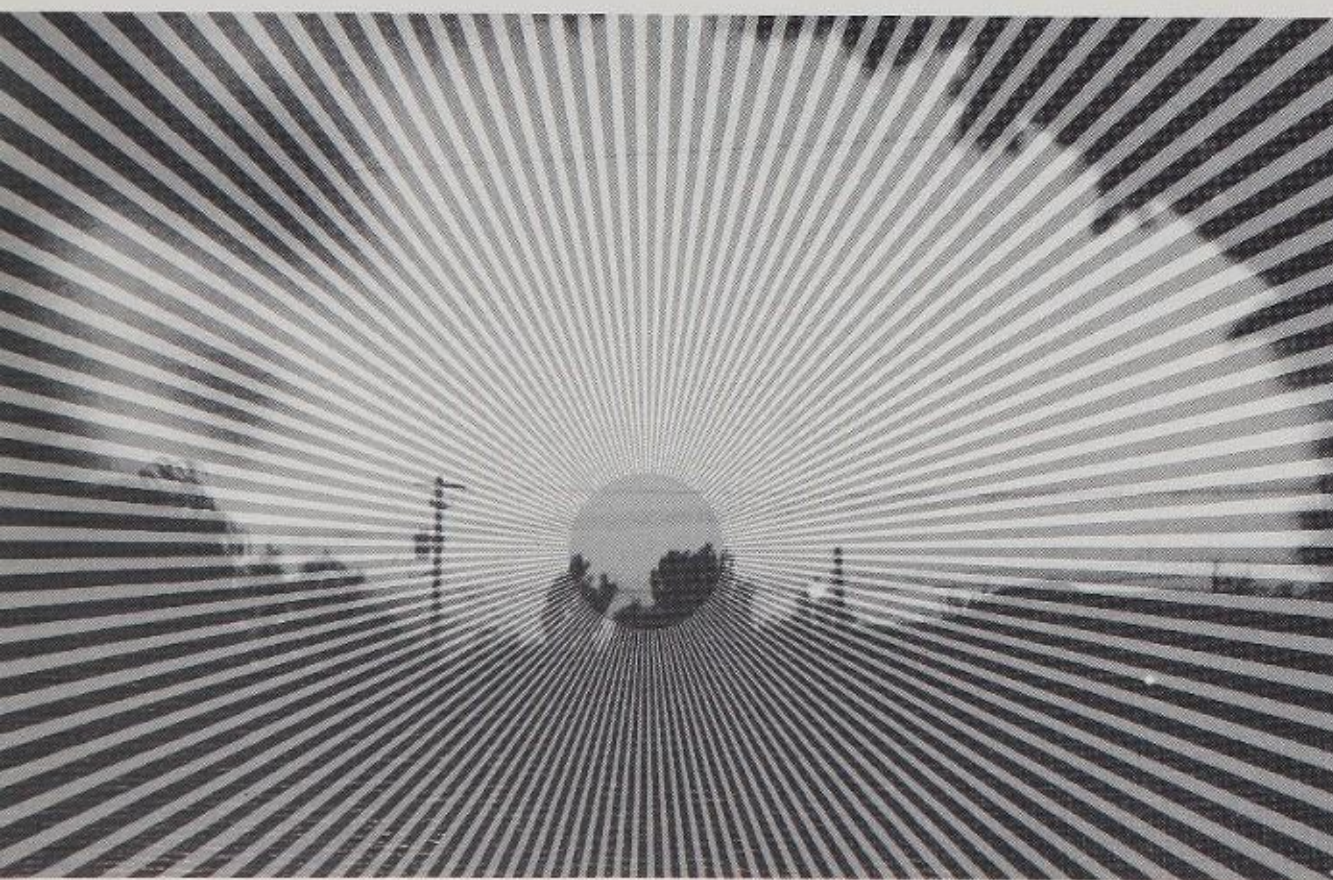

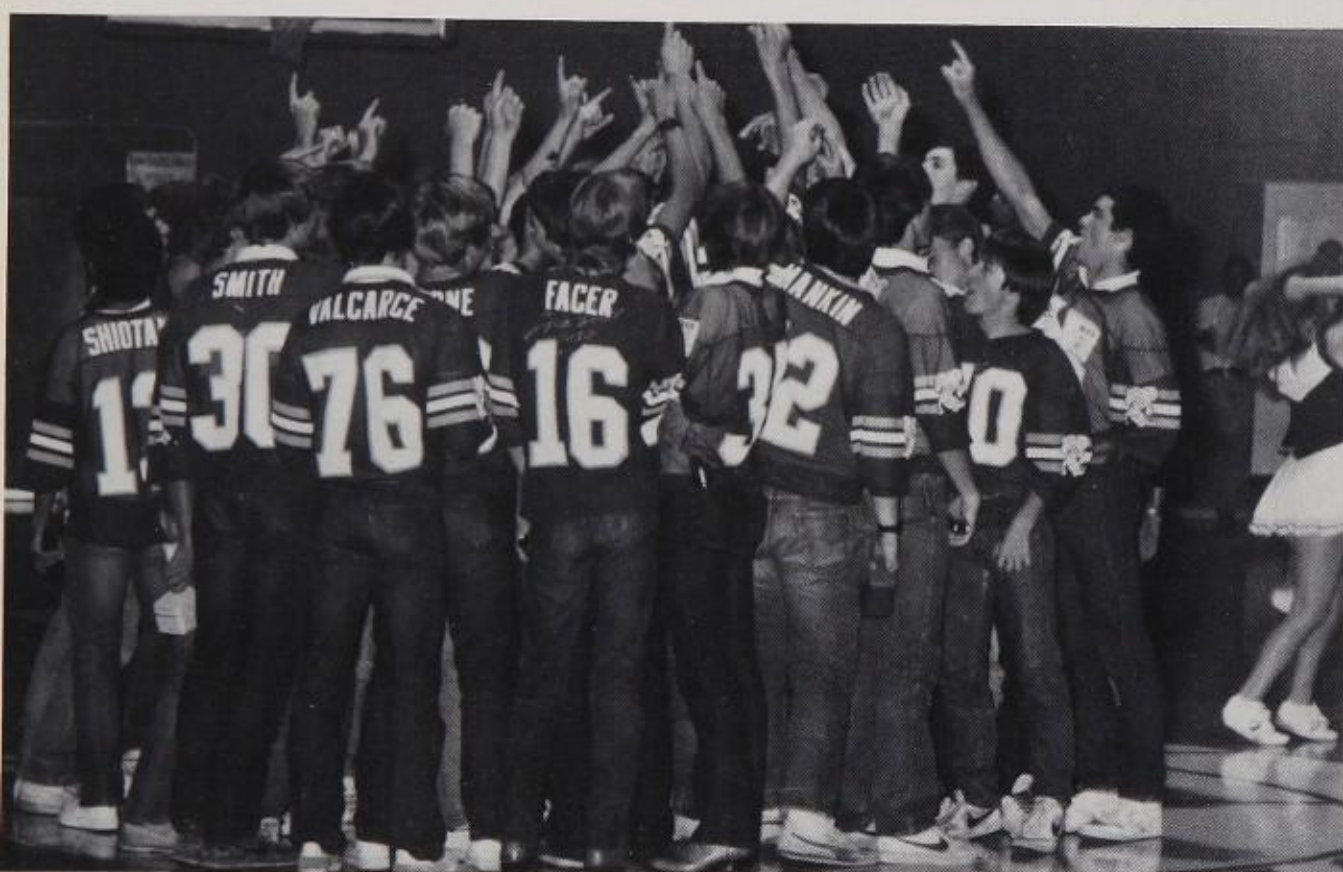

THE YEAR AT

The graduating seniors would like to dedicate this page as a memorial to their classmates who passed away during their years together.

To an Athlete Dying Young

*The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the marketplace;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder-high.
Today, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsmen of a stiller town.
Smart lad, to slip betimes away
From fields where glory does not stay
And early though the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.
Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers
After earth has stopped the ears:
Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honors out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.
So set, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defended challenge cup.
And round that early-laureled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
And find unwithered on its curls
The garland briefer than a girl's*

I'll Lend You a Child

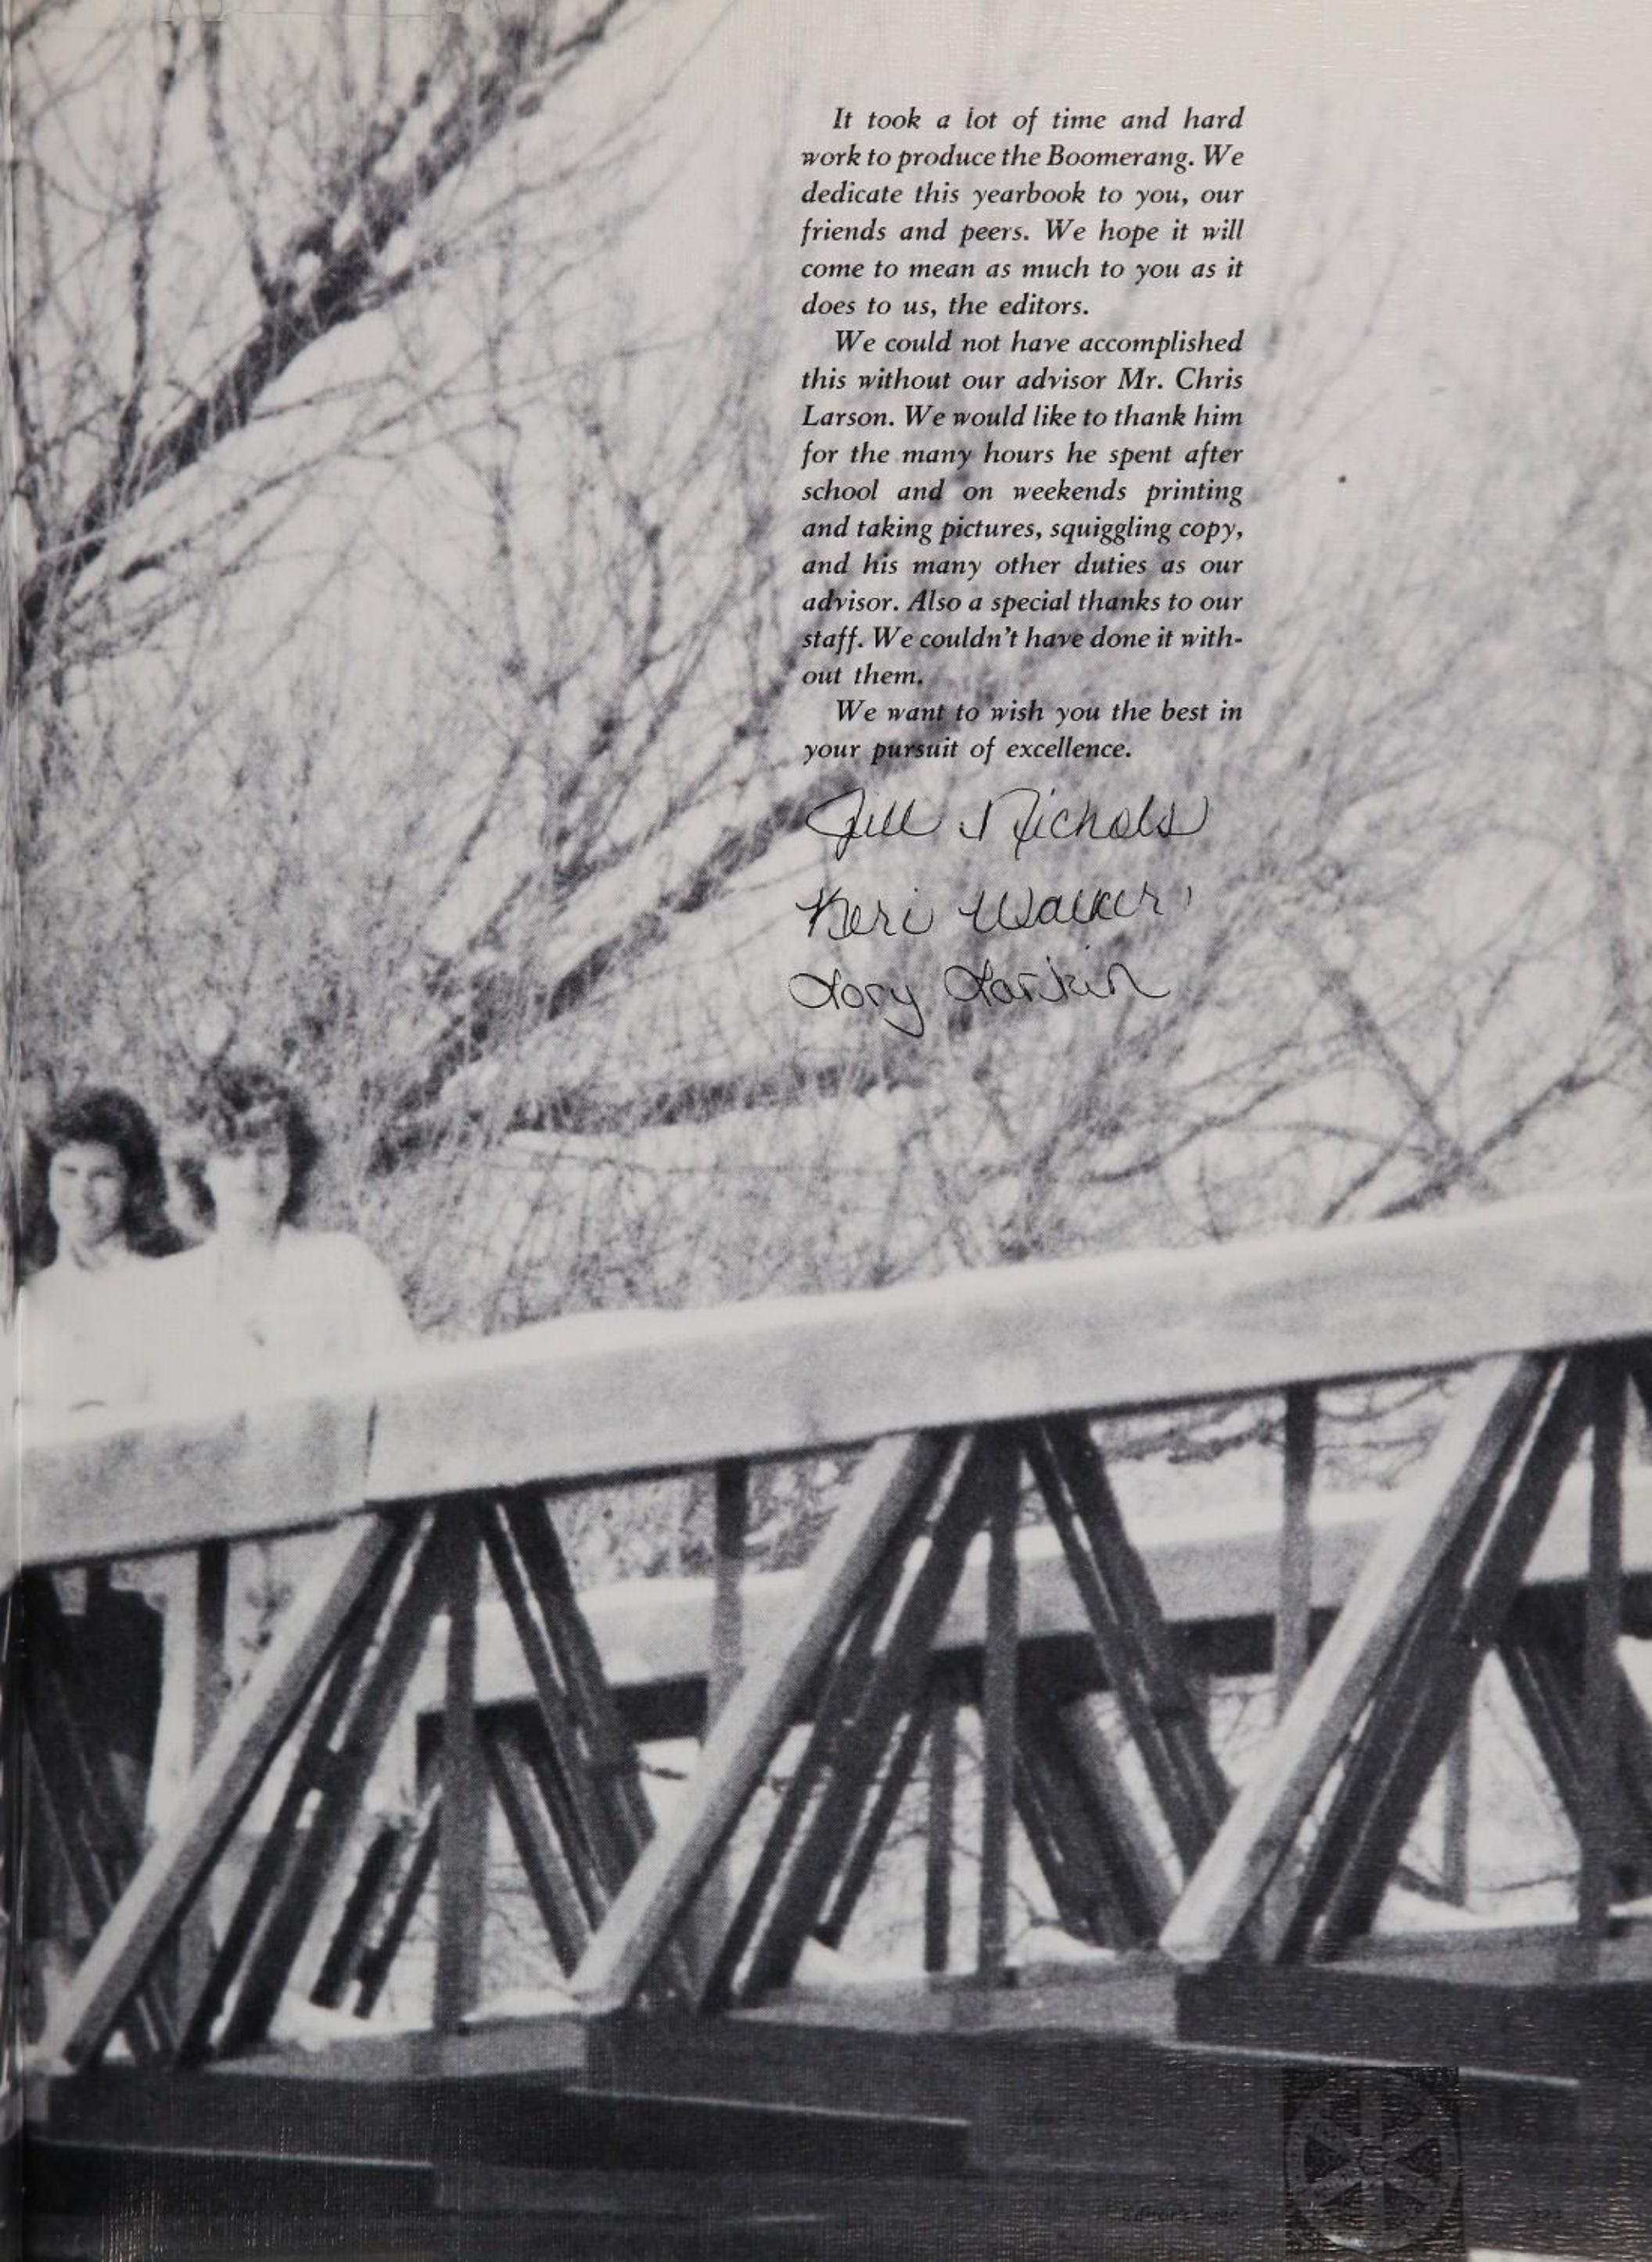

*I'll lend you for a little while
a child of mine he said,
for you to love while she lives
and mourn for when she's dead.
It may be six or seven days
or years of two or three,
but will you till I call for her
take care of her for me.
She'll bring her charms to gladden you
and should her stay be brief, you'll have her lovely memories
as solace for your grief.
I cannot promise she will stay
since all from earth return,
but there are lessons taught down there
I want this child to learn.
So will you give her all your love
nor think the labor vain,
nor hate me when I come to call
to take her back again.
I fancied that I heard you say,
Dear Lord they will be done,
for all the joy they child will bring,
the risk of grief we'll run.
And if the angels call for her
much sooner than we've planned, we'll brave the bitter grief that comes
and try to understand.*

Hello
Mr. Shid (pronounced Shee-oh)
Hey stud! Keep our foot ball team going next year.
and the studliness of our school.
you're an awesome dude have a great
one. Ysa John Pelt
C.C. "The Master"

It took a lot of time and hard work to produce the Boomerang. We dedicate this yearbook to you, our friends and peers. We hope it will come to mean as much to you as it does to us, the editors.

We could not have accomplished this without our advisor Mr. Chris Larson. We would like to thank him for the many hours he spent after school and on weekends printing and taking pictures, squiggling copy, and his many other duties as our advisor. Also a special thanks to our staff. We couldn't have done it without them.

We want to wish you the best in your pursuit of excellence.

Howay Shuo!
 You're the ultimate
 in a baseball player!!
 Keep it up. You're also a great chemist!!

Sean,
You are the
all-around athlete of this school next year.
Good job! Have a
fun summer.
Baseball will be hot!
Robert
Capeener

Sean,
Hi you
gorgeous man! Thanks for being my friend!
Love you,
Mullin

Sean,
you know how I like signing yearbooks. But so if it's boring
I'm sorry. It's been a great year hasn't it? One more year of this place and we're out. It is scary to think that though because after that we got to face the REAL WORLD. Well one last thing before I go. The Celtics suck, I go in baseball this summer.
Your friend
Scott.

Shirley,
 I can't believe what a stud you are. Remember when you get hit in the balls make sure you are nice to the women. Remember 40% of all pregnancies happen during the summer. Thanks for being my friend and driving me everywhere. If you get sick of me hanging around please tell me. Later Dwight

Pursuit
Of . . .

*To reach for the stars
To climb toward the
top,
To strive for the best,
And never to stop-
To struggle and stretch
To think and to feel,
To question and grow,
To learn what is real.*

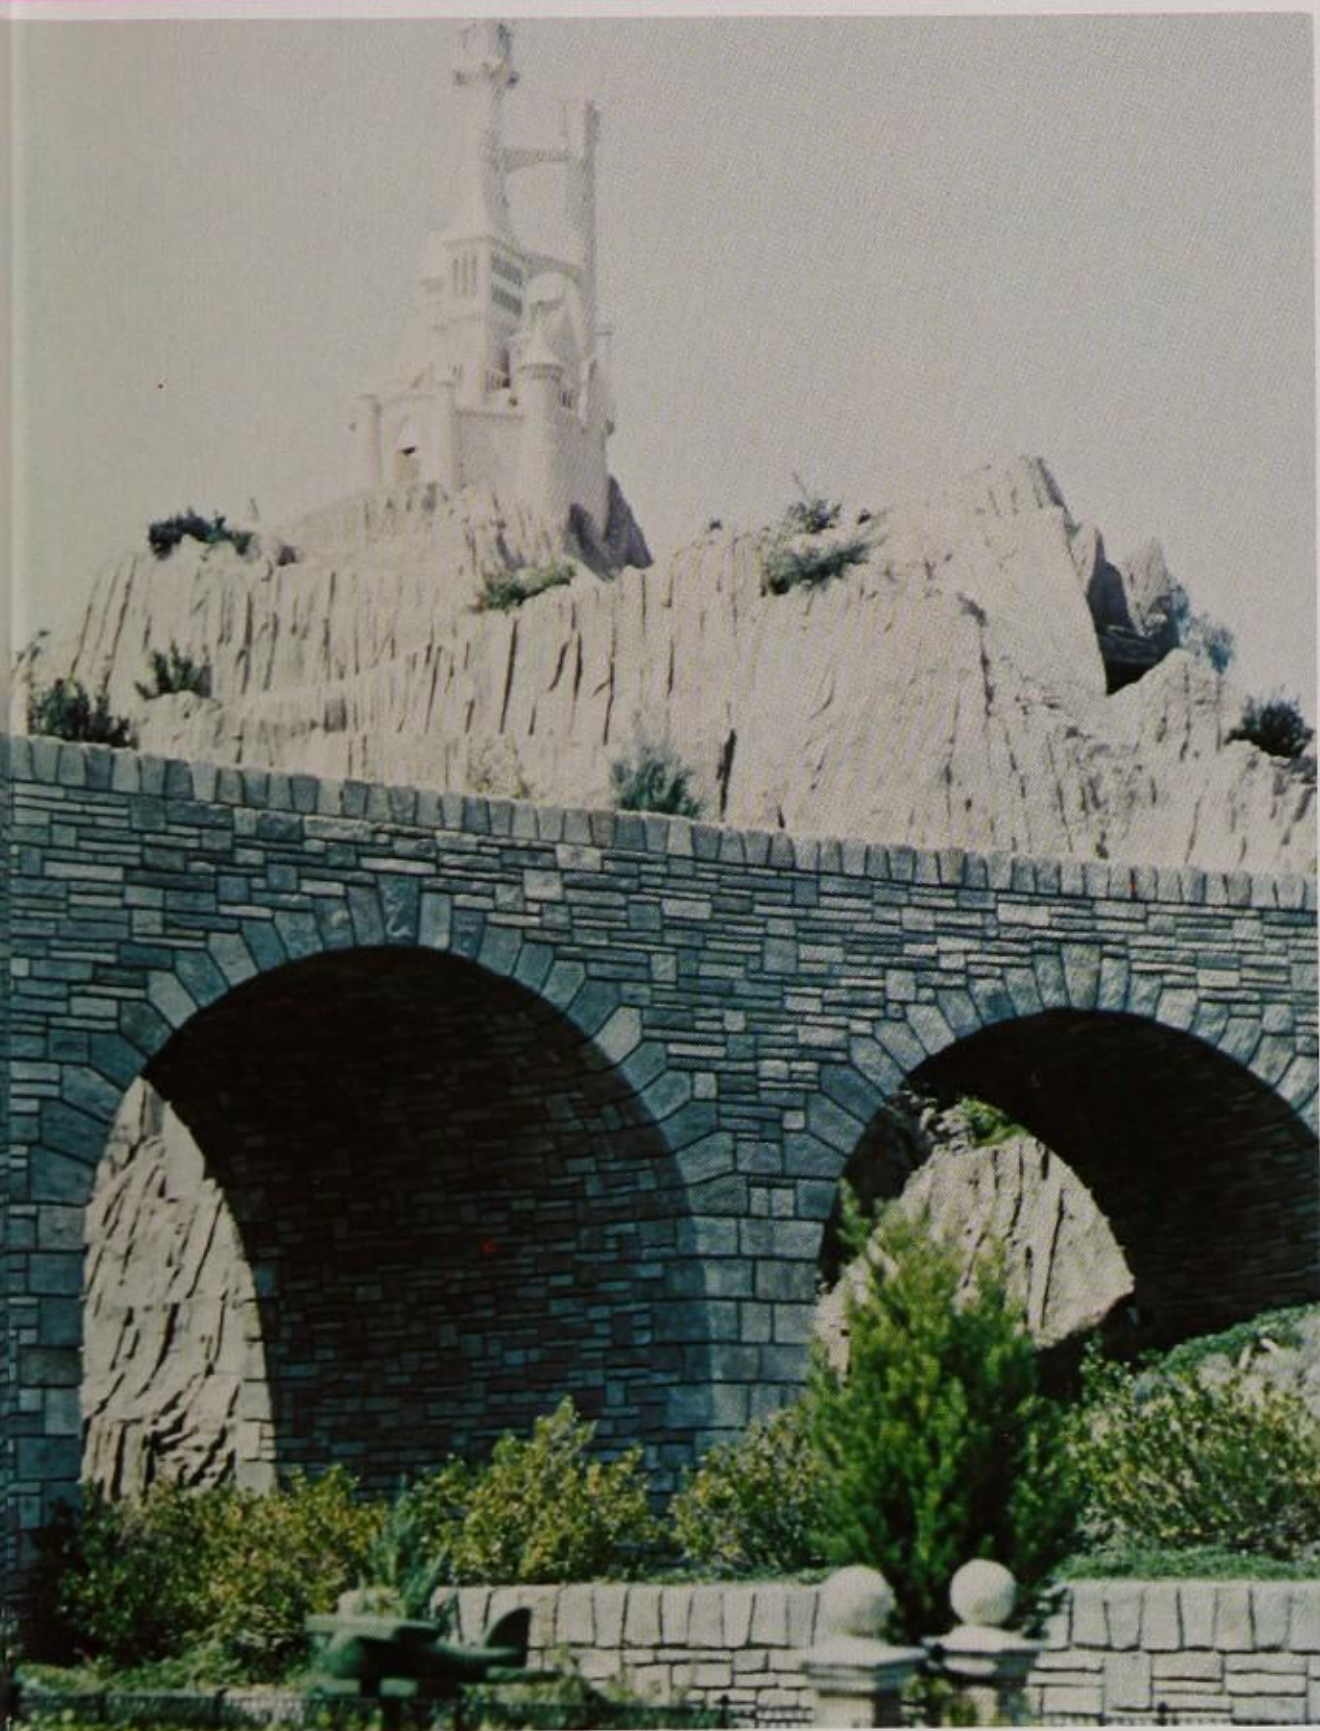

Some are best

EXCELLENCE! That elusive something that most students pursued for 12 years. Years filled with fun and the effort of wanting to be the very best. Some became the best, but all became better for their efforts.

Some pursued academics, some athletics, and some pursued the other facets that make up life at BE.

But no matter what the specialty, anyone who made the effort agreed that their efforts were anything but Trivial Pursuits.

Reaching Out

*Reaching for stars,
Stretching the mind
Looking for something
We may never find.
But after the struggle
Of unfulfilled quest
Enhances and strengthens
And brings out our best.*

1. Laughing with embarrassment Julie Smith buries her face in Jamie Vogt's neck while he gives the camera a funny look.
2. The Junior class officers look like a flash out of history as they keep cool while riding in the Peach Days parade.
3. Trying to fit "Just one more" in, Keri Walker is squeezed, pushed, and pulled into the Volkswagon so the Seniors can Prove that they are, as always, the best.
4. Getting hyped up for the big game the football team gathers in the middle of the gym to help the cheerleaders lead the school in the singing of the Fight song.

*As days become years and life passes by
We each pursue goals that we have set,
Reaching for rainbows we may never
catch.*

*They seem out of reach but still we all try,
The pain and tears-the price to be met.*

Everything is just PEACHY

The annual Peach Queen pageant began the year's traditional Peach Days celebration. Lori Anderson, a 1985 graduate of Box Elder, was crowned 1985 Peach Queen. Her attendants were Kim Thorne, Ruth Peterson, Shelly Long and Lory Larkin.

The variety of window displays, booths, and the carnival attracted crowds of those wishing to enjoy themselves. Remarkd one carnival goer, "You see people that you haven't seen all summer. Everyone is there."

The majority of Brigham lined Main Street to watch the Saturday morning parade. Many high school students were involved in the parade, whether through the marching band, Colorguard, Rockettes, club floats, or entries from their work. The festivities were enjoyed by all.

1. While riding in the Peach Days' parade for GAA, Natalie Bickmore, Kristen Jensen, and Tami Saunders take in some rays. The smiles show their club spirit.
2. "Hey, Pep Club, how do you feel?" We can tell they're feeling great as they show their school spirit and cheer through the Peach Days Parade.
3. Marching band's pipers pucker while performing in Peach Days' parade.
4. U.S.S. Sophomores sail through Peach Days' parade and soak in the sun shine.
5. Doing the wave, one of the year's most popular cheers, the cheerleaders make their way through the Peach Days' Parade.
6. B.E. students participate in activities such as Legacy, a singing group.
7. During Peach Days, Palace Playhouse presented "Cheaper by the Dozen"

PEOPLE MAKE IT ALL WORTHWHILE

Coming back to school also meant seeing all of your old friends again. The most discussed subjects included, "Where are you going for lunch?" or "Who are you going out with on the weekend?"

Being with your friends helped you realize how much you needed other people, and you soon realized that you were able to turn to your teachers and counselors advice. You soon felt that your clubs were great mainly because of the people in them. By the time school was over, you found out that the people made the year worthwhile.

6. Showing a painful look, the pantomime wishes he had been more careful with his tight rope.
5. After many long hard dances Robert Capener and Michelle Evans sit down for a serious discussion.
3. While waiting for the next play to be called sophomore gridders take time to pose for Boomerang Photographer.

1. Our excited, new studentbody president, Peri Cope, waves gallantly, but wonders how much longer the muscles in his arms and legs can withstand the tension, as the crowd cheers during the annual Peach Days' Parade.
3. This year's studentbody officers situated themselves outside, on the rocks, for another awaited picture taking.
6. Mr. Leggett, with the help of Peri Cope, is trying to decide what music to play next at another fun Box Elder High stomp, this one after the Powder Puff football game between the Senior and Junior girls.

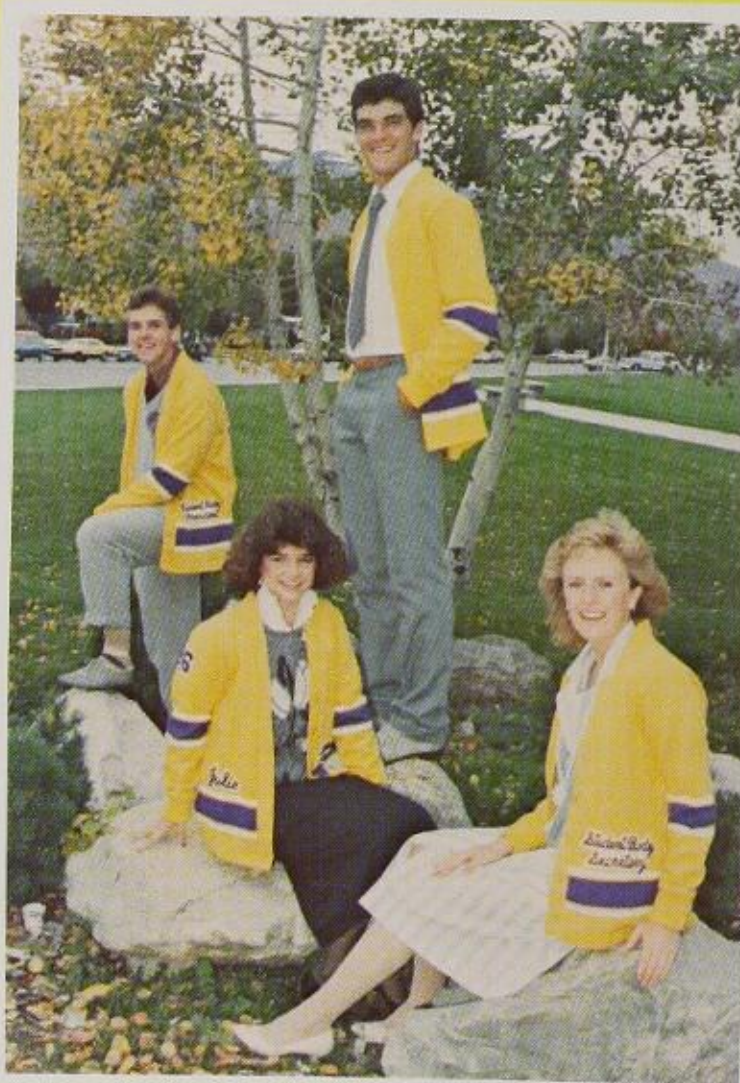

SENIORS

Why be a studentbody officer? To be a studentbody officer takes ambition, goals, and the ability to take charge. The officers this year did a great job at achieving the most school spirit shown at Box Elder in years.

When asked why he wanted to be studentbody president, Peri answered, "It was just something I've always wanted to do, and I thought it would be a challenge. And the student body is glad that Peri took the challenge because he really did a lot for our school.

But Peri couldn't have done it without the help of his officers. Officers were Peri Cope, president; Jeff Shaw, vice-president; Julie Cusick, second vice-president; and Taunya Day, secretary.

STUDENT LIFE

Fads and Fashions

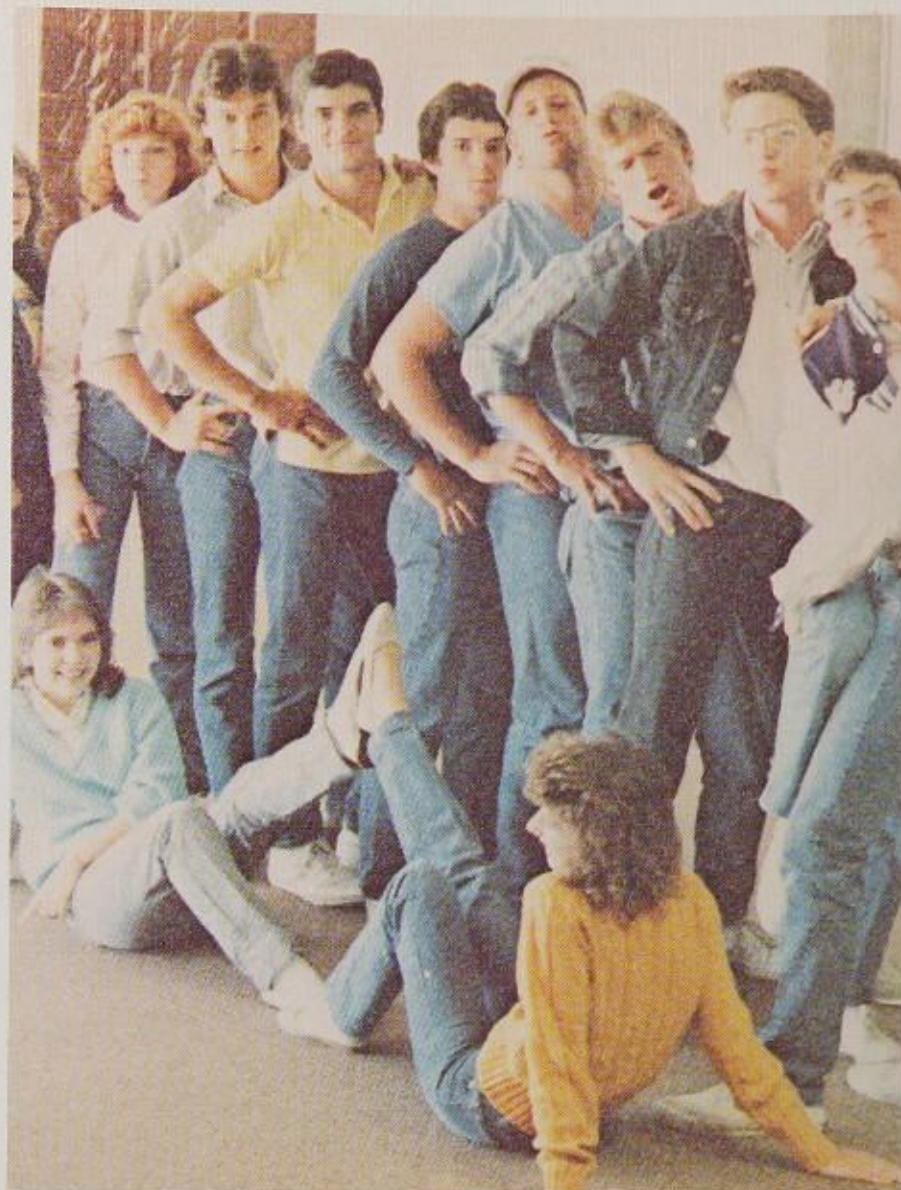

Are they everything?

New wave, old wave, and everything in between . . . The looks at B.E. this year were "interesting" and fun. Bright colors, plaids, stripes, and prints reflected the looks of the 1950's.

An oversized sweater or blouse teamed with stirrup pants and tennis shoes minus the laces seemed to be the appropriate dress for girls. For the guys, a T-shirt and those ever-popular 501's with unlaced hightops were the only things to wear.

B.E. fashion appeared in every form including wild hair-styles. The most popular cut for girls was a short bob which gave the "carefree" appearance. Giant hair clips in bright colors made the look easy to change. The style for guys was set by the football team sporting the Astle look.

At B.E., fads and fashions aren't everything, but almost!

Key & score in line,
I can't wait for Legion to get started. You sure played awesome this year. If everyone could play like you we would

Planning

The planning for the 1985 Junior Prom began almost five months before March, when Kari Yagi was named chairman with Matt Harris and Taunya Day as assistants.

Choosing the colors proved to be a difficult decision, and transforming the gym in three days was an enormous task. It was all completed with the cooperation of the juniors. Kari commented, "The best thing was leaving feeling you were done and returning with your date and having what you did look great!"

The Prom assembly was written by Chrissy Rush and was excellent. Junior members of the Mockettes, Colorguard, Dance Club, and Rockettes were all involved around the idea of a boy choosing between the devil or an angel to sell his soul so they will change his looks to get a Prom date.

1. Performing a Colorguard routine, Kathy Smoot shows what a little devil she really is.
2. With help from Julie Cusick and Heather Findlay, a bit of "Heaven" will live on.
3. Portraying their true personalities are Alan Kallmeyer, Shannan Sutch, and Peri Cope.
4. Prom chairwoman Kari Jo Yagi and her co-workers listen intently to the advice of LaNae Shaw.
5. Red pajamed Mockettes perform their routine with great skill, dexterity, and a touch of class.
6. Taking part in the 84-85 Prom assembly, Shannan Sutch and Chrissy Rush are nerds.
7. Senior Mockettes show us their best side.

Prom

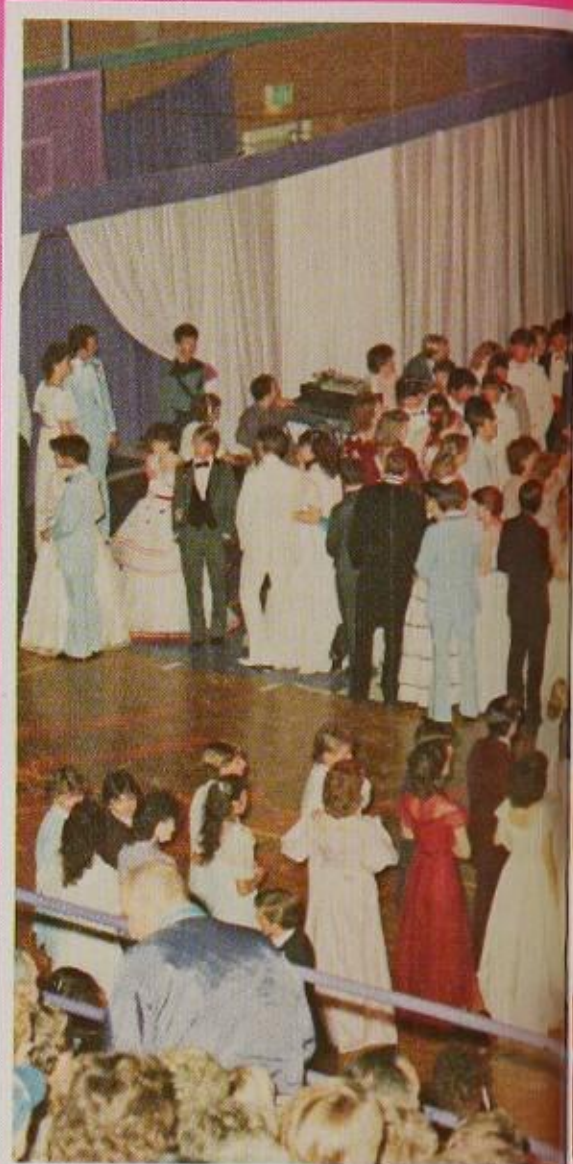

Yards and yards of purple and lavender draped the gym and created an elegant atmosphere on March 29th. Over 250 couples entered the gym that night—guys in tuxes and cummerbunds, girls in lace or satin formals and high-heeled pumps.

Junior couples nervously waited to be announced for the Promenade. The balconies were filled with proud parents as the Class of '86 entered by twos through a lattice arch and formed their year of graduation on the floor. Scott Parson, junior, said, "It was marvelous!"

Julie Cusick and Heather Findley sang the 1985 Prom theme, "Heaven" with Scott Parson, Matt Opprecht, Wally Barnum, and Curtis Christensen as a backup band.

Erik Johnson, junior, remarked, "It cost a lot but was really worth it!" "Heaven was definitely the word that described the evening of the 1985 Junior Prom. A little piece of "Heaven" will stay in the hearts of the Class of '86 for years to come.

7. Enjoying themselves at the Prom, couples talk with each other.

Clubbers

Traditionally the Hello Assembly is performed in the auditorium but because of the unusual nature of this assembly it was held in the gymnasium. Class officers performed the Box Elder version of the "Gong Show."

In this assembly the class officers performed a variety of different skits, with the courageous Sophomores dressed like the Village People singing "YMCA." But the seniors followed closely behind in 2nd place with their Larry and Darryl imitation. And even further behind the seniors are the Juniors, Freshman, and the clucking chickens all being "gonged" of course.

1. Trying their hardest not to get gonged, Michelle, Lory, Jill, Joni act like they're from a chicken factory.
3. Junior officers- Stephanie, Joette, Katheryn, Joel, Taunya are acting like they are Turkey Buzzards.
4. Trying to be impressive, Sophomore officers Steve, Becky, Grant, Mark, Sherlynn act like the Village People.

Banzai

This year's Homecoming Assembly was anything but boring. With Matt Opprecht as "Bonzi Bee" and Alan Kallmeyer, Marshal Hannam, and Eric Bertelsen, as "Bonzis back up" in defending the Box Elder High School varsity football team against the "mafia" that consisted of teachers Joesph Bertelsen, James Fuller and Mike Ripplinger.

This year's Homecoming theme "Cherish," was performed by Jay Nauman, Jill Knavel, Martha Ogles, and Pam Huckaby. To finish off the assembly Celeste Penrod gave a spectacular solo while Scott Parson also did an excellent job playing the piano while Celeste sang.

5. Introducing the Homecoming pep Assembly, Principle Stewart gets attention from the students for the Presentation.
6. Participating in the Homecoming Assembly, Bonneville officers came to wish the Bees good luck.

1. Trying to win one for the seniors is Eric Ramos.
2. Sophomore students give the VW stuff their best shot.
3. During the 5-legged race Laura Williams, Heather Petersen, and Malissa Adams show their excellent running form.

Homecoming

Homecoming week was full of fun and original activities. Many were held during lunch periods with a great number of students participating.

All of the activities throughout the week led up to the Homecoming game, and of course, the halftime. Homecoming halftime 1985 began with the BE band in their majestic purple and white, providing music for the performance of the Rockettes, followed by the Colorguard. Mr. Steve Leggett was named dedicatee, with Matt Huff and Joni Swenson reigning as Homecoming King and Queen. Halftime concluded with the traditional lighting of the "B" by the sophomore class.

5. Seniors begin to warm up and to prepare for the ugly senior-junior shootout.
6. Humming throughout the game, Pep Band braves the rain.
7. The "colorguard" provided the halftime entertainment for the game.
8. The senior girls and their coaches pose for a picture.

Seniors

The rain didn't discourage the Powder Puff players. Both teams were ready for the game after many long and hard practices. Each team determined to win. In the end the juniors took it all the way and won, surprising the seniors so much that they knew that it had to have been unfair. But all agreed that it was a lot of fun. It wasn't just the players that brought excitement to the game. The cheerleaders added a lot of spirit, even to the defeated Senior team. Led by the cheerleaders, the students had as much fun watching as the players had playing. Hopefully, all will want to participate again next year.

Tradition

Box Elder traditions continued with the 1985 Homecoming Dance. September 20, the senior officers decorated and the result was perfect-purple, yellow, and white balloons and streamers hung everywhere.

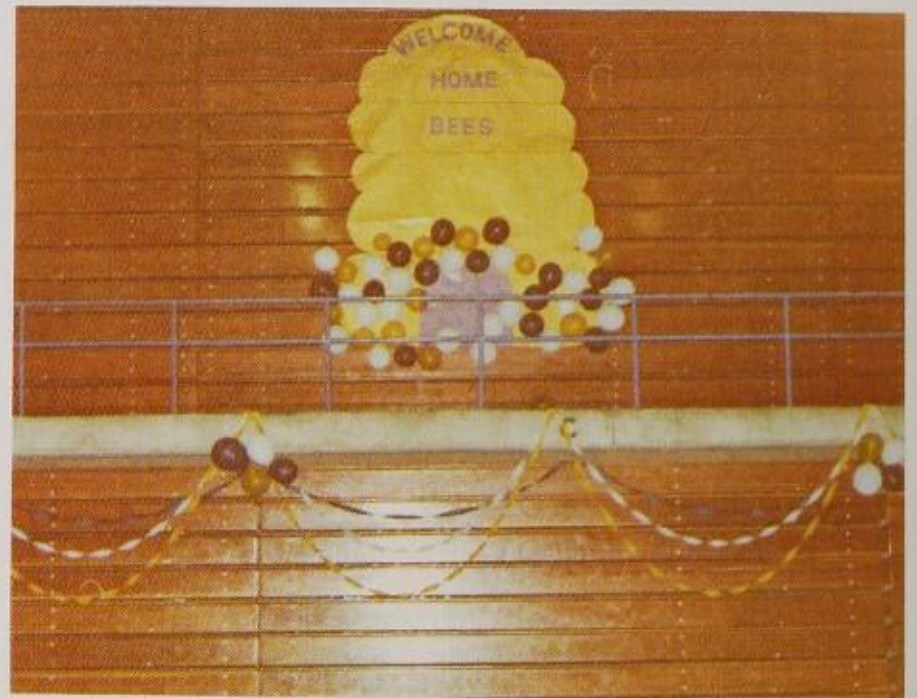

After the game the gym filled with couples, the largest crowd in years. Jay Naumann, Martha Ogles, Pam Huckaby, and Jill Knavel, with a backup of Chris Earl, Julie Cusick, Wally Barnum, Matt Opprecht, and Brian Baird, performed the theme-"Cherish". Jeff Hadfield, senior, summed up the feeling, "It was a lot of fun but didn't last long enough!"

Bees

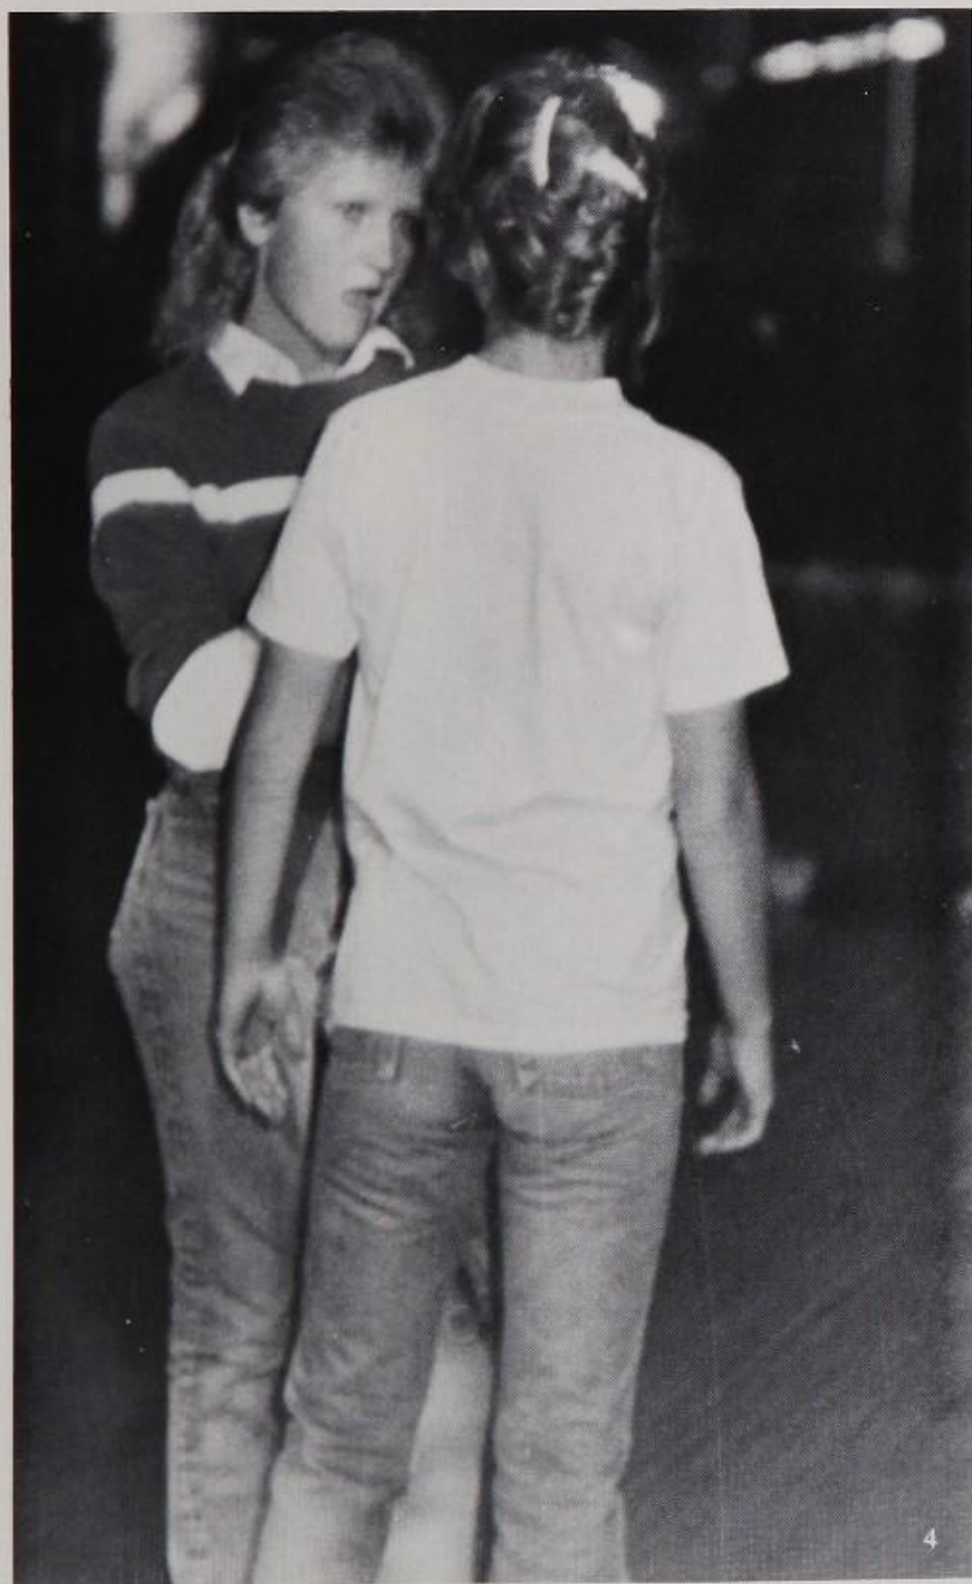

Stomps were once again a big hit during the "85-86" school year. Many students from every grade attended the functions. "It's a great chance for people who can not date to go to a school dance," commented one sophomore.

There was only one negative comment from the majority of the people, which was the two dollar admission charge at all of the stomps.

Over all, the stomps for all who attended were fun for everyone in their own way.

Gal's

Eating dinner in the back of a truck? Sound a bit strange? That's one of the traditionals of this annual girl's choice dance.

Planning for the dance began as early as a month before, with deciding who and how to ask. After the response from the boy was known, the decision of what to wear, what to eat, and where to eat it had to be made.

Finally the day arrived. All over Brigham couples could be seen eating in parking lots, on top of buildings, and even a few in an old abandoned tree house.

Some dates ended at 11:30, but most found something else to do. Banana splits were even fill up before the dance.

Harvest

Once again Box Elder celebrates the harvest. The dance was held on the 15th of November. FFA and FHA spent alot of time on this dance.

The theme this year was sung by Celeste Penrod and Scott Parsons. It was intitled "All the Time."

Selected as Harvest Ball Royalty for 1985 were: Jay Bywater-King Julie Poulsen-Queen, the attendents were: Holli Osmond, Justin Lilywhite, Kelly Nichols, Roselee Iverson.

It was another successful dance at Box Elder HighSchool.

Holly

One of the most memorable events of the past year was Christmas Dance. It is one of the most important assignments for the Sophomore class.

Preparation starts very early in the school year. The Sophomore class must worry about the decorations and the theme song.

Many believed that the reason for the dance's great success was the theme song, Love Theme from St. Elmo's Fire. It was a very well done instrumental by Nicki Brant, keyboard; Brian Hashimoto, piano; Mike Gardner, keyboard; Scott Morrison, drums; and Kurt Jensen, saxophone.

The royalty for Christmas Dance were: second attendants, Vicki Rush and Chris Hardy; first attendants, Heather Petersen and Eric Hone; King, Mark Harris and Queen Dawn Jensen.

Grinch and Max

The annual Christmas assembly had a different sort of ring. It was held Friday, December 20, and was written around the theme of "How The Grinch Stole the Christmas Assembly". Throughout the assembly, Lance Loveland (who was the Grinch) along with Max (played by Eric Hone) tried many ingenious methods to stop the Christmas assembly down in Beeville from happening.

Try as they might, they were unsuccessful in stopping the cheerleaders, the Rockettes, or the theme from being performed.

Stocking boy and girl, who you would most like to find in your stocking, were Chad Hardy and Ann Johnson.

1. Done hanging up their stockings, sophomore Rockette members hold that ending pose.
2. The hardhearted Grinch and his dog Max leave Mount Crumpet to steal the assembly.
3. Stephanie Wendel, Raquel Waters, and Raelyn Reese, B.E. dancers, flash their stuff.
4. Bryan Hashimoto and Mike Gardner team up in using double synthesizers for the theme.

Decades

The year's preference assembly doubled as the annual nostalgia assembly. David Reeder and Alan Braithwaite narrated the news of the last five decades.

The cheerleaders performed a dance from the fifties, all in poodle skirts. The Colorguard did the Charleston and Dance Troupe showed the modern side. The Madrigals sang a variety of songs.

Members of the senior class participated in many of the events. Chrissy Rush, Taunya Day, Angie West, and Julie Cusick sang "Leader of the Pack." Peri Cope and Jeff Shaw did some harmonizing with the Beach Boys' "Be True to Your School."

spotlighted

1. A Madrigal quartet and their backups "be bop" to a popular song from the 40's.
2. Alan Braithwaite and Dave Reeder share a running commentary to highlight the news of the past seven decades.
3. The Beach Boys, Peri Cope and Jeff Shaw in their California style, convince everyone to "be true to your school."
4. Her face contorted in pain to hold back the tears Chrissy Rush mourns the death of "the leader of the pack."

Ladies'

"It was a girl's haven!" commented one of the few men who were lucky enough to be asked to the Preference Dance. It was completely taken charge of by the Freshman officers. Held on the 24th of January, it was only the second girls choice dance held this year. Articulately decorated with pink, purple and white balloons, it was the envy of all the boys at home. This turn in action, though, was a quite welcome change. The boys enjoyed having someone open their doors, drive, and yes, foot the bills. Girls enjoyed it too. Heidi Goss said, "We got a chance to ask who we wanted!"

How sweat

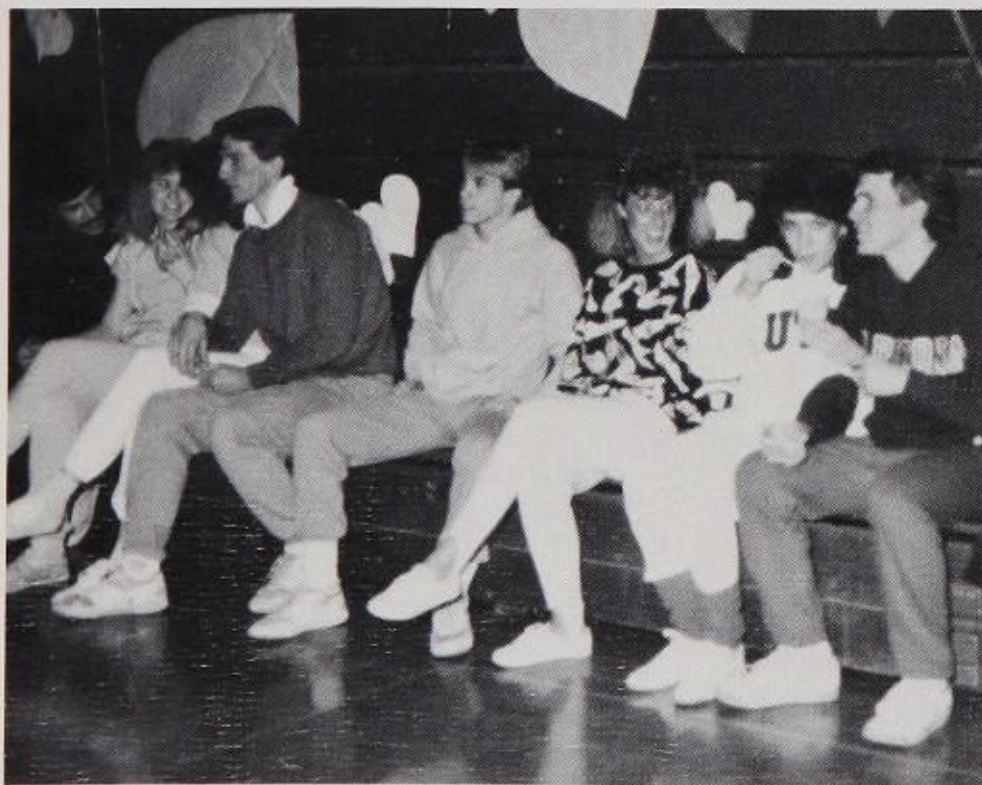

"Sweathearts?" Again this year the traditional 'Sweethearts dance' was again changed to 'Sweathearts.'

Guys and their 'Valentine's to be' turned up in sweats of all colors to this dance, held on February 8. The dance was held in the big gym, which was decorated in traditional red and white.

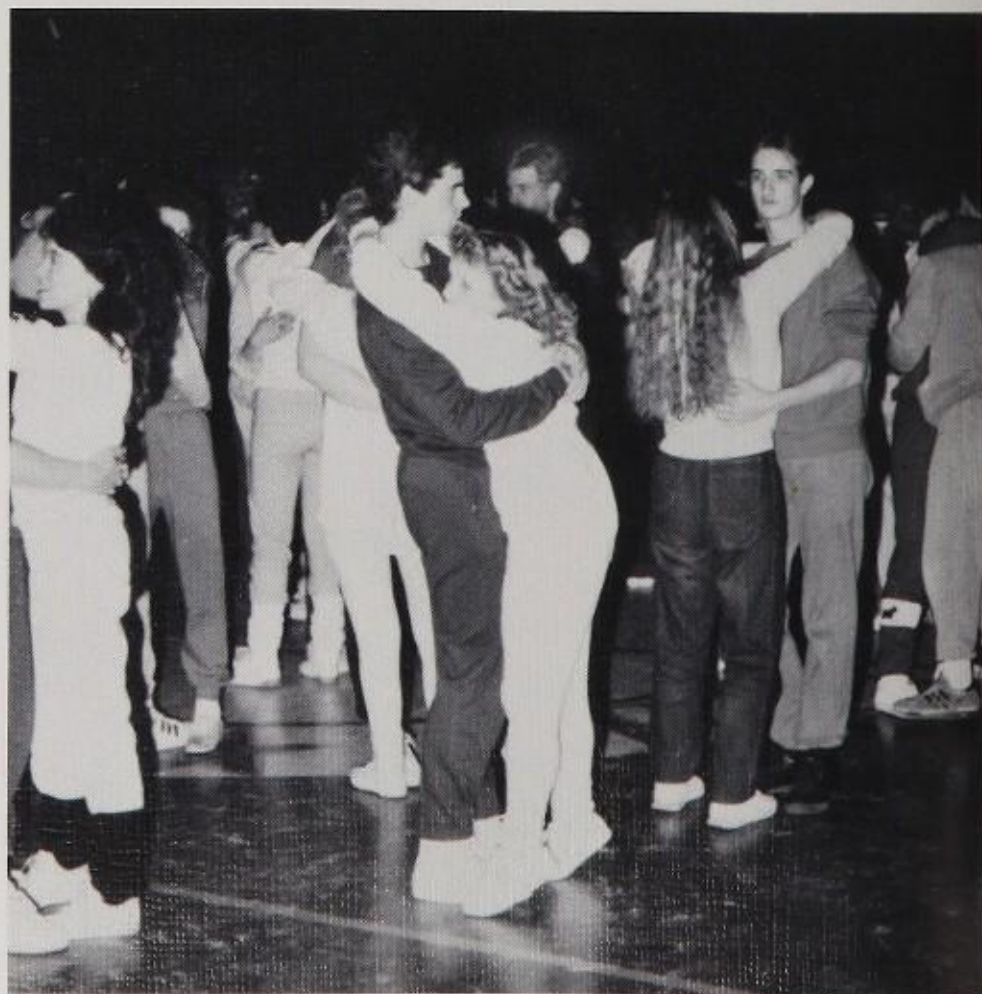

Pictures were taken. Guys and their valentines posed with weights and towels to have their pictures taken.

Everyone was relieved when the dance ended. They all had a good time-nothing to 'sweat' about.

Box Elder

A funny name for a dance? This was one of the most popular social events held at Box Elder. Hundreds of people could be seen "spazzin' out" in the big gym on Friday nights.

Popular songs could be heard, songs of all tastes. Even some oldies could be heard, such as: The twist, Hokey Pokey, and The Bunny Hop to name a few.

Not only did stomps give the students a chance to let off some steam, but they also could meet some new people.

"I enjoyed going to the stomps after the games. It was a way to get away from home and spend some time with my friends," commented an innocent bystander.

Kids kause kraze

Cabbage Patch kids are still a craze all over the world. When they were very hard to come by, people would stand in lines for hours just to be able to get a Cabbage Patch doll. Everybody thought they would be forgotten about, but it's even worse now. If you were to go in a store today you could find; foreigners, twins, premees, ones with glasses, and even some with orthodontic work on their teeth.

Titanic

On Sunday, April 14, 1912; the worlds largest and most luxurious ocean liner was steaming through the Atlantic when she struck an iceberg and sank 2 1/2 hours later.

1,522 lives were lost. Experts had considered the Titanic to be unsinkable, but they were proven otherwise. 73 years later, Sunday, September 1985, she was found 2 miles deep in the Atlantic by U.S. Navy research team, and French Scientists. Thousands of images of the "floating palace" were recorded.

The sea had preserved her well, windless heads, anchor chains etc., all appear ready for action beneath thin film of Marine organisms. The Titanic is more Monument than a tomb. "It is a quiet and peaceful place for the remains of this greatest of tragedies to rest. Forever may it remain that way."

AIDS disease prompts world-wide research

The technical name for AIDS is Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome.

AIDS is transmitted sexually between two people of the same sex but can be given to an unsuspecting partner by a member of the opposite sex.

There is still a lot of research taking place by scientists all over the world. Currently they think the AIDS can be transmitted through human saliva or tears. But the previous statement has yet to be proven.

Even though this disease is transmitted sexually it has not changed the sexual habits of many people. AIDS can be transmitted by blood transfusions also.

Missing children total climbs; older kids and little ones taken, too.

The total number of missing children has increased steadily in recent years. Small babies as well as older teenagers were abducted.

Steps were taken to find missing children and also to prevent the abduction of more. Pamphlets came in the mail. Labels with pictures and descriptions of missing children were put on milk cartons and other products. Pictures and descriptions were shown on television advertisements. Hit movies were made based on missing children. There were special drives to make child identification kits. Children were taught in school how to escape abduction.

Parents in the community as well as the entire country were concerned about their children's safety, and small children were worried too.

Criminals responsible for the abduc-tions of several children were caught and tried, but still more have not yet been found.

Comet appears

Approximately every 76 years, the Halley's Comet can be seen from Earth, as it makes its orbit around the sun. It appeared on schedule for the 1985 year, having been last seen in 1910. The comet travels on an elongated path around the sun, in the opposite direction of the planets. Its path extends from near the sun to the path of Neptune, the eighth planet. The comet travels toward the sun at 70,000 m.p.h. Having been seen by just binoculars people world-wide tried to get a glimpse of what probably is their only chance to see the spectacular star show. As in all other astronomical events, it was best seen when the skies were clear from smog, pollution, and overcast skies.

'Refrigerator' scores

Last October, William 'The Refrigerator' Perry became the heaviest man in NFL history to score a touchdown. Affectionately known as 'Biscuit' to his teammates, this 308-pound defensive tackle took the NFL by surprise when he plunged over the goal line with the ball to score his first touchdown. Chicago Bears' head coach, Mike Ditka's decision to use Perry for offense has been called "the best use of fat since the invention of bacon."

'The Boss' finally makes big time

Upon the completion of his 'greatest year ever' Bruce Springsteen had finally become the most popular vocalist in the world. The 35 year old male, born in Freehold, New Jersey, had finally become 'The Boss' of rock and roll!

Not only did Bruce find happiness in his album "Born in the U.S.A." and touring through 61 different cities but also found happiness in a new marriage. At the end of May, he married model Julianne Phillips.

Though it was a great year, Bruce claims there will be better and now that his life is at a bit slower pace, he feels it's time to divorce slightly and start a family. No matter what decisions he makes, everyone in the U.S.A. wishes he and Mrs. Boss a happy and beautiful marriage.

Trotters ink distaff dribbler

The Harlem Globetrotters - those crazy basketball players, that can run circles around any professional hoop team - ham it up to the packed crowds, and still play by all the rules. They always seemed to be the first to bring innovation. 1985 brought a new first to their sixty year career, a girl! A lady 'trotter'!

A competitive, 18-woman tryout was held in August 1985 to find a replacement for Geese Ausbie who had recently retired. Since then Lynette Wooldard, 25, has become the only woman to don the blue and white striped shorts of the team. She stated, "It's the opportunity of the century!"

Her height, six feet, helps, but basketball talent definitely runs in the family; Lynette and Geese are cousins!

Head rat raises bucks for starving Africans

The theme for Live Aid being "Re-united, and it feels so good" was one reason for getting this group of Super-Stars together. One fan said she would be able to die happy having seen three quarters of Led Zeppelin perform together for a one-time-one reformation with groups such as Black Sabbath and The Who.

As most of the world knows, the organizer of this great success was Bob Geldorf of the British band, Boomtown

Rats.

The money which was raised was for the starving people in Africa.

Tragedy strikes

In October, 1985, an earth moving experience hit Mexico City. Thousands of people were killed when buildings and debris fell, burying many alive.

Five days after the earthquake, a detector picked up cries coming from beneath the sixth floor of a hospital. Crews worked all through the night and by sunrise Jesus Rodriguez, severely bruised and suffering from dehydration, and a dislocated hip, was found.

The earthquake that struck Mexico City was a major disaster. People from all over the world felt sorrow for the people who were killed that day.

Lyceum (Li-ce-um) n, an assembly that teaches without being too boring.

This year there were many, exciting, lyceums. People from far away lands and thrilling places came to Box Elder and taught the studentbody many things. Students at BEHS learned about the life and eating habits of birds; skiing and other ways to enjoy life (without school); and expressing without words.

Guys, dolls invade B.E.

Since early January, the 30 member cast has been hard at work to perfect the Musical.

Guys and Dolls was under the direction of Mr. Batzel with Mr. Allred, a student teacher from USU, over the music. Nikki Brant was acting as the student assistant.

It featured many talented actors from Box Elder High School.

Jay Naumann portrayed Sky Masterson, the "smooth gambler," with Peri Cope as Nathan Detroit, the "free-spirited, risk taking bachelor." Adelaide, the "hot box dancer," was played by Shanna Hilton, and Sarah, the "sweet and innocent" army mission officer, was portrayed by Stephanie Thorne.

The musical provided fun for all.

World

There was definitely more to life for B.E. students than just school. Friends were mostly classmates, but after the 2:30 bell rang a whole new world opened up.

Underclassmen disappeared to catch carpools, find friends, and do homework. Seniors and juniors were out to their cars and on their way to work or to drop off books at home and go have fun. Parties, movies, B.E. sport events, and hot dates were on the night's list of things to do.

Most teenagers worked in one of the many local restaurants; cooking, cleaning, or waiting on customers. Stated Andrea Garner, "It's hard when you have to work and your friends don't but it's a job." Life wasn't all work and no play.

Living

Being a class officer isn't as easy as it looks. It takes a lot of hard work and ambition. When asked why he liked being freshman class president Mike Gardner said, "I liked being in charge. Our class brought spirit and enthusiasm to Box Elder High. And when people asked I was proud to say that I was president of the class of '89', the best class at Box Elder."

Class

The Freshmen did an excellent job on the bonfire this year. It was said to be the best bonfire in years, the officers all agreed. But after all the effort and hard work, the outcome was no surprise. The officers, with the help of the Steering Committee guarded the wood, and were all glad when it was finally burned.

The freshmen class would like to give a special thanks to class parents: Mrs. Louise Francis and Mr. Scott Nelson, for all their hard work, and support. We also want to thank Mr. Kirk Gardner for all his help.

Freshman

A freshman leaves for the bus at 7:00, the bus comes at 7:30.

When he arrives at school he runs to his locker and gets his books for first hour, and goes and sits in his class room.

When walking into a classroom you can identify a freshman by looking at the front row and seeing who raises his hand first. When lunch comes the freshman is the one running to the cafeteria with his beeline in his hand.

A freshman's day ends with all his homework done and he is in bed by ten, so he will be ready for the next day.

Parents

Selected as class Parents for the class of '89' were Mr. Scott Nelson and Mrs. Louise Francis.

Being a class parent takes a lot of hard work, dedication, and a love for people. Class parents help the student with parties, dances and getting through the year.

When asked why she wanted to be a class parent Mrs. Francis said, "I wanted to be a class parent, in fact I even volunteered." She said that she wants the class of '89' to be the best class ever at Box Elder. They are looking forward to lighting the "B" and are ready to have the most different Junior Prom Box Elder has ever seen, now thats one to remember.

Class officers

"This year's lighting of the 'B' was even more spectacular than last year's!" said one of the specators at the annual Homecoming football game.

The lighting of the 'B' was organized by the Sophomore class officers, as one of the many things they were in charge of and as just one of their class activities. They were also in charge of the Christmas and Purple and White dances. The class of

"88"'s class officers also accomplished again this year the selling of class rings, class meetings, and, the best of all, the class parties!

Successful

This years lighting of the "B" on the mountain, east of Brigham City, was again considered as one of the Sophomore Class' many Homecoming activities.

Many people helped to light the "B". All of the class officers attended and it was said, "even though it was cold, we had a riot."

After the traditional lighting of the "B", everyone that helped warmed up after by enjoying pizza at Mama Julianne's.

The class officers would like to thank everyone that helped and wish good luck to the class of 89. (even though this years lighting of the "B" was the best ever).

Choosing's

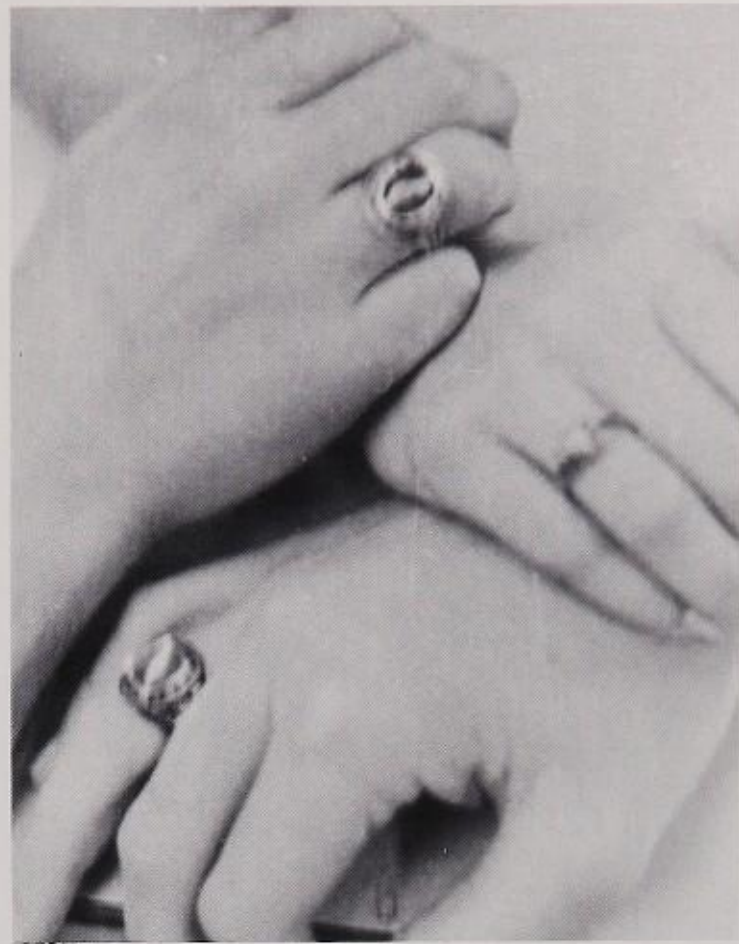

"Choosing was a real hard decision," stated Heather Petersen. Yes, Choosing a class ring was one of the events that the sophomore class got to do.

There were many different kinds of rings to pick from. Gold or silver, square or round, what color of stone and what emblem to put on the ring.

For many girls it was a chance to show everyone that you were going out with a guy.

But maybe the best reason for buying a school ring was to show your pride for Box Elder and the Sophomore class, which made buying a school ring a very important tradition.

OFFICERS

The Junior Class Officers for 85-86 were Joel Wilson, President; Barbara Handy, Rep.; Stephanie Thorsted, Rep.; Joette Williams, Rep.; Tonya Chappell, Vice P Pres.; and Kathryn Armstrong, Secretary.

Class

For most, their Junior year at BEHS is a full one. The students must start preparing for their Senior year by working on their grades to obtain scholarships, and most important of all, preparing for the Junior Prom.

The Junior Prom is something you look forward to from your Freshman year on. You anticipate who your date will be and what it will be like and the Prom colors.

Most years the Prom colors have been mauve and burgundy or lavender and pink, but this year was different. The prom colors for the class of '87 were black and white with red accents.

You might think that this would not look very good but for most Juniors and the rest of the Prom goers it was a great and creative chance of pace and the be Junior Prom ever.

During Homecoming week, Juniors enjoyed painting the town as well as themselves.

Juniors

On Monday September 16, a traditional event in Box Elder's history took place, the Juniors painted the town. Slogans ranged from "Sink the Lakers" to "Drown 'em". The ones being drowned, of course, were the Lakers.

Among the new places painted were 2nd South, McDonalds, and Fred Meyer.

Juniors came out of it with purple skin, purple tinted hair, and purple clothes.

When the dreaded Saturday morning came, many Juniors could be found using rags, vinegar, and water to clean up the many windows they had painted the previous Monday.

Student

When Kathryn Armstrong was young, friends told her that she was so photogenic that she could become a model. When she was fifteen, she decided that it was time to give it a try. She first entered a contest by Seventeen magazine for a cover model. She ranked in the top 25 from Utah, and remains one of the four representatives from Utah to this day. This achievement got her recognition from ZCMI department store. She then went to a special charm school where she learned how to do ramp modeling, photographic movement, and was taught about acting for commercials.

As a model here in Utah, you don't make lots of money, but Kathryn feels that it will be a good job for college. Modeling is not like what most people think it will be, it is a lot of hard work. In order to be a good model, you have to eat, sleep and drink modeling. "It is more than a job, it's a way of life." Kathryn also feels that it is important to always remember who you are in the modeling field, and to remember what you want, or they will shape you into a mold of just a beautiful dumb girl.

Kathryn is the Junior class secretary and contributes to the whole school. As she said, "It is important to know what you want and go for it."

Enthusiastic

"He was probably the most dedicated member on the cross country team", said Jeff Taggart about his team mate Chris Leduc. He has been a member of the team for two years now. Chris loves to run, not for the speed, but for the discipline and endurance it brings.

Chris is also a Palace Playhouse member. When asked what his favorite class was, he replied that he enjoys Spanish. While in eighth grade he visited Mexico, and he hopes to go again.

Chris has a great attitude about life and faces everyday with enthusiasm. He is an attribute to the Junior class, and the whole school in general.

OFFICERS

Senior officers for 1985-86 are Martha Christensen representative; Tori Bonham representative; Arnell Andersen representative; Cliff Petersen vice president; Rachel Bassett representative; Chrissy Rush president; and Keri Walker secretary.

Class

"Getting things organized and completed was the hardest thing about being an officer, but aside from all the trouble it teaches you a lot," commented Keri Walker, senior class secretary, when asked what the hardest part of being a senior officer was.

The job was quite a chore as senior officers saw a large calendar of events to be organized. Major events included Homecoming dance, Sadie Hawkins dance and assembly, graduation, and senior class parties. Besides this there were always little everyday class activities to be completed.

Senior

Every senior had certain needs that needed to be fulfilled in order to sustain life. Having a car was on the top of that list. But a car had to have gas to function properly. It took money to buy gas. Therefore, a senior had to have money. Where did they get money? From their parents? Wrong! From the government? Wrong, again! They spent half their lives working in fast food restaurants and grocery stores.

Changing

The Board of Education played a major role in students life during the 1985 and 1986 school year. They made one of the biggest decisions of the decade fo B.E.H.S. Their decision was to put the tri-mester schedule into effect.

The tri-mester was a five period day at 70 minutes each. One tri-mester included 60 days after which report cards were distributed. For the most part the change was taken very well by the students for the most part.

Flowing

Keeping the school running in an orderly fashion was a steady job this year at Box Elder. With the organizing of school calendars, and the constant chirp of the typewriter printing our weekly schedules.

The leader of this group of talented people was Dr. Jay Stuart. When asked what the hardest part of his job was he responded "Knowing that you are going to fail at helping a student once in a while, knowing that he or she will not be happy."

He also added that his biggest concern for the students was "Seeing the students get a good learning experience and still enjoy it."

The principles this year were:

Mr. Johnson Vice Principal

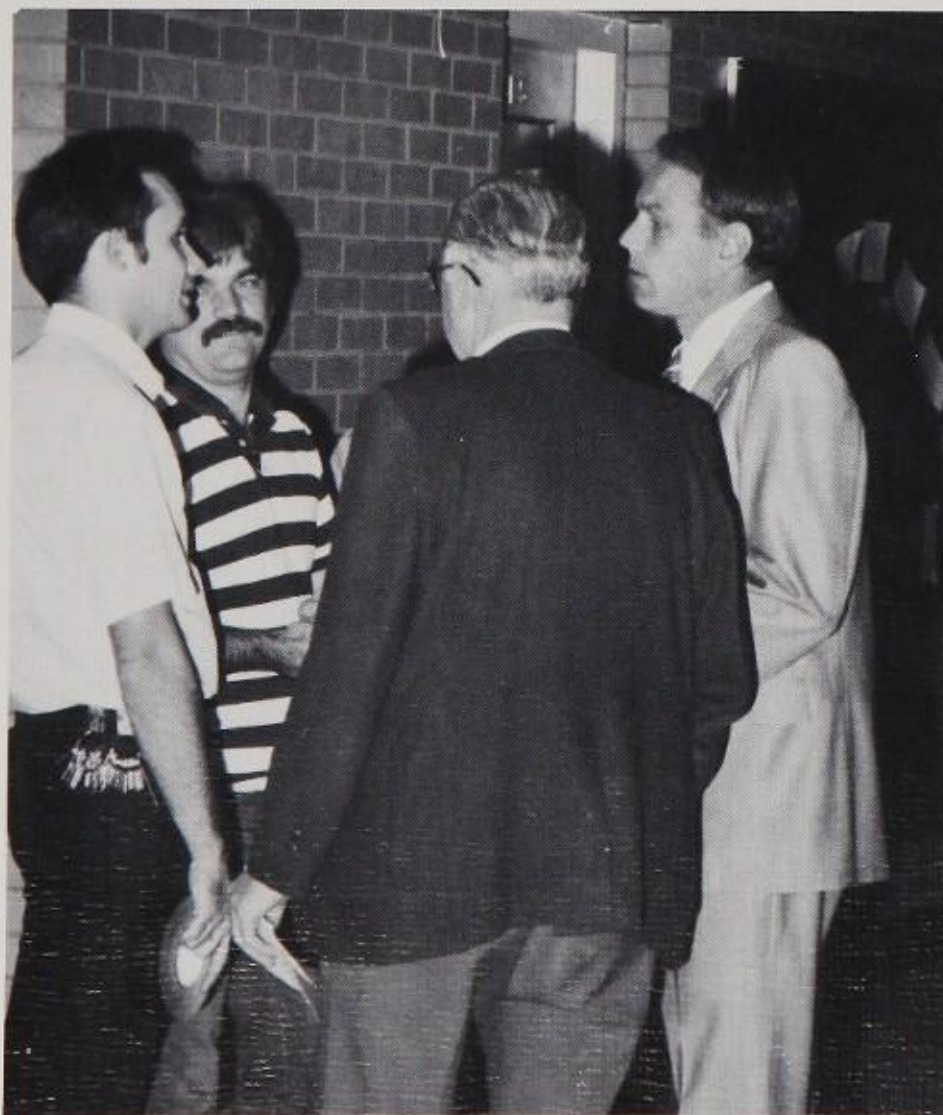

Mr. Williams Vice Principal

Mr. Stuart Principal

Smoothly

Dr. Stuart chuckles as he signs another one of those boring papers. This is one of the many things the principal of our school does every day.

Association's

The Girls' Activities Association enjoyed many fun activities this year as they were led by Julie Reeder, president; LeeAnn Geldmacher, vice president; Joy Volwiler, secretary; Molli Wilkins, historian; Sandra Hansen and Natalie Bickmore, public relations; and Karen Whitaker, advisor.

One of the many activities was their opening social at John Adams Park, where they all brought an ice block and slid down the hill. Advisor Karen Whitaker stated, "I feel it is a worthwhile club, and the girls really enjoy it. I only wish more girls would get involved."

Throughout the school year Lettermen have been promoting spirit at Box Elder by participating in various sports, such as tennis, wrestling, football, and basketball. Lettermen didn't stop at participating—they supported other sports. And it wouldn't have been a surprise to have gone to a girls' game and seen a bunch of lettermen out there cheering the girls on.

"It's a lot of fun going out and having a good time with the guys at the game," commented member, Jamie Vogt.

Singers

Madrigals was a new experience for all of its members. This year, instead of having a class during school, they had it before school at 7:00 a.m. Many came weary eyed but the group proved that they could handle it.

Last December they were taped for a television program by Channel 7 (KUED). The program consisted of many Christmas songs.

They were also invited to sing at the state capital building and on Temple Square during the Christmas season.

"In the end all the early morning practices paid off," said Leslie Warren, a member of Madrigals. For after all it was a great experience and many heard and enjoyed the beautiful sounds the Madrigals shared.

Shows

Members of the largest women's choir at Box Elder were known as the Chansonnettes. They were directed by Mr. Jeff Coletti.

This year, due to the new trimester schedule, the Chansonnettes were unable to begin holding class until the second trimester. Thus, they had a late start, and they had to work fast and hard to catch up with the other women choirs around. But, this didn't hold them back, or even threaten them, because this year's Chansonnettes proved to be a strong group with real talent.

Director Jeff Coletti often commented that they showed great potential and skill, and were among the best in the state. The officers were: Nicole Fodnes, president, Shelly Summers, Megan Johnson, and Laurie Williams.

Exceptional

The Concert Choir program this year was exceptionally good. It was a larger-than-normal group, with ninety-two students. Due to this large number, the students of the choir this year were able to get new chairs. For the first time in many years, Box Elder invested in choir robes this year. The robes were worn to programs, concerts, and special performances, such as their trip to Temple Square, and singing in the state capitol building. During the fall of the year, the choir got special, new equipment to further their efforts. Some of these were new microphone systems, and a new stereo and recording system.

The presidency for this year planned many activities, fundraisers, concerts, and parties. They were: Kevin Bowcutt, president; Leslie Warren, vice president; Kassie DeRyke, treasurer; Heidi Harper, secretary; Laura Findlay, social chairperson; and Karrie Christensen, librarian.

Palace board members were Matt Opprecht, Kathy Sneddon, Tammy Devine, Natalie Green, and Barbara Handy. Advisors were Mr. Scott Nelson and Mr. Joe Batzel. As Mr. Nelson stated, "Palace gives advanced students the opportunity to develop talents in every aspect of theater."

Troupers

Choreography, rehearsing, and perfecting dance steps and motions are what is done in dance club, along with lots of practice. But the dancers know that it takes more than just practice; it takes personality, concentration, and determination. It is not easy to dance in front of the student body, but the dance club made it look as if there were nothing to it. Although before performing most were usually nervous and afraid that they might forget the steps, when they got on stage and the music started, they forgot everything except what they had spent many hours rehearsing.

Entertain

The troupe members are Mindy Whitaker, Loretta Peters, Christina Merrill, Stephanie Locascio, Sherri Johnson, Lora Humphrey, Christine Birch, Kym Barber, Raelyn Reese, Kassie DeRyke, tres.; Tammy Prescott, sec.; Stephanie Wendell, vice.; Kim Cosgrove and Raquel Waters, publicity, Teresa Richards, pres.

The pep club shows their love and pride for Box Elder High School as they proudly form a "B.E."

Decked out in their purple and white sweaters the pep club shows uniformity as they do one of their favorite cheers.

Peppers

School Spirit was all that was needed for the pep club, and with 110 girls you got a lot of it.

On a game day you could always count on going to school and seeing a lot of purple and white sweaters worn by the pep club.

"Pep club is great because it gives freshmen the chance to get involved and show school spirit," commented Nancy Francis.

This year's officers were: Dana Jensen, President; Jodi Jeppesen, Secretary; Emily Nay, Historian; and Nancy Francis, Public Relations. The Advisor was Charlotte Parkinson. These, along with twelve squad leaders, were the ones who made sure everything was running smoothly. But the members were the ones who made it so much fun.

Colorguard

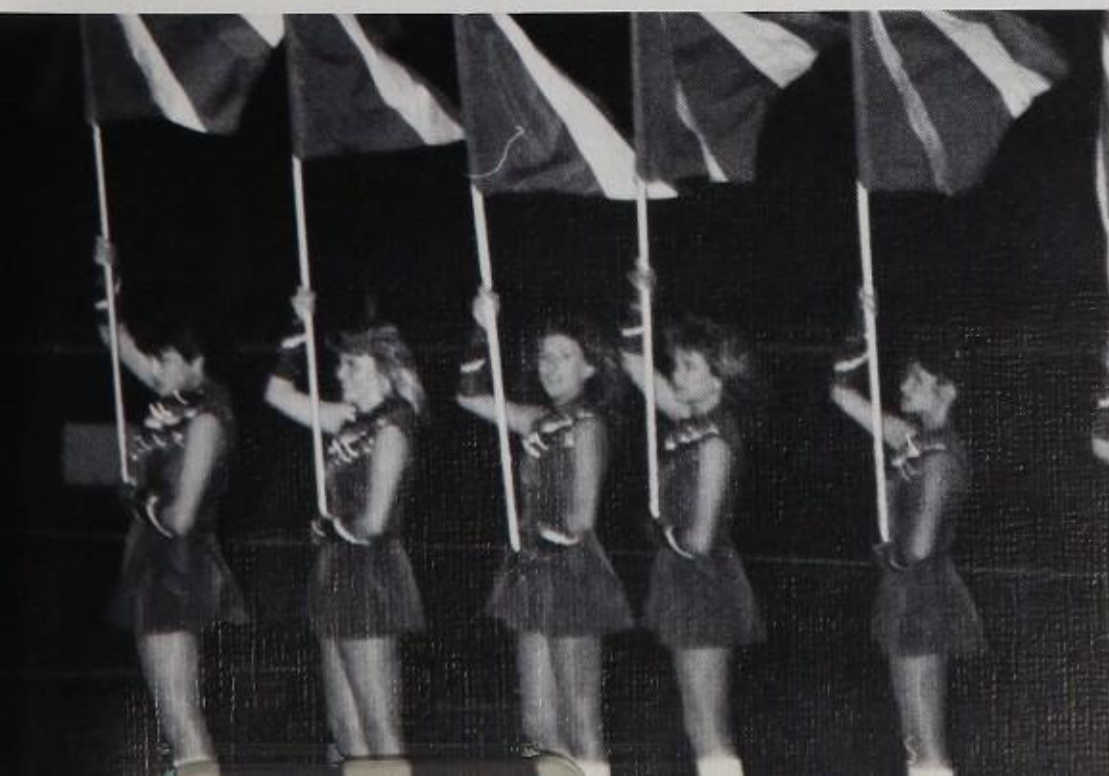

One of the first things you would hear at a Box Elder ballgame was, "Would the audience please rise for the presentation of the national colors by the Box Elder Colorguard." This important duty was one of the many things the Colorguard took care of getting it off to a proper start. They also participated in halftimes, Homecoming, parades and in assemblies.

Tori Bonham commented, "We've all worked very hard to make this year a success. A lot of credit should go to everybody for such a great year!"

This special pride in their club made the Colorguard stand out with a special glimmer. The group was lead by persistant Kathy Smoot and the routines were choreographed by Kim Knight, drill leader; with help from Lynette Rees; assistant drill leader.

The advisors were Diane Quayle and Mr. Earl Swenson who were always supportive, and willing to help. Also, when asked, Angie Brightenburg said, "Thanks should go to the pep band, also, for providing all of our music!"

Rockette

Marching in football and basketball halftimes was just a small part of being a Rockette. There were fund raisers, games, competitions, parties, and don't forget early morning practices. But this year our school was put on a different type of schedule. We were put on the trimester block, that put early morning practices after school till 4:30, except during the summer; they still had to come at 6:00.

One of the highlights of the year was competitions and they worked very hard for this.

We've got spirit ...

"It can be frustrating but when the crowd gets involved it's worth it," said Dana Parker. She was talking about the duties of a cheerleader: pep assemblies, team support, and overall school spirit.

The squad had a busy job. It was hard to get it all done but they did it and did it well; and even let the smaller sports know they were important.

Joni Swenson, Ann Johnson, Dana Parker, Tina Parkinson, Kari Jo Yagi, Jeri Jeppson, Raquel Johnson, Heather Simkins, Mrs. Gomez, and Mr. Leggett spent hours bringing new ideas and outstanding pride to Box Elder. They showed undrooping spirit when cheering, and represented B.E. well.

Go, Fight

Who are those girls jumping and smiling in front of the crowd during the J.V. basketball and football games and wrestling matches?

With their bright smiles, togetherness, and great devotion, the cheerleaders eagerly worked at getting the Box Elder fans involved.

School spirit has been a major part of Box Elder High's winning tradition. Even when the teams weren't winning or doing their best, school spirit was high. The J.V. cheerleaders and the mascots did a great job of keeping school spirit through thick and thin, which isn't very easy.

Making mascot or J.V. cheerleader was only the beginning. The "real fun" began when the girls dragged themselves to the early morning practices.

The J.V. cheerleaders were: Heather Petersen (Head), Amy Rapp, Tricia Campbell, Toree Shaw, Vickie Rush, and Dawn Jensen.

3. Chris Earl, Alan Kallmeyer, and Heidi Goss add lots of hard work and experience to the band.

Music

For 22 years Mr. Earl Swenson has directed the school's bands. That has added up to many early hours of practice with the 70 pep band members, and many nights after school with the 118 musicians of the concert band.

Individual band members participated in the Spring Solo Festival, and All-State Band. In the 1985 All-State Band Box Elder had three musicians, Tyler Harvey, Robert Lee, and Joni Swenson, in one of the top four chairs in their instrument sections. Other B.E. students finished in high positions.

In addition to support at football and basketball games, the Boise Competition (where the band played for the Rockettes' routines), and graduation, the concert band staged three concerts each year: Christmas, Winter, and Spring.

Commented Heidi Goss, a sophomore member of the band, "Everyone puts forth a lot of effort so we can be the best, but we have a lot of fun at the same time."

The 1985-86 orchestra at Box Elder was something to be proud of. Although it was small in size, the 22 talented members worked hard to make the year a success with the help of their advisor, Mr. Earl Swenson. They performed at several community and school functions.

One member, Robert Lee, selected to be in the all-state orchestra, said this about the experience, "It was a real honor to be chosen to play with other top high school orchestra students."

Hive

Poems, short stories, artwork, and photographs were just some of the things that were found in this year's Hive. It was sold at the end of the school year to any interested students or faculty members.

All of the work was done by students from BE. The book was compiled by a staff of volunteer students, mostly from creative writing classes. Directed by Mrs. LaFond Hall, the Hive was a real success.

Journalists

This year the Bee staff met fourth hour to make their assignments. The new advisor was Mrs. Hall and Michelle Mathis was the editor.

The only requirement to be on the Bee staff were; the desire to write, the willingness to work hard, a genuine interest in our school, be willing to put in extra time, a junior or senior, and have the teachers approval. Beginning journalism is also preferred but not required.

The class will benefit the school, and help you by teaching you responsibility and teach you to communicate effectively with other people.

Staffers

The joy and excitement of the last week arrives, and everyone is anxious to get their annual Boomerang and look up themselves. Little does anyone realize, but this book has taken a lot of time and hard work for the members of the staff. During class and on Thursday nights, staffers would labor furiously to get their pages in on time.

This effort was lead by Jill Nichols, Lory Larkin, and Keri Walker, not to mention faculty advisor Chris Larson, who kept them all on their toes.

Students

Did you ever wonder just who took care of all the problems at Box Elder High? Well, believe it or not, it was a class—a class considered to be as hard as calculus and chemistry—a class called Student Government. This class consisted of the Student Body Officers, the Class Officers, editors of the Bee and Boomerang, and the Head Cheerleader.

Members planned projects and assemblies, along with lots of other things to better our school.

"You never realize how much hard work it takes, but there is as much fun as work," remarked Martha Christensen.

Career

Talking has been one of the most important types of communication since man was created. For those who pursue and excel in a foreign language they can find themselves at a great advantage now and in future careers.

Through constant practice and repetition and different learning activities, the students become involved and aware of foreign cultures.

From the romantic French language to the brisk German, most students enjoyed their foreign language.

Although foreign languages take many years of work and practice to perfect, they offer both a broader understanding of the different cultures as well as a better chance of college entrance. Many colleges now require at least two years of foreign language in order to receive acceptance.

Judd Larkin and Ryan Jensen were named MVP's and others were honored as outstanding players. Jeff Loosle said, "We were too overconfident that we would go undefeated." They didn't to undefeated this year, but coaches said it was likely to happen soon.

Pigskinners learn about themselves

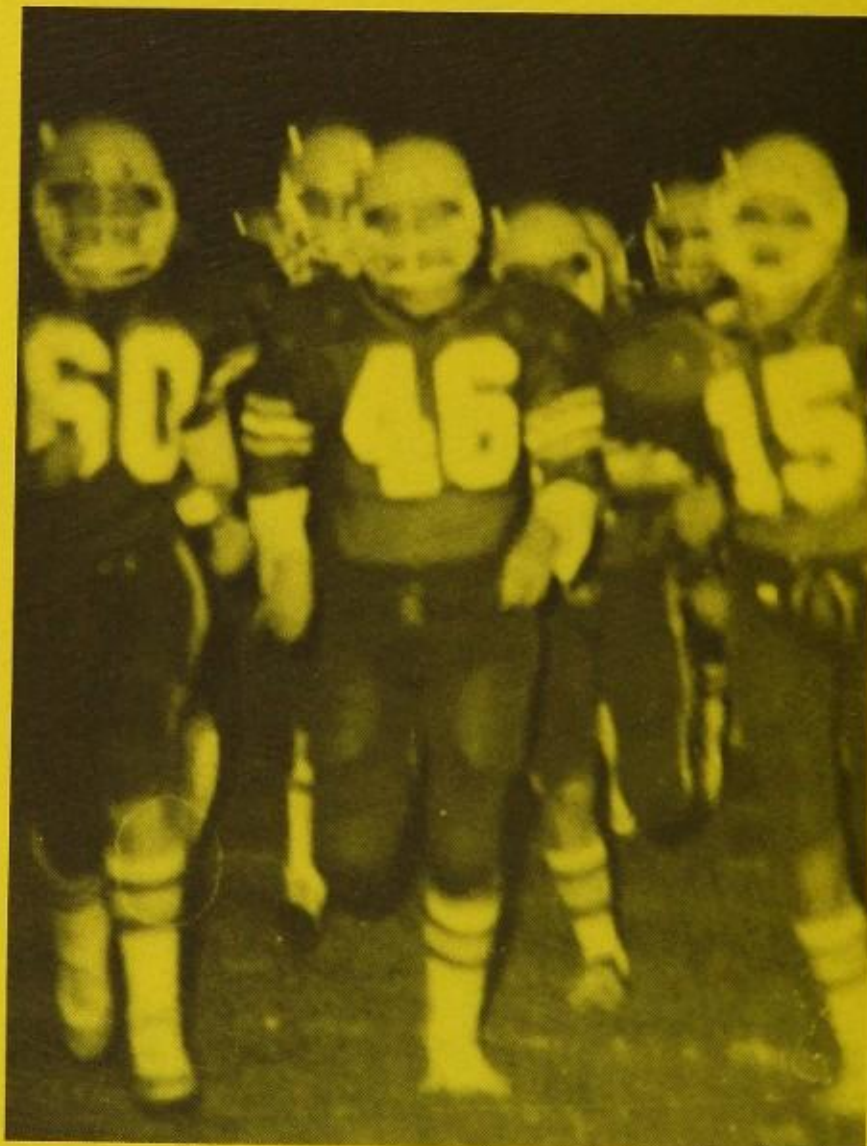

"It turned out to be a great year, and even more important we learned alot about ourselves," commented Matt Harris when asked about this years varsity football team.

The group was not the best in the history of Box Elder High, but was full of winners. The team ended a hard fought season with a region record of two wins and three losses.

When playoff time arrived at the end of the season Box Elder found itself in a playoff with the Falcons of Clearfield. The Bees were favored for the victory but were outscored by 20 points in the first four minutes. The team still played hard and kept fighting the end. When all was bad the team never gave up. This very game resembled the Bee gridders complete season ... hard fought but never getting a break.

Everyday after school the frosh team met in the gym, ready to go.

Even though they were freshmen, attending Box Elder High School for the first time, this outstanding basketball team gave every ounce of energy they had.

Soph's

The superior coaching skills weren't the only things that brought such victories to Box Elder. The players all had special skills that helped.

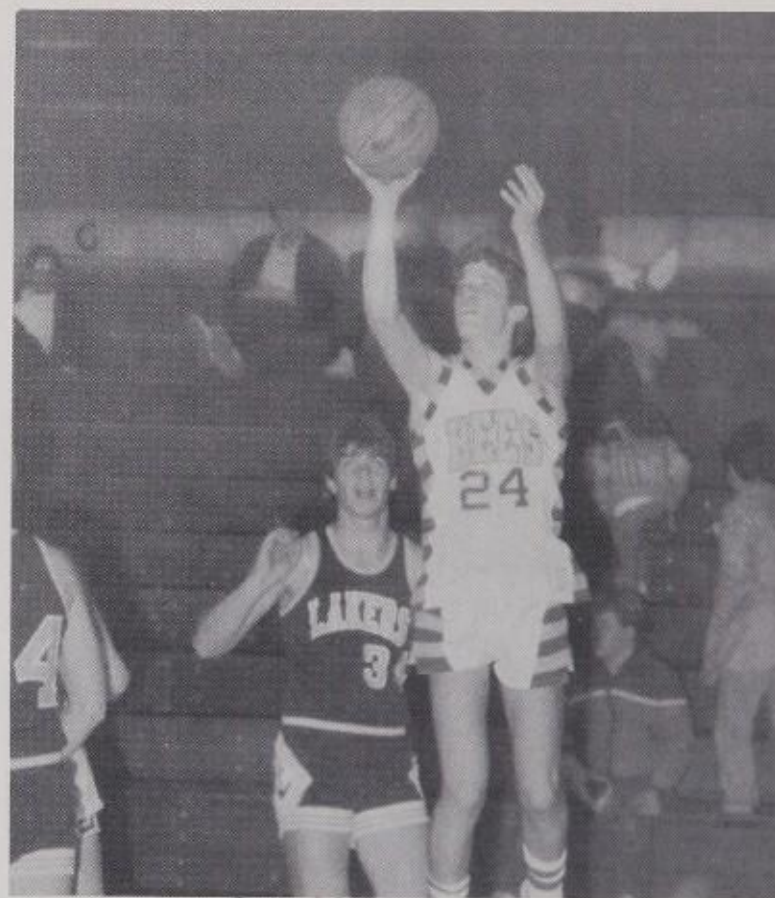

The 1985-86 sophomore basketball team consisted of: Scott Cusick, Rick Gomez, Jeff Loosle, Ryan Jensen, Mark Harris, Scott Morrison, Justin Bosgieter, Kirk Jensen, Eric Hone, Rick Bess, Eddie Ash, Scott Hawkes, and Mark Lemon.

"This year's team got off to a slow start, but were pulled together and came out winning," came out winning," replied Eric Hone.

Teams adjust

Although their records of 4-7 didn't show it, our varsity and J.V. basketball teams were excellent! They adjusted well to new Coach Mitch Wilcox and played well under him.

Even though it was his first year here Coach Wilcox commented that he felt very close to the players and loved them as if they were his boys.

The annual banquet was held to honor the team at the school. Some of the awards given were: Jeff Shaw and Lee Wells MVP, Matt Harris inspirational, Jeff Hadfield most rebounds, Blake Nichols best defensive player, Bart Goldsberry playmaker, Paul Bergeson best hustler, and Craig Muller received most improved.

1. After rebounding the basketball, Craig Mueller looks for someone to pass the ball to.
2. Trying to make a basket is Jeff Hadfield, while Matt Harris is ready to rebound the ball.
3. Next year's hope for a winning season is the junior varsity team, pictured here with their coaches.
4. Hoping to catch up with their opponents, Jeff Shaw makes a well appreciated foul shot.
5. Putting the ball into the air, Jeff Shaw hopes to make another basket.
6. With their new coaching staff of Mitch Wilcox, Verle Allred, Mike Madeo, and Vic Anderson the varsity team finished the season with a record of four wins and seven losses.
7. With some fancy footwork, Lee Wells keeps the ball away from his opponents.

Bees begin

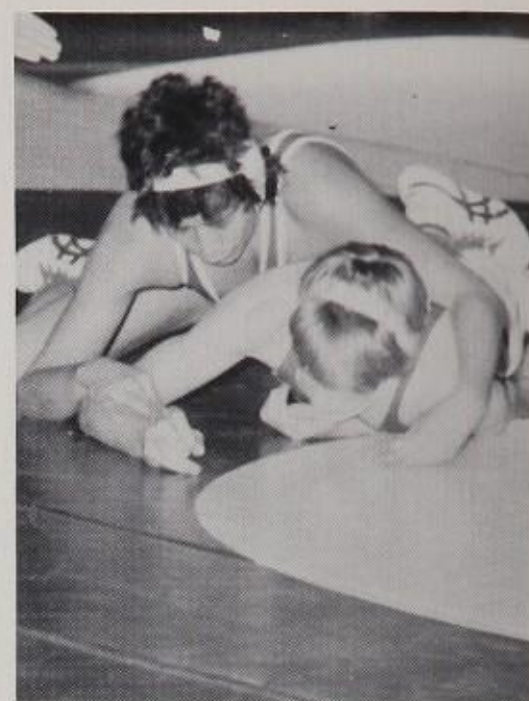

People wonder where Box Elder gets all of its talent and ability for wrestling. The most obvious conclusion is from the wrestlers themselves.

They start out as Freshman and work their way up. These Freshman wrestlers put in many hours of hard work and sweat. They spend a lot of their time lifting and exercising to build muscle and determination.

1. Psyching himself up, Eric Nichols is ready to attack.
2. Doing his best to take down his opponent is John Astle.
3. The freshmen wrestling team pauses after a busy season for a picture with their coach, Jeff Hardy
4. Box Elder High School's wrestling team has tremendous strength as seen here.

8. Going in on the attack for Box Elder is John Astle.

JV's continue

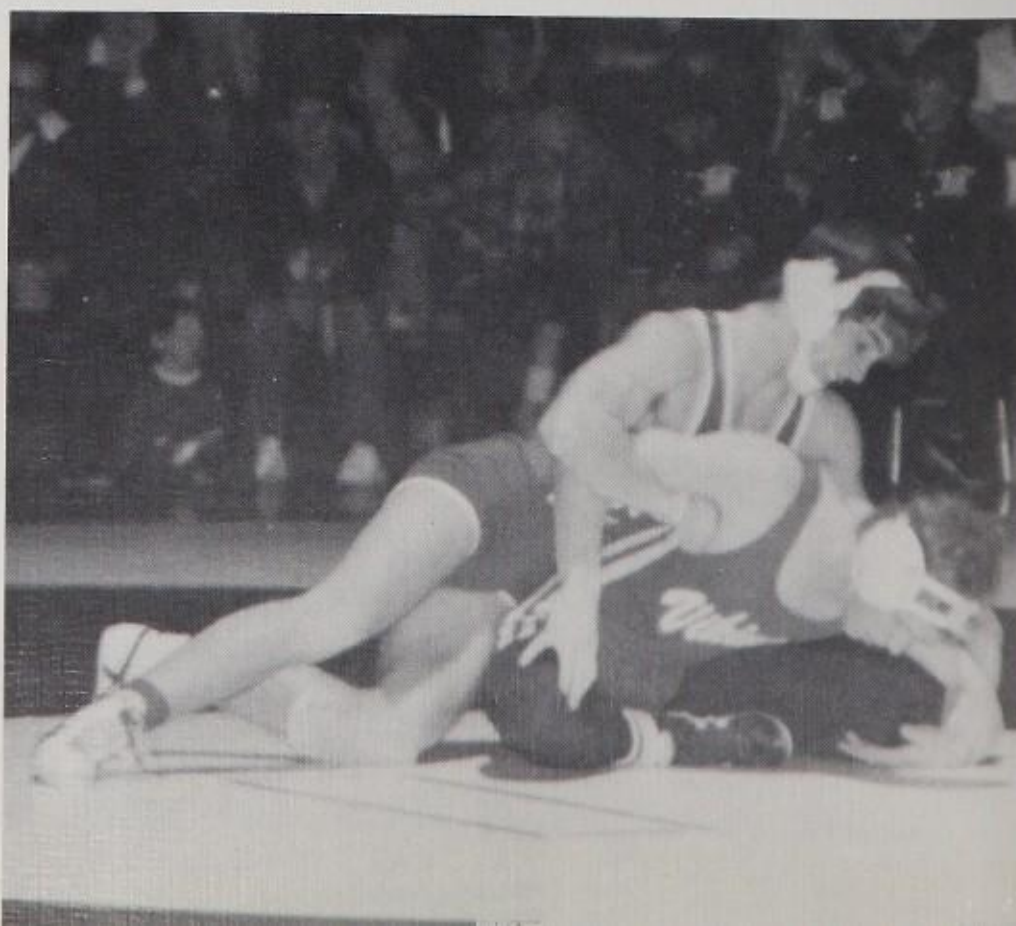

One of the sports that Box Elder is most famous for is wrestling. Our wrestling team has won many a tournament and fourteen region championships in a row.

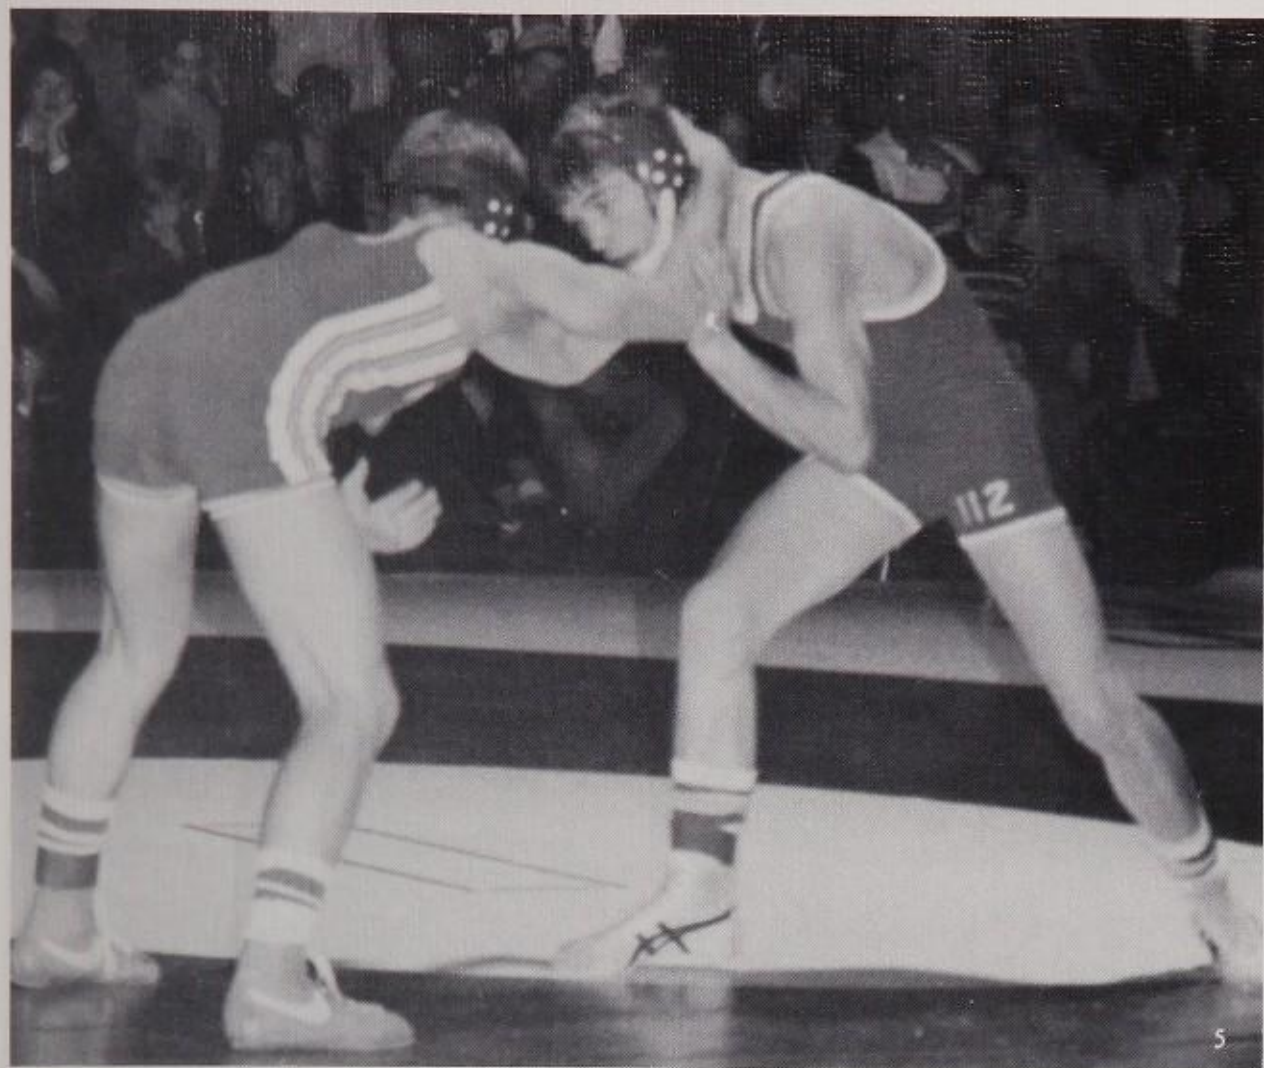

A special thanks goes to Coach Ripplinger and Coach Yates for their support.

The J.V. had an awesome record of being undefeated which proves we have some of the most determined "grapplers."

Netsters serve

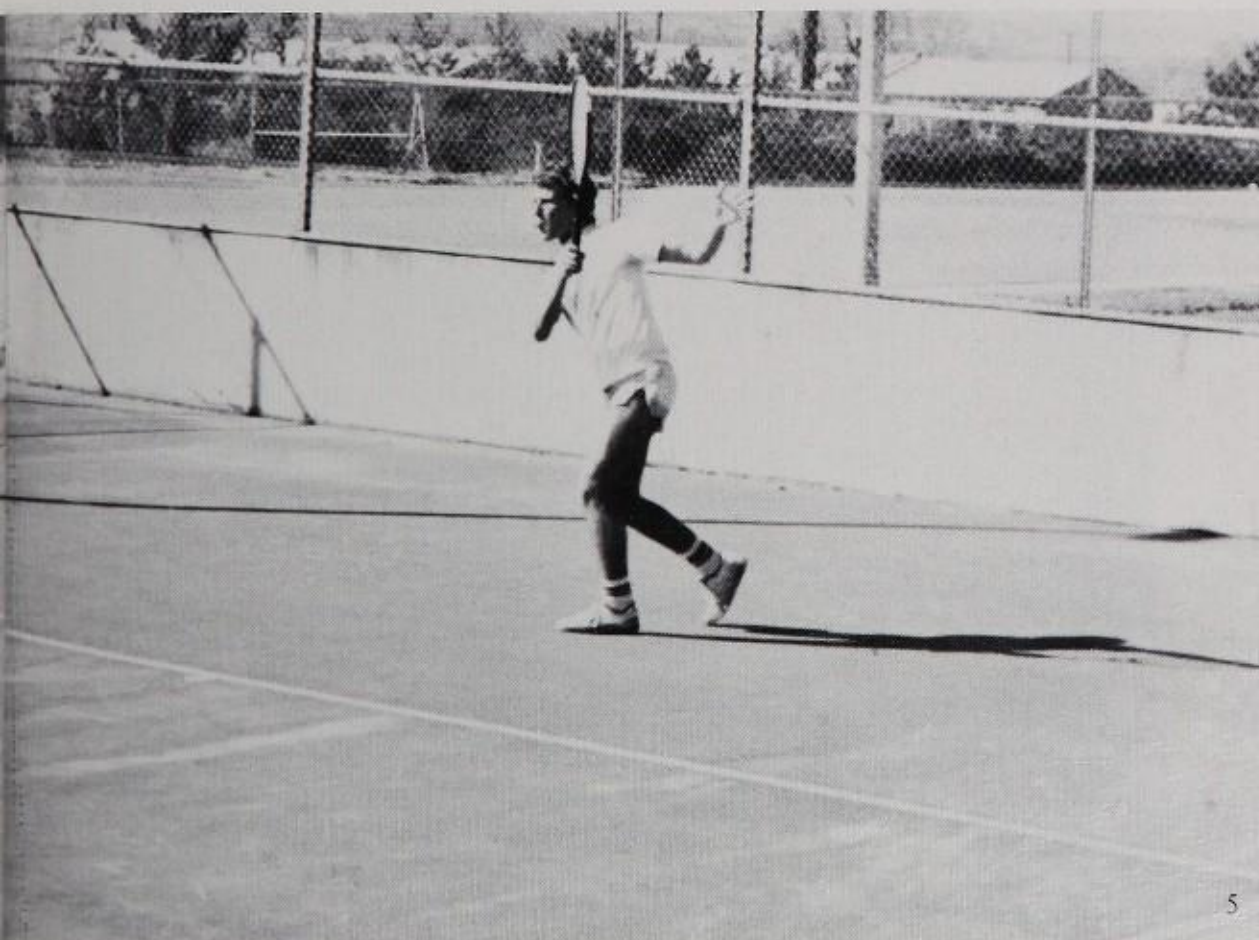

"Our toughest competition will be Bonneville," commented Coach Reid Goldsberry in response to a question about the toughest contenders in Region One tennis.

The Bees brought with them into the '86 season four previous lettermen. With the four, three of them were numbers one, two, and three in 1985.

Though the season once again started slow because of bad weather, the team was finally picked and saw once more three lettermen in the first three positions.

The team's first scheduled match was against Skyview on March 26, with regular region matches to begin April 1.

Overall the team looked to have a great chance at a fourth consecutive Region One championship.

1. Members of the 1985-86 Tennis team are: Jeff Droubay, Mark Harris, Dave Mills, Erik Johnson, Lee Wells, Bart Lee Goldsberry, Jamie Vogt, Greg Droubay.
2. Blocking a hit, is Greg Droubay.
3. Like your form, Mark Harris!
4. Swing that Racket, Bart Lee!
5. Showing deep concentration with the mouth, is Jamie Vogt.

Soccer

1. BE's Bobby Gardner outmaneuvers his opponent.
2. Taking a break are Cesar Gonzales and Lane Taylor.
3. The concentration shows on the face of Alan Kallmeyer as he goes to block the ball, while team mate Marshall Hannum watches with approval.
4. The varsity soccer team takes time out from the rigorous practice for a quick picture.
5. Marco Beck-Peccoz and Cesar Gonzales prepare for the game they love the most.
6. Going for a goal, Marco tries to outrun his opponent.

Soccer

Everyone got involved in soccer this year. It was the only sport at BE with a co-ed team. There were seven ninth graders on the varsity team, two foreign exchange students, three girls, and many returning varsity players. The team was coached by Mr. Kirk Allen. "I'm excited about all the new talent this year," commented Coach Allen, "as well as all the more experienced players."

They played a pre-season game against Bear River, and some great region games. If you went to any of these games, you know how fun and exciting they were.

The soccer team did a great job this year, and had fun while they were at it.

Sport provides

Track provides many athletes with the opportunity to exercise their skills for personal and school gratification. Such was the case for the 70 members of the '86 track team.

The boys gathered each day after school for approximately two hours of hard work, guided by Head Coach Galen Carlile.

Each contestant had certain warmup drills to perform, then went to an area reserved for his specific event.

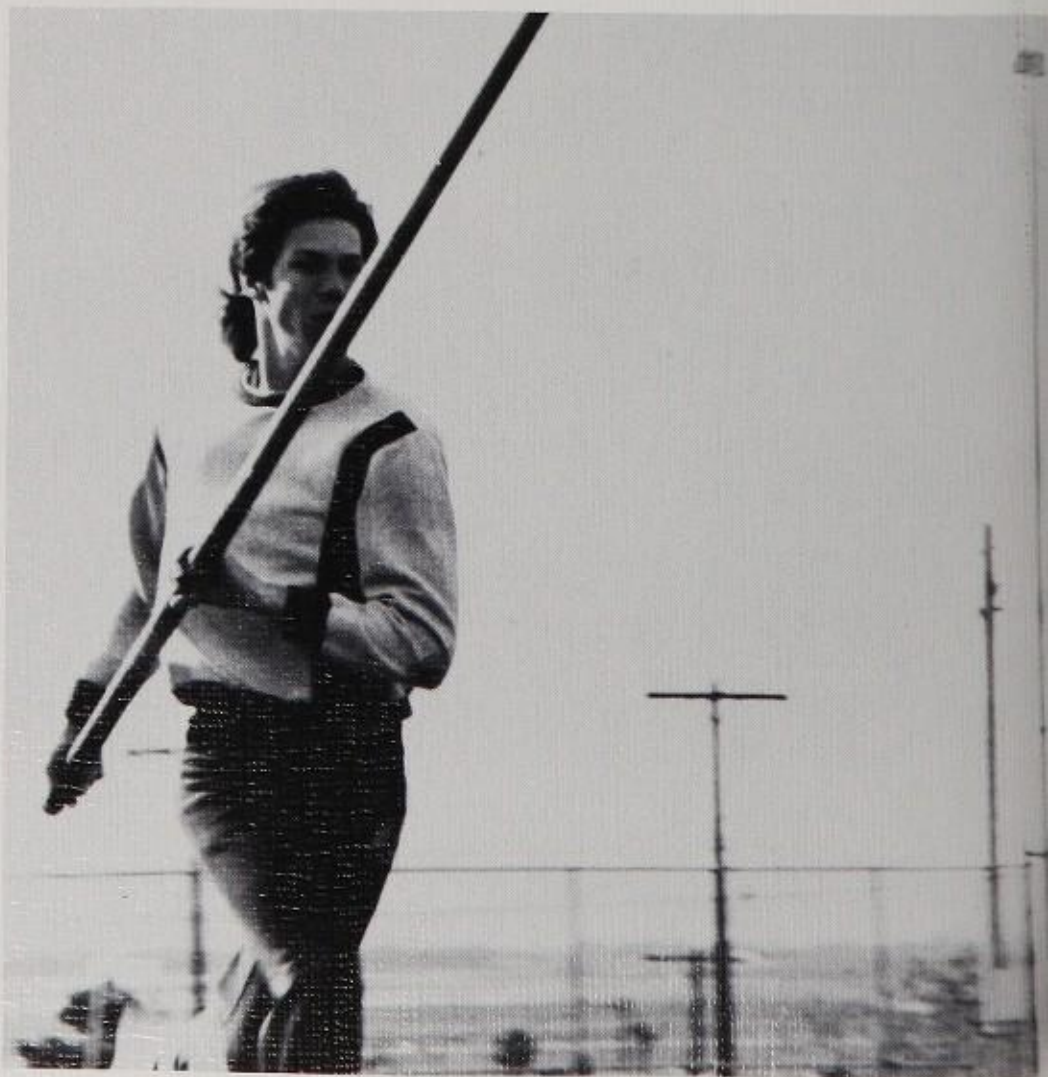

Distance runners averaged about 50 miles per week, while sprinters spent much of their time on technique and improving their speed.

Weight men, those who threw the shotput, javelin, and discus, spent about half their time lifting weight and half working on technique.

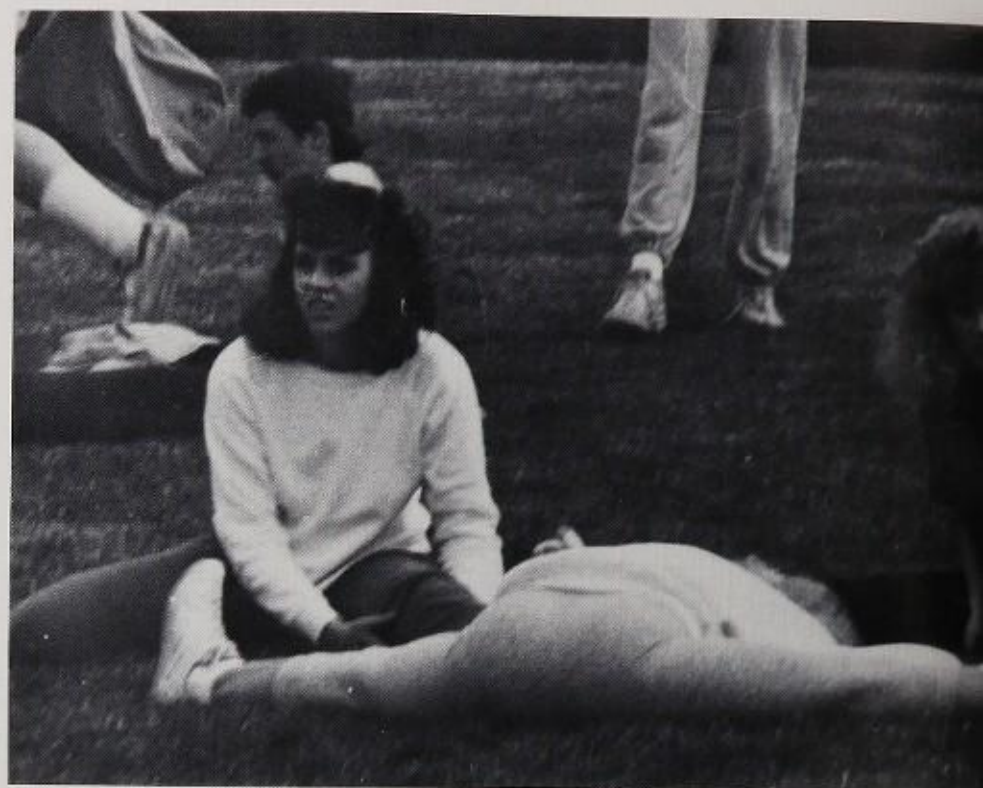

Jumpers, those in the pole vault and long jump, spent most of their time improving technique and actually jumping.

The team had about 12 meets scheduled, and looked forward to a successful Region One campaign.

1. Ballet? Nope, just another one of Coach Carlile's weird workouts.
2. Preparing to pole vault is Kris Hofmeister.
3. Track stars rest after a tough workout.
4. Concentration and hard work pay off for Tim Price.
5. Getting ready to measure Jeremy Woodward's long jump are Kraig Kimber and Eric Stocker.

1. Coming out of the blocks quickly, Robyn Stewart gains a slight edge on her opponent.
2. Pretending to be warming up but really watching for good legs, runners do some stretching out.
3. Sharing earmuffs with a friend keeps both Theresa Davies and Julie Reeder warm and happy.
4. Lynette Rees and Wendy Tams show the determination and drive needed to cross the tape first.
5. As she completes the follow-through Jen Wilkins eyes her discus toss, hoping for distance.
6. Team members display the form, speed, and will to win it takes to be number one.

Lengthening the stride

A lot of people don't see all the girls who take time out of their busy schedule to run track after school. They run sometimes as much as 3 to 10 miles a day.

It takes a lot of endurance and strength but it is all worth it in the end because you have a great feeling when you cross the finish line and know that you have done the best that you can.

Box Elder has some of the best and most dedicated girls track runners in the state. "It's a lot of hard work but I really enjoy it, it's a lot of fun!" says Lynette Rees.

BASEBALL

Sliders

The Frosh baseball team consisted of 16 members. Fewer players tried out for the team, but all the members were quality players, according to Coach Chris Larson.

The season started the last week of March and was scheduled to finish in mid-May. Early good weather enabled the team to play longer and practice more.

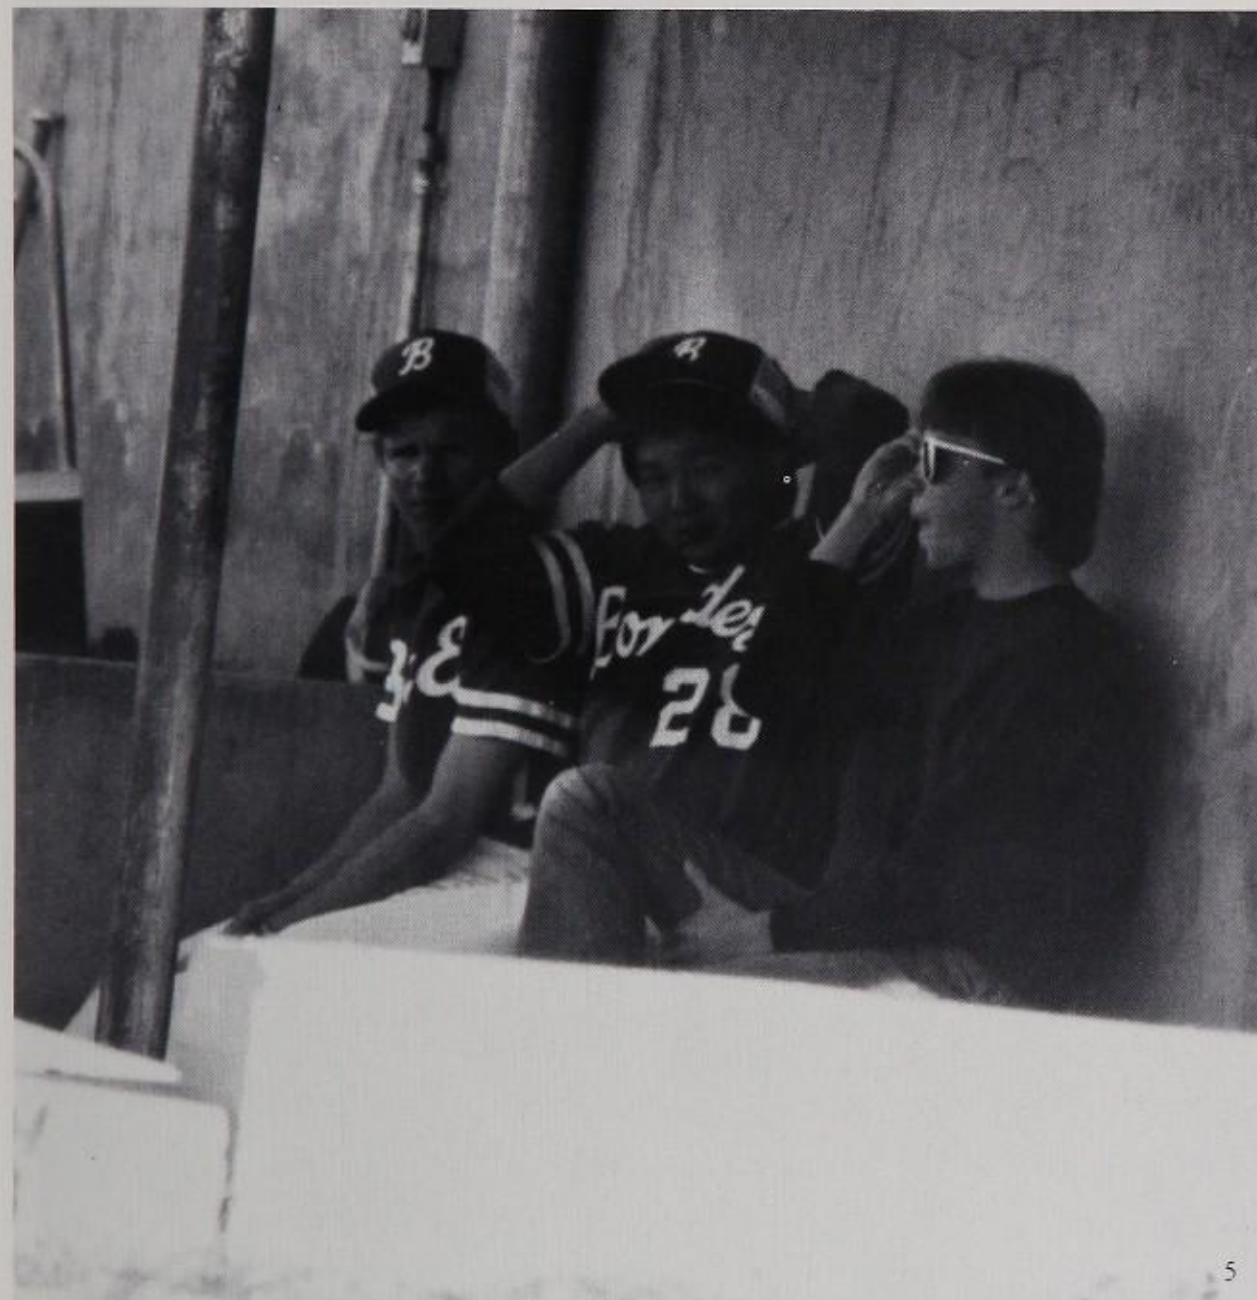

Coaching duties were shared by Coaches Larson and Vic Andersen.

When asked about the team, Coach Larson commented, "Two goals I'd like the team to fulfill are to have a winning season and beat Bear River twice."

Take 15 team members, two scorers and give them an excellent coach like Richard Wight, and you'll surely come out winning.

The playing season was made up of playing all region one schools plus practice games. The JV team also got some early practices while catching some rays. Not only did the players get a little fried, but so did their coach. "I enjoyed working on my tan," said Coach Wight.

Team successful

What does it take to be a successful baseball team? Well, whatever it might be, our varsity team had it! They certainly didn't lack in quality or potential.

At the beginning of the baseball season the players showed lots of ability to be put to the test. The many long and hard practices added to this ability by strengthening and developing the skills required to really succeed in this sport. Every player had a great desire to win. This aided the team in playing their best at every game.

To sum it up, our varsity baseball team was just what we hoped it would be—it was outstanding! The team had everything it took for a great '86 season.

1. Pitcher Shawn Bingham realizes that a good warm-up is half the battle as he carefully follows the correct procedure.
2. Anxiously waiting for their turn to bat, the Bee men watch the action.
3. A Skyview runner is tagged out, but Jeff Shaw breaks his wrist.
4. Skyview goes in high over BE's Lowe.
5. It takes two players to tag out Travis Sybrowsky as he attempts to steal second base.
6. Sean Shiotani, catcher, dons his protective equipment.
7. Shawn Bingham strides into another pitch in a preseason baseball contest.

Finishes told

Ever since turning 4A three years ago, Box Elder has consistently finished high in region and state athletic competition. This year was no different.

The highlight of the season was shared by the volleyball and wrestling teams. The Lady Bees captured the Region One championship and went on to finish a strong third in the state tournament. Along the way, they defeated arch-rival Weber High. The wrestlers won their 12th consecutive Region championship and finished fifth in the state championships.

1. Thinking about the finish line, Brandy Petersen runs on.
2. Receiving the ball for another T.D. is Matt Harris.
3. Working extremely hard Kenny Smoot pins his man.
4. Unsuccessful at blocking the spike, these B.E. volleyball players are glad that their team mates are backing them up.

5. Showing excellence, Lee Wells scores another 2.
6. A B.E. swimmer takes off for a victorious win.
7. A look of defeat is shown by a B.R. wrestler.

Scholarship pays off for student achievers

Named the 1986 Valedictorian was Eric Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Rasmussen of Mantua. Eric achieved a near-perfect grade point while at BE, and also distinguished himself as an officer and member of FBLA for four years. He was president of FBLA his senior year.

Salutarian is Jeff Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shaw of Brigham City. Jeff was Studentbody First Vice-President, and very active in Box Elder athletics, and was honored with the Coleman Knitting Mills award, scholar-athlete award, and basketball co-MVP.

Other of the prestigious top three percent included Emily Clark, Julie Cusick, Alan Kallmeyer, Susan Francis, David Gardner, Bart Goldsberry, Melinda Hunsaker, Lory Larkin, Patricia McGee.

Twenty-five other students qualified for the Top Percent award, all of them with a grade points of 3.7 or higher. These hard-working students included Alan Braithwaite, Martha Christensen, Theresa Davies, Jared Dixon, Leeann Geldmacher, Bryan Gibby, Christopher Hankins, Tyler Harvey, Trent Hendrickson, Eric Johnson, Kathleen Kelly, Robert Lee, Michelle Mathis, Jill Nichols, Martha Ogles, Scott Parsons, Jacqueline Poulsen, Julie Reeder, Lynette Reeves, Chrissy Rush, Todd Sheridan, Joni Swenson, Karen Tuft, Lee Wells and Glenn White.

STERLING SCHOLARS

English

Sterling Scholar is a title that denotes talent and outstanding academic or vocational skill in one of twelve specific fields of study. The seniors nominated from Box Elder for these honors are exceptional students.

In December they were singled out from other applicants in the school and with the help of Mrs. Louise Francis and Mr. Rob Bishop began to compile portfolios and prepare for competition with other scholars from northern Utah.

Preliminary judging rounds began in March. Two Box Elder students: Joni Swenson, recognized as first chair flute in 1986 All-State Band, and Susan Francis, who had never received less than an A in Spanish, both advanced to the final rounds in music and foreign language respectively. Commented Joni, "It was really a big surprise and I'm nervous!"

The winners were announced and awarded scholarships on KSL television later in April.

Farewell

Many moments we've shared since I met you long ago,
but know it's time to say farewell, farewell.
We've shared smiles, we've shared tears,
but we've grown all along.
And you mean more to me than you'll ever know.
So we say farewell, let's take the memories as we go.
The years were good to you and me, we know.
So we say farewell, tho' I'm sad to have to go.
You mean more to me than you'll ever know.
I know you'll remember me and I'll remember you.
It won't matter where we live or where we go.
These are times we both shared,
times we laughed, times we cared.
And you mean more to me than you'll ever know.
Farewell, farewell, farewell, farewell.

To an Athlete Dying Young

*The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the marketplace;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder-high.
Today, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsmen of a stiller town.
Smart lad, to slip betimes away
From fields where glory does not stay
And early though the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.
Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers
After earth has stopped the ears:
Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honors out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.
So set, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defended challenge cup.
And round that early-laureled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
And find unwithered on its curls
The garland briefer than a girl's*

I'll Lend You a Child

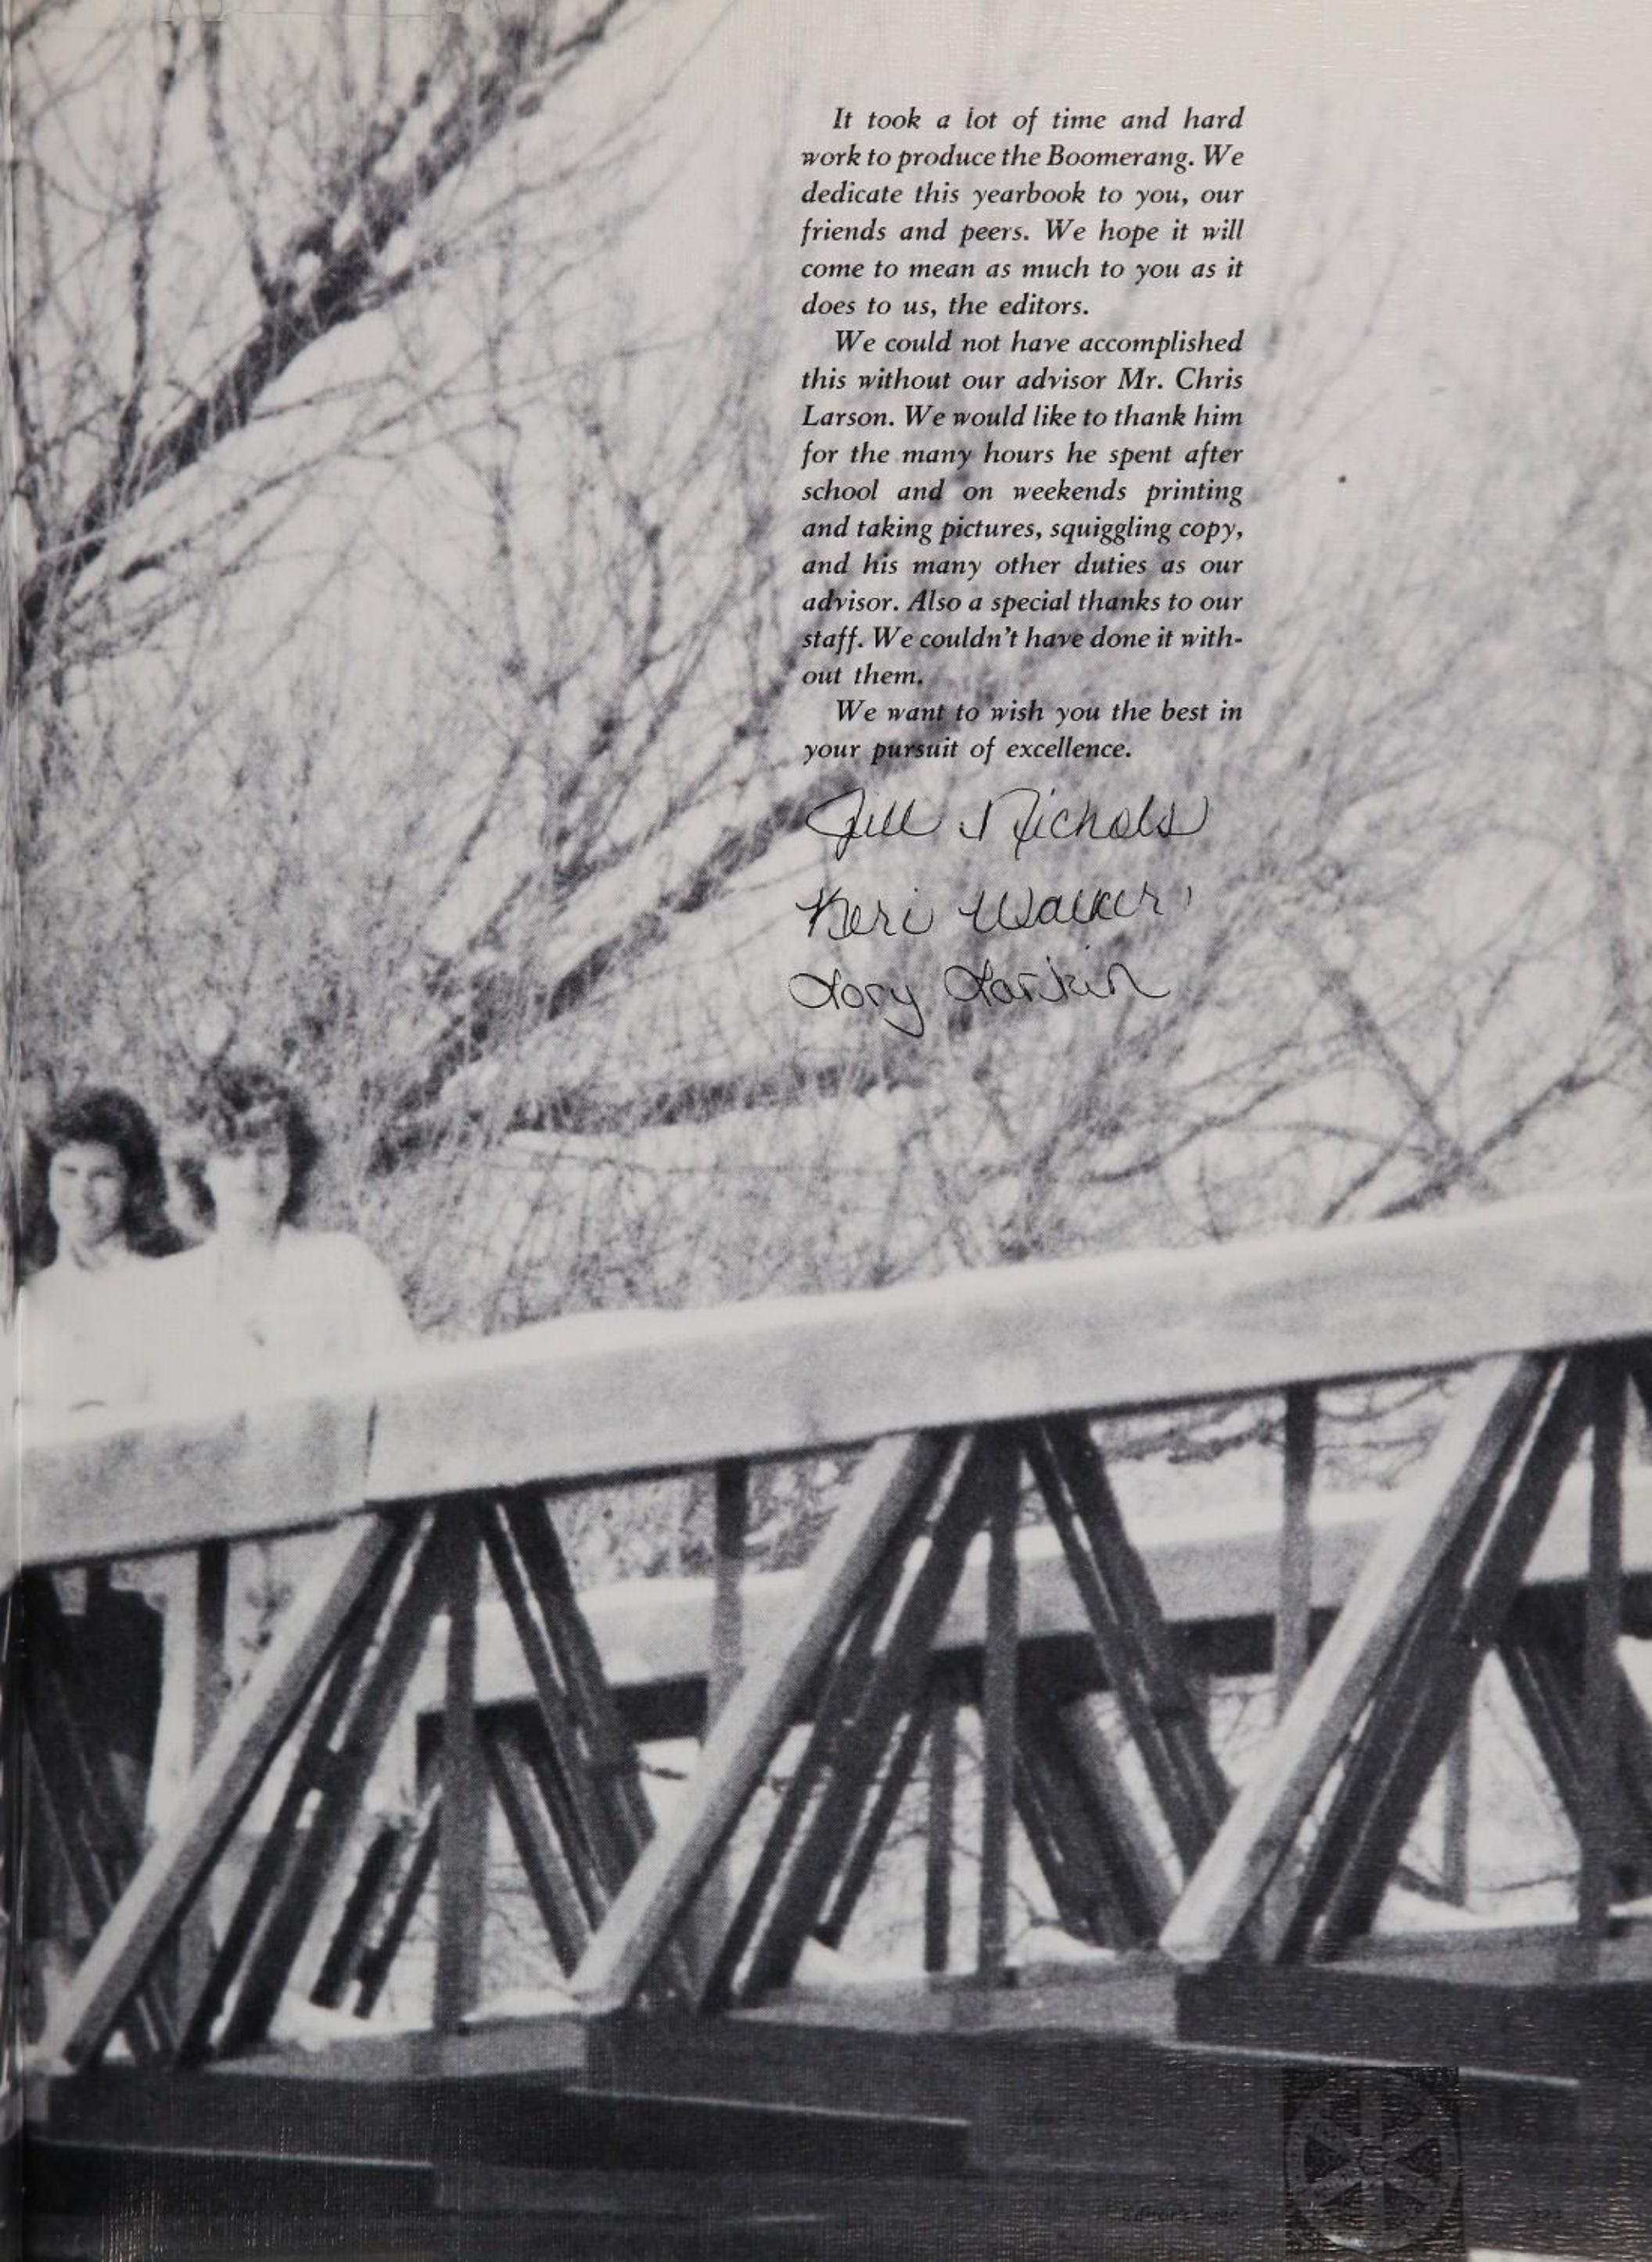

*I'll lend you for a little while
a child of mine he said,
for you to love while she lives
and mourn for when she's dead.
It may be six or seven days
or years of two or three,
but will you till I call for her
take care of her for me.
She'll bring her charms to gladden you
and should her stay be brief,
you'll have her lovely memories
as solace for your grief.
I cannot promise she will stay
since all from earth return,
but there are lessons taught down there
I want this child to learn.
So will you give her all your love
nor think the labor vain,
nor hate me when I come to call
to take her back again.
I fancied that I heard you say,
Dear Lord they will be done,
for all the joy they child will bring,
the risk of grief we'll run.
And if the angels call for her
much sooner than we've planned,
we'll brave the bitter grief that comes
and try to understand.*

It took a lot of time and hard work to produce the Boomerang. We dedicate this yearbook to you, our friends and peers. We hope it will come to mean as much to you as it does to us, the editors.

We could not have accomplished this without our advisor Mr. Chris Larson. We would like to thank him for the many hours he spent after school and on weekends printing and taking pictures, squiggling copy, and his many other duties as our advisor. Also a special thanks to our staff. We couldn't have done it without them.

We want to wish you the best in your pursuit of excellence.

Howay Shuo!
 You're the ultimate
 in a baseball player!!
 Keep it up. You're also a great chemist!!

Sean,
You are the
all-around athlete of
this school next year.
Good job! Have a
fun summer.
Baseball will be hot!
Robert
Capeener

Sean,
Hi you
gorgeous man! Thanks for being my friend!
Love you,
Mullin

Sean,
you know how I like signing yearbooks. But so if it's boring
I'm sorry. It's been a great year hasn't it? One more year of this place and we're out. It is scary to think that though because after that we got to face the REAL WORLD. Well one last thing before I go. The Celtics suck, I go in baseball this summer.
Your friend
Scott.

 I can't believe what a stud you are. Remember when you get hit in the balls make sure you are nice to the women. Remember 40% of all pregnancies happen during the summer. Thanks for being my friend and driving me everywhere. If you get sick of me hanging around please tell me. Later Dwight

SHIO,

MAN, YOU SUCH
THE STUD. YOU'RE
THE GREATEST PUNT
RETURNER I'VE SEEN
IN MY LIFE. BASEBALL
WAS A LOT OF FUN.
THANKS FOR BEING SUCH A GOOD FRIEND.

HEY BUDDY GOOD LUCK IN
BASEBALL. YOUR AN AWESOME
PLAYER AND A STUDLY GUY.
THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT.
KEEP IN TOUCH.

Hey you crazy Asian
How ya been doing? Ha
+ talked to ya much lately. You're a great athlete. You put it to good use. You are a stud. You play all sports especially baseball. Keep a great friend. Don't deserve it. Try to keep the women down off your body. Next year will kick. Brian "I siak" Bai

Sean,
you a great guy.
good luck in Baseball
this summer.
Lisa and I want to come and watch
ya play so you might see us
Leslie
P.S. Stay cool.

Rose Ellen,
 What should I say
 I'm so glad I have you as a friend. You are so very special to me.
 Will have to go skiing
 when it's not raining.
 I'm glad that I'll see you a lot this summer (baseball). Once again
 thanks for everything

Dean! My Joshimi! My good Chemistry bud!
That class was an experience. I'm sure I will owe my success in life to my good buddy
Dean! Live long & prosper
